Ike Eyes Action In Laos Conflict

Urgent Meet Is Held With Top Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was told by his top military and diplomatic advisers Saturday that Communist forces have struck into northern Loas from Communist North Viet Nam. They are reported to have air support from Soviet-made planes.

ACTION POSSIBLE

The United States has particularly determined to nail down, it is understood, the identification of troop units which have struck against the American-supported government of Premier Boun Oum.

This is necessary for any appeal to the U.N. Security Council, a definite possibility, or for action through the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in conjunction with U.S. allies.

It would be necessary to show that the invaders were not simply Lao units returning from training in North Viet Nam or Red China. The conviction of top U.S. officials is said to be that they are North Vietnamese forces.

Eisenhower, who was only 20 days remaining of his eight years in the White House, was described by other administration officials as determined to take whatever action is required to prevent a communist takeover in Laos.

He will keep President-elect John F. Kennedy fully informed of the situation and of his decisions, it was said.

The most delicate element in consideration of possible strong U.S. counteraction, authorities said, is not in the imminent end of Eisenhower's administration but in a lack of enthusiastic support from Britain and France. This, as one official said, is one

Reds Tell Of Laos Victories

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Communist forces Saturday claimed a series of victories in sharp fighting with pro-American government troops and there was fear Communist North Viet Nam might mount a full-scale invasion of Laos.

North Viet Nam denied it had sent troops into Laos, but the Vientiane Radio, controlled by Premier Prince Boun Oum, reported five battalions of Communist North Vietnamese attacking the border town of Nong Het and two other battalions attacking the village of Ban Ban.

Sketchy reports made it difficult to determine whether the attacks were a renewal of periodic border clashes or a major invasion which could turn Laos into another Korea.

The North Vietnamese news agency in broadcasts from Hanoi insisted there had been no invasion and denied as "sheer fabrication" reports of border incursions.

This was the known situation in the southeast Asia kingdom which with North and South Viet Nam and Cambodia comprise Indo-China:

The Pathet Lao Communist-led Laotian rebels, boasted they had smashed forces of pro-American Gen. Phoumi Nosavan south of Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

"Heavy losses" were inflicted on the pro-Western forces north of the city in three firefights, the Reds claimed.

New Year's Traffic Toll Begins Rise

Safety Council Hopeful Death Estimate High

By United Press International

New Year's Eve brought millions of celebrating drivers out for their last trips of 1960 and the National Safety Council hoped they would all be around for 1961.

The council, devoted to a year-around grim task of counting the nation's traffic deaths, estimated that 74 million cars would be on the road over the long weekend.

It estimated that 340 persons would die in traffic accidents before the 78-hour span ends at midnight Monday.

ENCOURAGING

But the council noted an "encouraging trend" as the time approached for traditional New Year's Eve parties.

By Saturday night a United Press International count showed 55 persons had been killed in traffic since the holiday period began at 6 p.m. Friday. At the same hour in a shorter weekend a year ago, the figure was more than 100.

"The trend is encouraging," a council spokesman said, but he warned against over-optimism.

"In the 1955 - 56 New Year's weekend, a three - day holiday, only 43 persons had been killed well past the 18-hour mark," he said. "But a tragic spurt on the last day pushed the final toll to a record 364 deaths when the holiday was over."

The record was surpassed last year when 374 persons were killed in a three-day New Year's weekend.

The worst accident in the current holiday occurred Friday night when seven persons were killed in a head-on collision of two autos near Alamogordo, N.M.

The dead included a mother and her two children in one car, and four persons in the other car. New Mexico state police said both cars had just passed signs warning that the pavement was dangerous when wet.

A head-on collision near Edgewood, Ill., Friday night sent nine persons to the hospital, and in Iowa, a Mississippi couple and their four sons, aged 2 to 8, were seriously injured in a head - on smash-up near Zearing.

Negro Named Housing Chief

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy named a Negro Saturday to head the Federal Housing Agency and picked a Harvard professor to streamline the National Security Council.

The housing administration appointee, 53 - year-old Robert C. Weaver, board chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is a veteran and recognized housing expert and currently is a member of the New York City Housing and Redevelopment Board. His official title will be administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Kennedy named McGeorge Bundy, dean of the Harvard arts and sciences faculty, as his special assistant for national security matters. Bundy, a Republican, was ordered to streamline the National Security Council (NSC) and make it a more flexible arm of the presidency.

Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts objected to the Bundy appointment as "completely incredible." He said Bundy was not qualified for a post of "trust and confidence." Kennedy dismissed the objection by pointing out that Bundy opposed Furcolo's election in 1958.

Weaver holds three degrees from Harvard. Bundy was an honors graduate at Yale before joining the Harvard faculty. Weaver will succeed Norman P. Mason and Bundy will take over the White House staff position now occupied by Gordon Gray.

WHITE'S FERRY ROAD

D'Arbonne Bayou Bridge Is Slated

The Louisiana State Highway Department yesterday announced that a modern bridge will be built this year to span D'Arbonne Bayou on the White's Ferry Road.

The structure is expected to cost in excess of $500,000, according to Jimmy C. Howard, fifth district highway board member.

Howard met here with District Engineer J. Ellis Ross, Reps. Lawrence Gibbs and Mike John Jr., and members of the press at the Holiday Inn.

Contract will be let sometime about mid-February. Plans and specifications have already been completed, according to Ross.

Ross described the bridge as a 28 foot wide roadway clearance without overhead structure. A concrete slab will be supported by steel "I" beams, Ross said. He said the bridge would conduct two regular lanes of traffic and, in an emergency, could be used as a three-lane thoroughfare.

Construction of the bridge is expected to require "about one year." That means the span should be ready for use in February, 1962.

Ross pointed out that the old bridge would remain in service until the new structure is com-

Alabama Bank Hit By Bandit

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—A smooth operating gunman Saturday escaped with about $35,000 from the Bank of Auburn after following a woman clerk through the back door of the bank shortly before it opened for business.

Bank President Emil F. Wright said the man ordered bank employes "to clean out all the tellers' windows" and fill a brown paper bag he carried.

Wright said the man carried a .45 caliber automatic which he brandished about after stepping into the bank shortly before 8:30 a.m., some 30 minutes before the bank officially opened for the day.

"It looks like he had cased it (the bank) pretty good," Wright said. "I don't expect he stayed more than three or four minutes."

Acting Police Chief Fred Hammock said the robbery was "one of the slickest jobs I've ever seen. We were there within a minute and a half but he had completely disappeared. He got a terrific haul."

Hammock said he and another officer were in a police car across the street from the bank about two minutes before the robbery. They left but returned to the bank when they were notified of the robbery.

BATESVILLE, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Highway Patrol reported rain had turned to snow late Saturday afternoon in North Mississippi.

The patrol said driving conditions were hazardous, particularly on highway 61 near Tunica.

FROM ADMINISTRATION

Natural Gas Price May See Changes

WASHINGTON — A change in the personnel of the Federal Power Commission, including an increase in its size from five to seven, which President - Elect John F. Kennedy could substantially control, may effectively decide in the long - run at what level natural gas prices at the production phase are to be fixed.

It appears doubtful that Congress will go along with the recommendation in the report by James M. Landis, named by the President - elect to be "czar" of the regulatory agencies of the government, to increase the size of the commission and otherwise revise its operations.

Even if there is no increase in the size of the commission, Kennedy can and probably will name new members to the commission during the next several months.

The present commission, which has only four members, after hearings, determined that it would be impossible to establish public - utility type control of natural gas prices at the production level.

Area or field type control was decided on even though the United States Supreme Court in the Phillips Petroleum Company decision in 1954 seemed to insist upon utility - type regulation.

Congress has twice unsuccessfully tried to void the Supreme Court decision and almost certainly will make another effort during the next year. But if Kennedy goes along with the recommendations of Landis, chances of such legislation are remote.

Landis, in his report, criticized the Federal Power Commission and particularly pointed to its regulation of natural gas prices.

Landis declared: "These defects stem from attitudes, plainly evident on the record, of the unwillingness of the commission to assume the responsibilities under the natural gas act and its attitude, substantially contemptuous, of refusing in substance to obey the mandates of the United States Supreme Court."

Gremillion's Hopes Faint On Appeals

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion Saturday warned that public schools of East Baton Rouge and St. Helena parishes may be ordered to desegregate next September.

The attorney general said if the present trend continues the state may lose the two cases to be heard Jan. 18 by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans and the U.S. Supreme Court may not permit further appeal.

ISSUES WARNING

"I want to warn the people of these two parishes and the state to be prepared for the impact of an unfavorable decision," Gremillion said.

"We have been fighting a legal battle continuously," he said. "We don't intend to give up. . . to relinquish the initiative, but we must face the reality that the law and the courts are against us and are consistently ruling against us."

Gremillion has called a strategy meeting in his office at 10 a.m. next Friday with attorneys and school officials of the two parishes.

Suits to desegregate public schools in East Baton Rouge and St. Helena parishes were filed about five years ago and have been pending in federal court awaiting a final decision in the Orleans Parish case.

The Orleans case resulted in desegregation under federal order of two grade schools.

"With the present trend I don't see any remote possibility of them switching their opinions, although we will give them every opportunity to do so," Gremillion said.

He said a federal court in Tennessee Friday "invaded the field of private contracts between landowners and tenants on the theory that registering to vote was the cause of alleged discrimination . . . . private contracts and private business can be swept aside upon a simple, unproved allegation of discrimination.

Blizzard Spoils Japan Holiday

TOKYO (AP)—A weekend blizzard stranded thousands Sunday on Japan's biggest holiday. In Niigata, two persons were reported killed and another missing when 16 houses were destroyed or damaged by snowslides.

About 100 trains were reported stalled in Hokuriku and other northern districts facing the Sea of Japan. The Weather Bureau said the storm was the worst since 1945. Snow was piled 12 feet high in some places.

RAIN, SLEET, SNOW

New Year's Eve Wet And Windy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a wet, windy New Year's Eve in the South, and snow coated rather wide areas of the Midwest and Northwest.

Rain swept the region from east Texas to Georgia, with some localities absorbing a buffeting from high winds. New Orleans had widespread property damage during a violent wind and rainstorm which damaged the grandstand and destroyed nine barns at the Jefferson Downs Race Track.

The downpour was heavy, flooding streets and low-lying areas of New Orleans. In Jackson, Miss., the 6-hour rainfall measured over 1 inch.

SNOW SPREADS

To the north, from Arkansas into western Tennessee, rain was mixed with sleet and snow. And a belt of heavy snow spread from northwestern Arkansas into Tennessee, Kentucky and southern Illinois, with accumulations of up to 3 inches.

There was lighter, scattered snowfall from the Great Lakes region into Minnesota, and from western Montana into interior Washington. Some shower activity dampened the Northwest.

Elsewhere, considerable sunshine during the day bathed a wide region from the West Coast into the Central Plains, and there was some sunny weather in New England.

FROM WHITE HOUSE

Castro Gets 'Nuts' Reply On Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today replied "nuts" to a Castro allegation that President Eisenhower has ordered U.S. Marines to invade Cuba before Jan. 18.

U.S. officials showed more interest in Peru's breakoff of relations with Havana.

They predicted Lima's action may be the forerunner of a more widespread Latin-American diplomatic quarantine of the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty snorted "nuts" and "ridiculous" when told of charges appearing Saturday in the Castro - controlled newspapers Revolucion and El Mundo.

The Havana publications said the Cuban government has learned from reliable sources of an invasion plan said to be arranged by the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency, and approved by Eisenhower.

"It is a typical smokescreen to serve whatever purposes they are trying to serve themselves," Hagerty commented. "There isn't a word of truth in it."

U.S. officials seemed not to know what prompted the latest Castro accusations, but they were not surprised. The Havana regime has aired similar charges before and a resurgence of the propaganda drums has been expected as Castro heads into a celebration of his second anniversary in power.

Although five other Latin countries have already withdrawn their top diplomats from Havana, Peru's action was considered especially significant here because the Lima government is widely known as a popularly elected, representative regime.

Local Labor Group Asks Tax Defeat

Travis O. Thomas, president of the Ouachita Parish Central Trades and Labor Council, yesterday voiced opposition to the proposed sales tax increase.

Thomas, speaking for his organization, the largest trade union group in the area, said that he and the members he represents, feel that there is "no justiciation" for a tax increase.

Thomas said that the tax would be "unfair."

AFTER MEETING

The local labor leader made his statement Saturday following a meeting Friday night of the organization. He said the council is made up of about 30 different unions in the parish.

It is approximately 5,000 members strong.

The labor meeting followed a Friday statement by Rep. Lawrence Gibbs that he is "undecided" on how he will vote on Jan. 4 on the measure when it is reconsidered in the House. Ouachita Parish's other representative, Mike John Jr., said he is still opposed to the tax hike and will vote against it.

Thomas said that he has talked to business leaders in the Tin Cities and that they are also opposed to the tax.

Thomas statement follows:

"At a meeting Friday night the Central Trades and Labor Council of Ouachita Parish restated our position as being on record as unalterably opposed to an increase in the sales tax.

"After considerable study and deliberation we feel there is no justification for any increase in taxes at the present time.

"We also feel that this would be an unfair tax and would urge our local representatives and our state senator to vote against the tax bill when it is reconsidered by the legislature."

Bonn, Soviets Sign New Pact

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany Saturday signed a new trade agreement with the Soviet Union and so ended the latest dispute involving West Berlin.

To bring about the signing, the West German government retreated from its insistence on a strong guarantee of the economic freedom of the city and its connection with the West.

The government settled for a statement declaring the new trade agreement's area of application will be the same as that of the old three-year agreement expiring at midnight.

This amounts to a simple continuance of the status quo.

Aerial Search Start Delayed By Rain, Snow

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Rain, snow and a low ceiling Saturday forced postponement of a search for the missing light plane of a Little Rock grocer.

The Civil Air Patrol called off a search, scheduled to start at dawn, and a spokesman said no flights will take off until the weather clears.

J. Harry Stacy, 53, has not been heard from since he left Jackson, Miss., about 3 p.m. Wednesday in a red and white twin-engined Piper Apache. His family reported him missing Friday.

Two reports of downed planes failed to check out. A woman near Malvern said she saw a red and white plane at tree-top level Friday, but Stacy could not have been in the air that long.

Arkansas County officers checked a report that some hunters had seen a plane go down near Gillett, but learned the hunters were not sure the plane had crashed and it had happened Tuesday.

The CAP search, when it starts, will be of a corridor 100 miles wide from Jackson to Little Rock.

It was a wet, windy New Year's Eve in the South, and snow coated rather wide areas of the Midwest and Northwest.

Rain swept the region from east Texas to Georgia, with some localities absorbing a buffeting from high winds. New Orleans had widespread property damage during a violent wind and rainstorm which damaged the grandstand and destroyed nine barns at the Jefferson Downs Race Track.

The downpour was heavy, flooding streets and low-lying areas of New Orleans. In Jackson, Miss., the 6-hour rainfall measured over 1 inch.

SNOW SPREADS

To the north, from Arkansas into western Tennessee, rain was mixed with sleet and snow. And a belt of heavy snow spread from northwestern Arkansas into Tennessee, Kentucky and southern Illinois, with accumulations of up to 3 inches.

There was lighter, scattered snowfall from the Great Lakes region into Minnesota, and from western Montana into interior Washington. Some shower activity dampened the Northwest.

Elsewhere, considerable sunshine during the day bathed a wide region from the West Coast into the Central Plains, and there was some sunny weather in New England.

FROM WHITE HOUSE

Castro Gets 'Nuts' Reply On Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today replied "nuts" to a Castro allegation that President Eisenhower has ordered U.S. Marines to invade Cuba before Jan. 18.

U.S. officials showed more interest in Peru's breakoff of relations with Havana.

They predicted Lima's action may be the forerunner of a more widespread Latin-American diplomatic quarantine of the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty snorted "nuts" and "ridiculous" when told of charges appearing Saturday in the Castro - controlled newspapers Revolucion and El Mundo.

The Havana publications said the Cuban government has learned from reliable sources of an invasion plan said to be arranged by the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency, and approved by Eisenhower.

"It is a typical smokescreen to serve whatever purposes they are trying to serve themselves," Hagerty commented. "There isn't a word of truth in it."

U.S. officials seemed not to know what prompted the latest Castro accusations, but they were not surprised. The Havana regime has aired similar charges before and a resurgence of the propaganda drums has been expected as Castro heads into a celebration of his second anniversary in power.

Although five other Latin countries have already withdrawn their top diplomats from Havana, Peru's action was considered especially significant here because the Lima government is widely known as a popularly elected, representative regime.

Local Labor Group Asks Tax Defeat

Travis O. Thomas, president of the Ouachita Parish Central Trades and Labor Council, yesterday voiced opposition to the proposed sales tax increase.

Thomas, speaking for his organization, the largest trade union group in the area, said that he and the members he represents, feel that there is "no justiciation" for a tax increase.

Thomas said that the tax would be "unfair."

AFTER MEETING

The local labor leader made his statement Saturday following a meeting Friday night of the organization. He said the council is made up of about 30 different unions in the parish.

It is approximately 5,000 members strong.

The labor meeting followed a Friday statement by Rep. Lawrence Gibbs that he is "undecided" on how he will vote on Jan. 4 on the measure when it is reconsidered in the House. Ouachita Parish's other representative, Mike John Jr., said he is still opposed to the tax hike and will vote against it.

Thomas said that he has talked to business leaders in the Tin Cities and that they are also opposed to the tax.

Thomas statement follows:

"At a meeting Friday night the Central Trades and Labor Council of Ouachita Parish restated our position as being on record as unalterably opposed to an increase in the sales tax.

"After considerable study and deliberation we feel there is no justification for any increase in taxes at the present time.

"We also feel that this would be an unfair tax and would urge our local representatives and our state senator to vote against the tax bill when it is reconsidered by the legislature."

Bonn, Soviets Sign New Pact

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany Saturday signed a new trade agreement with the Soviet Union and so ended the latest dispute involving West Berlin.

To bring about the signing, the West German government retreated from its insistence on a strong guarantee of the economic freedom of the city and its connection with the West.

The government settled for a statement declaring the new trade agreement's area of application will be the same as that of the old three-year agreement expiring at midnight.

This amounts to a simple continuance of the status quo.

of the muddying factors in the situation.

Intensive consultations were reported under way among Washington, London and Paris. They have been involved in argument for some time on the nature of efforts to prevent Laos from becoming another Korea — a cockpit of combat between American-Allied forces and Sino-Soviet bloc armies. If such a conflict should develop it would probably engulf the rest of Indochina.

Officially the White House was noncommittal about the dangers in the Lao crisis. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said "I am not applying labels, adjectives or the like."

Eisenhower met shortly before noon with Livingston T. Merchant, acting secretary of state, James H. Douglas, acting secretary of defense, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Hagerty did not dispute a reporter's suggestion that the meeting had the characteristics of an emergency conference. That is precisely what it was. It was initiated by reports reaching the State Department from the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane forces were fect that Communist forces were moving into the provinces of Sam Neua and Xieng Khouang. There were rumors and reports of possible thrusts also further to the north.

"The President has stayed and will continue to stay in close touch with the situation," Hagerty said to reporters.

Asked about some decision on an American course of action, Hagerty declared, "I can't say anything about it one way or the other."

It was learned, however, that apart from possible preliminary moves — there are U.S. naval and air forces in the Far Pacific — the President decided that he needed more complete and more definitive information. Some officials said that before making a case internationally it would be necessary to show the identification, the size and evidence of the purpose of the invasion troops.

The situation, in fact, is not nearly so clear cut in the eyes of top Eisenhower administration leaders as were the situations in Korea when the Communists struck from the north in 1950 or in Lebanon when U.S. forces intervened two years ago.

The difficulty is in part a question of the legality of the government supported by the United States and in part the split between this country and its principal European allies.

Roughly, this split follows the lines of a tough versus a soft policy with the United States favoring a tough stand against Red pressures in Laos and Britain and France advocating caution.

The European allies are not enthusiastic about the Boun Oum government. They saw much greater hope for the previous neutralist regime of Premier Souvanna Phouma.

The State Department has taken the position, however, that neutralism based on a coalition of pro-Western and pro-Communist political elements will not work because the Communists will take over. The State Department says it was Communist and leftist undercutting which destroyed the Souvanna Phouma regime and caused the premier to flee in mid-December to Bangkok.

home. One of his guests was Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., to whom he offered an unspecified federal post. The son of the late president held his acceptance in abeyance pending another conference with Kennedy in New York next week.

Kennedy Saturday also made his first secondary appointment in the Health, Education, and Welfare Department. He named Boisfeuillet Jones of Atlanta, Ga., as special assistant to the secretary for health and medical affairs. The appointment was made in consultation with Secretary-designate Abraham A. Ribicoff. The post, currently unfilled, pays $21,000 yearly.

Jones, 47, now is vice president and administrator of health services at Emory University, Atlanta. His professional career began with eight years service, 1935-43, as a southern official of the National Youth Administration.

The Weaver appointment was designed to arouse a certain amount of resistance among conservative southern Democrats in Congress, but Kennedy displayed no apprehension about this project as he presented the new housing chief at a joint press conference here this morning.

Weaver, who explained he believes strongly in "open occupancy and nondiscrimination," said it would be "premature" for him to discuss possible southern Democratic reaction in Congress, but Kennedy spoke up quickly, "I have selected a man who I think can do the job and I am hopeful that will be the judgment of all Americans."

Arrest Touches Off Negro Riot

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —The arrest of a Negro couple on a disorderly conduct charge Saturday set off a two-hour riot in which more than 300 Negroes hurled stones and bottles at a score of police officers armed with billy clubs, shotguns and tear gas.

No serious injuries were reported.

Police arrested 14 men and 12 were sentenced to terms ranging from 10 to 40 days on disorderly conduct charges. Two were given suspended sentences.

Many of the officers suffered bruises and torn uniforms. Squad cars were damagd by flying objects.

Police said the riot, second in a two-month period, started when two Negro officers arrested a man and a woman in one of St. Petersburg's two large Negro sections shortly after midnight.

A friend of the couple, identified as Willie Lamb, pulled a knife and was arrested, police said. This apparently touched off the disorder.

The Negro officers, L. E. Williams and F. L. Crawford, radioed for help and 12 cruisers were sent to the area. Tear gas was not used.

A similar disturbance involving 300 Negroes broke out in the same neighborhood on Oct. 22 when a raiding party arrested a Negro woman tavern owner for illegal liquor sales.

Premier Takes Firm Stand In Belgium Riots

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Premier Gaston Eyskens told the nation Saturday night his government would never retreat in the face of a Socialist-led wave of strikes and violence which he said were threatening the "very existence" of Belgium's national institutions.

The Catholic Social Christian leader spoke in a New Year's Eve broadcast after an estimated 3,000 strikers, carrying Red banners draped in black, staged a one-hour "silent march" through Brussels on the 11th day of the anti-government strike wave.

The new demonstration, protesting the fatal shooting by a civilian of a man in Brussels rioting, produced no major incidents. But violence erupted during similar demonstrations staged in other Belgian cities.

In Liege, some 1,000 strikers marched through the city, smashing show w i n d o w s of a dozen stores which defied an order to close.

Highwaymen Get Training For CD Work

BATON ROUGE (Special)—Approximately 700 employees of the Louisiana Department of Highways throughout the state will receive special training in a Radiological School inaugurated by the department as a civil defense measure, Director Ray W. Burgess has announced.

Burgess said that 16 supervisors, representing two from each of the state's eight districts, recently completed the first radiological instructor's school at the Department's Testing Laboratory at Baton Rouge.

They will return to their respective districts and in turn instruct others so that at least nine men will be fully trained and equipped in every one of the 64 parishes of the state under the program. Other special radiological teams will be trained for duty at offices, barns and shops of the department, Burgess said.

The Radiological School is part of a comprehensive Civil Defense Plan formulated by the highway department which stretches into every parish of the state.

"The department has work crews stationed in every parish and they possess equipment which is ready to go into action on a moment's notice. Most of our crews have had experience in dealing with natural disasters so with proper training they can also deal with other disasters," the director pointed out.

He said the department's responsibility in event of an emergency would be to protect the traveling public and work in cooperation with the State Civil Defense Agency, State Police and other large departments and agencies for overall protection of human life.

Under the highway department's detailed Civil Defense Plan, the employees are fully informed of their duties and their work is coordinated through a statewide radio hook up.

Burgess said that all of the men who are undergoing training in the Radiological School and other civil defense duties are doing so as added responsibility in their regular work but they do not receive extra pay for it.

De Gaulle Hints He May Resign

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle tonight implied that if his Algerian policies are not solidly approved in next month's referendum he will resign.

In a nationwide radio and television address, De Gaulle appealed for an overwhelming approval of his plans to grant home rule to the territory. He deplored the possibility of a "negative or indecisive" response to the Jan. 8 referendum. Then he added: "For myself, you are well aware of what a blow it would be — preventing me from continuing my task."

Postal Chief Resigns Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield resigned Saturday with a blast at Congress for refusing to raise postal rates to match increasing costs.

In a report to President Eisenhower, he accused congress of "failure to recognize its responsibility." He said refusal to boost rates kept the Post Office from eliminating its $644 million deficit.

Summerfield's resignation was made by the White House along with that of John Hay Whitney as U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain. Both are effective Jan. 20 when the administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy takes over.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL James M. Martin has his new oak leaves pinned on by his wife and commanding general. Col. Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Martin, 1317 North 6th St. in West Monroe, is a member of the United States NATO force in Naples, Italy. He recently completed 20 years service with the Army.

De Gaulle Hints He May Resign

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle tonight implied that if his Algerian policies are not solidly approved in next month's referendum he will resign.

In a nationwide radio and television address, De Gaulle appealed for an overwhelming approval of his plans to grant home rule to the territory. He deplored the possibility of a "negative or indecisive" response to the Jan. 8 referendum. Then he added: "For myself, you are well aware of what a blow it would be — preventing me from continuing my task."

Postal Chief Resigns Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield resigned Saturday with a blast at Congress for refusing to raise postal rates to match increasing costs.

In a report to President Eisenhower, he accused congress of "failure to recognize its responsibility." He said refusal to boost rates kept the Post Office from eliminating its $544 million deficit.

Summerfield's resignation was made by the White House along with that of John Hay Whitney as U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain. Both are effective Jan. 20 when the administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy takes over.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL James M. Martin has his new oak leaves pinned on by his wife and commanding general. Col. Martin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Martin, 1317 North 6th St. in West Monroe, is a member of the United States NATO force in Naples, Italy. He recently completed 20 years service with the Army.

Heavy Snow Top Weather News In '60

By JOHN CALE
Staff Writer

The heaviest snowfall in nine years was the most prominent on the northeast Louisiana weather map for 1960.

But to balance this cold spell, which occurred during February and early March, the warm summer air kicked the mercury past the 100 degree mark several times during the summer.

Rainfall and the river stages remained in the "average" bracket while high winds caused little or no damage.

Rain-slick highways and poor visibility were mentioned as factors in any number of traffic accidents in the area and an approaching cold front figures in the crash of an airplane in Lincoln Parish, which claimed three lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Obert G. Arnold and their son, O. G. Arnold, all of Ducan, Okla., died in the crash which occurred shortly before New Year's Day. Their daughter, Virginia, 11, survived.

SNOW

The first snowfall to any extent since 1951 blanketed northeast Louisiana over the weekend of February 12, 13 and 14. The big flakes began falling at mid-afternoon Friday and continued to fall until 5 a.m. Saturday, February 13.

Bus service out of Monroe was cancelled until the roads and highways were cleared and Saturday classes at Northeast were officially cancelled by President George T. Walker.

The short - lived winter wonderland had completely disappeared by the following Tuesday, Feburary 16, when the afternoon weather forecast read: "The last of the snowmen in Monroe and West Monroe vanished in last night's showers and the weatherman forecast partly cloudy and warmer weather for tomorrow."

SEVERE ICE

The opening days of March ushered in a period of severe icing conditions throughout north Louisiana and south Arkansas.

Heaviest hit were those parishes and counties where timber is the chief source of income. Jackson and Winn Parishes were especially hard hit with many acres of timber damaged.

According to the Forest Products Operations of Olin Mathieson, Union County, Arkansas, sustained the highest financial losses because of the March ice storm.

There it was necessary to salvage 10,000 chords of pulpwood because of trees broken or felled by the ice. These trees could have otherwise grown into poles suitable for power and communications lines. An estimated 500 carloads of salvaged pulpwood were hauled out of Union County during the weeks following the icing.

RAIN AND RIVER

For an area whose annual rainfall is in the neighborhod of 45 inches, 1960 could be considered an average year. Data furnished by the Louisiana Forestry Commission for the months January through November showed the heaviest rains in a five-parish area fell during the months of January, February and August.

Highs, lows and the 11-month totals were listed as follows: Ouachita: 5.54 inches (Feb.) .59 inches (July), total, 36.03; Jackson: 6:00 (Feb.)-.92 (Sept.), 40.88; Lincoln: 8.56 (Aug.)-1.49 (Sept.), 42.85; Union: 9.19 (Aug.) -.94 (Sept.), 43.81; Morehouse: 8.68 (Aug.)-1.26 (Sept.), 42.76.

Lock No. 4 on the Ouachita River at Monroe was opened on December 10 this year, seven days earlier this year than last. This shows the slight increase in the area rainfall among other factors started the winter rise of the river about a week earlier this year.

The high level of the Ouachita at Monroe, recorded at the Old Traffic Bridge, was reached over a four-day period between March 21-25. The measurement was 31.6 feet, 8.4 feet below flood stage.

Lock No. 4 was closed 211 days during the year in order to maintain sufficient depth for shallow draft barges.

THERMOMETER

Winter, 1960, brought several blasts of sub - freezing with the recording thermometer at the Federal Aviation Agency, Selman Field, showing 23 degrees for January 21, 21 degrees for February 14, and 24 degrees for March 4.

The summer followed with plenty of hot ones in the high 90's. But the mercury only hit the 100 degree mark once. That firecracker went off a week and a day after the "Fourth" on July 12, to be exact.

103-Year-Old Negro Succumbs

Funeral services will be held Tuesday for a 103-year-old Negro woman, Alice Hemphill, who died at her residence on Buck Jones Lane Thursday afternoon.

She was born in June, 1857, in Jonesboro and has resided in Monroe for the past two years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the China Grove Baptist Church in Monroe and burial will be in the Clark Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Simms and Gundy Funeral Home of Rayville.

She is survived by one daughter, Jessie Mae Heckard of Monroe.

Finances, Expansion Top 1960 School News

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Outstanding expansion at Northeast Louisiana State College, a new record for enrollment in Ouachita Parish system schools and cut-to-the-bone budgets in both Ouachita and Monroe school systems characterized 1960.

Now under construction or recently completed at Northeast College are projects costing $2,536,000 according to Dr. George T. Walker, president.

Enrollment in Ouachita schools passed the 14,000 mark since classes began in August — the most students in parish school's history.

And this phrase on Ouachita School Supt. W. W. Ward's desk tells the money story for both his schools and those in Monroe Supt. Van D Odom's jurisdiction:

"If there is anything you want that we don't have, please let us know and we will tell you how to get along without it."

"The most noteworthy accomplishment of the Monroe City school system in 1960 was making the budget operate for 180 school days," said Odom.

"We used all the surplus accumulated over at least a dozen years," he continued. "Unless some grave emergency arises, which we do not anticipate, we will have a full school session."

But of the $93,000 surplus, only $8,000 will be left over for next year.

"Unless additional sources of revenue are derived at state or local level, we cannot continue to operate on a 180 day schedule and offer a program of education which our people are accustomed to," he said.

In contrast, Northeast State College is on the move.

The college budget for 1960-61 stands at $2,179,545, an increase of 9.3 per cent over 1959-60, and a 47.5 per cent increase over 1958-59.

Major item on the budget is $1,657,030 for personal services — 76 per cent of the total budget.

Dr. George Walker, president, stated that, "The greatest thing at Northeast in the year 1960 has been the friendly and effective efforts of the faculty and the students in attaining a standard of excellence of which any institution and its friends would be proud."

"The next greatest thing for Northeast in 1960 has been the increasing support of the college on the part of Monroe and Louisiana citizens who want the best educational opportunities provided to Louisiana's young people," he pointed out.

The Monroe City System has a college course of its own: college first year physics is being offered for the first time this year at Neville High school.

Advanced mathematics, another first year college course, also is being taught at Neville this year.

The physics laboratory was completely renovated with the most modern equipment for the scientific course of study, made possible by an Olin Mathieson grant.

Neville also added Problems of Democracy to its social studies curriculum.

Spanish and French are being offered in the city's two junior high schools, Jefferson and Lee.

During the fall, Neville was accredited again for membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools by a visiting committee of educators from throughout the state.

Excerpts from the Committee's report are: "Excellent school with a broad and varied curriculum, a well trained and most capable staff . . . Neville High School has a most impressive course of studies. Fifty-five and one half units are offered . . . Much evidence of sound leadership and instruction . . . Pupil activity is extensive, varied and adequate to meet the needs and interest of the pupils . . . The Committee was impressed with the tremendous pride of the students in their teachers, their student body, their scholastic and athletic achievements, their building and their student activities . . . unusually high and desirable school spirit . . . The Superintendent is very cooperative and progressive in his thinking . . . The Principal is effectively performing his administrative tasks, exercising his supervisory duties and carrying out his leadership responsibilities."

Ouachita parish history was made this year. For the first time, all schools in the parish system now have library service and librarians.

Libraries in each elementary school were centralized into one room.

"The children are doing better reading, more of it, and showing more interest in reading this year than ever before," stated elementary schools' supervisor Miss Gertrude Gregory.

She gives credit for this increased interest in reading to the centralized library program, which makes all of the books of a school available to the entire student body.

"The children are taking more books home. As a result, they can read better and take more interest in reading," she points out.

Ouachita's pioneer work in centralization of elementary libraries has drawn inquiries from interested educators as far away as Michigan and Canada.

Scientific interest in parish elementary schools also skyrocketed in 1960.

"This year, more than in any other year I can recall, the elementary teachers are interested in science. They've called for more books, more demonstration experiments," Miss Gregory revealed.

Along with Ouachita's history-making student enrollment of 14,568 students (10,634 white, 3,934 colored), the number of teachers also surpassed previous records: 476 white teachers, 140 colored, including principals, librarians, regular instructors and special education field teachers.

Pioneering in the field of teaching music over educational television station KLSE also was seen in the first year of the 60's.

C. Solon King, parish music supervisor, conducted classes for grades one through four, and grades five and six together.

Children from parish schools composed the television class. Many schools in the parish turned on their television sets and participated regularly in this program.

In connection with the vocational rehabilitation section of the state Department of Education, and with the cooperation of the Northeast Louisiana Mentally Retarded Association the parish has established a sheltered workshop for the mentally retarded at the old Selman Field school.

Curriculum changes at parish schools included the establishment of a new office education department at West Monroe High school and industrial arts at Terzia High School.

Vocational agriculture was discontinued at both Ouachita Parish High school and Terzia.

The new Sterlington High school opened in August with 198 students registered.

Fire destroyed the main building of Terzia High in September, three weeks after school opened. Plans for reconstruction have been approved by the school board. Bids are scheduled to be taken at the January 17 board meeting.

Ouachita schools are participating in their second year of in-service study for the Southern Association's elementary school accreditation program.

Each school chose a problem or need which they felt would be improved by a year's intensive study.

Recently, all elementary schools participated in a three-day arithmetic conference.

Fairbanks was discontinued as a school, and students were transferred to A. L. Smith school in Sterlington.

Death claimed Miss Gladys Gregg, visiting teacher since that program was inaugurated in 1945.

Miss Josephine McCranie, formerly guidance counselor at OPHS, was named new visiting teacher.

Dr. Lake C. Oxford resigned from his post of West Monroe Junior High school to become registrar at Northeast College.

Gene Hardin took over the junior high's principal post, and C. O. Wilson moved into Hardin's former position as Millsaps elementary school principal.

Johnny Wilson resigned from Union Baptist elementary school, where he had been principal, to accept a high school principal's post in Winn Parish. Donald C. Wade was promoted to be Union Baptist principal.

The toughest problem for both parish and city schools was balancing the budget, after the state legislature slashed funds.

Short $180,000 of anticipated revenues, the parish "cut everything to the bone."

"We eliminated everything except what was absolutely essential. We cut out some physical things we really need, and items in the library program," said Ward.

Expenditures for some scientific equipment and transportation also was lopped off.

"We're cutting every corner we can to stay within the budget of $4,452,129.26," Ward pointed out.

Officials expect that a balance of $4,251.42 will be left when this school year is over. Not much of a surplus if insufficient funds are next year's problem too.

Both parish and city systems were badly hurt when the money for fast growing parishes was eliminated.

Achievements in the Monroe city system during 1960 included an orchestra at Neville for the first time.

Youngsters who had begun their study of music in the elementary grades have reached the high school level, and provide the orchestra.

In addition, the school system's Monroe Youth Orchestra recently performed the first of three concerts in the Young Concertgoers series. It was attended by 1,000 children.

The orchestra has been invited to Ashville, N. C. to participate in a festival next spring, as the only youth group with both string instruments and focals.

SEVERAL PROJECTS

Monroe's Street Program Hits Peak During 1960

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Monroe's biggest street improvement program in the city's history took place during 1960, with $887,869.01 spent on 21.04 miles of new construction, overlay of old Class one streets and $98,934.75 on the Plum Street underpass contract.

In addition, the city is contributing $500,000 from the 1958 bond issue as their part in financing the underpass to be built at South Second Street, under the Missouri - Pacific tracks.

Fifty - two streets had been improved, or were under contract for improvement as the year ended.

Outstanding project was the widening of DeSiart Street, from Sixth Street downtown to the intersection with Powell Avenue, Louisville Avenue and U. S. Highway 165 — a $386,056.64 job done in three contracts.

The final section of DeSiard was completely reopened to traffic on Dec. 11.

Widening of Forsythe Avenue from North Sixth Street to North 18th Street was completed on July 12 at a cost of $170,182.64.

South and North Grand Street also was a major project, to the tune of $46,305.

The street was widened from Telemaque Street to Jefferson, to accommodate heavy traffic enroute to or leaving the proposed Interstate 20 highway bridge.

Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez, the force behind the outstanding improvement work, gives credit for what's been accomplished to, "the progressive spirit of the property owners, who made it possible."

"The entire City Council has supported the whole street program wholeheartedly," the Commissioner pointed out.

"A great deal of inconvenience has been visited on some of the people, especially in the rebuilding of Forsythe, DeSiard and Grand Streets. This is natural for that sort of improvement," he stated.

The city council approved the Plum Street underpass contract on Dec. 16.

Monroe's share of its costs, in addition to the $98,934.73 contract, is five and one - half of the contract cost for engineers fees, $1200 soil testing and $8,000 land acquisition, plus cost to the utilities commission for relocating electricity and water lines.

A Missouri - Pacific bridge crew will start work on their part of the underpass project about Feb. 1. Before they are completely finished, the city will start on its share of the work.

The railroad won't be able to determine its part of the cost until it completes work.

Under the contract, the underpass is due for completion 150 days after it was signed, or about August first.

"It will be ready in time for school opening," Rodriguez points out.

Looking to the future, he visualized the major network of streets in Monroe, after completion of Interstate Highway 20, its bridge, the new U.S. Highway 165 bypass, plus overpasses over railroad crossings and over highways.

Overlay on all class one streets is due for completion in 1963.

"None of us feel satisfied. There is still a great deal to be done yet, a lot of negotiations with property owners, and hard work on the part of the city engineer's office and the Commission Council," he pointed out.

City engineer Tom Keller and his department came in for praise as "very efficient."

"Our workload has been quite heavy, so in addition to the city engineer, we have used consulting engineer firms," the commissioner said.

A total of 8.5 miles of street work (on DeSiard, Forsythe from 6th to 18th and Grand) was financed partly by the 1958 bond issue of $1,890,000 for street improvements and grade separations. Owners of abutting property paid $2.50 per front foot assessment, a very small part of the cost.

Asphalt overlay was placed on 6.7 miles of 14 class one streets. Owners of abutting property paid 75 cents per front foot, approximately one third of the cost.

New construction resulted in 8.12 additional miles of smooth driving, over seven streets, in addition to the three major bond issue streets. These streets included what had been gravel roads, newly opened streets, new subdivisions and streets built with "blade mix blacktop."

Legal process has started, but bids have not been opened yet, on 1.08 miles of street. In the very near future, legal process will be started on five miles of additional streets.

For newly constructed streets, where property owners had never been assessed anything for street improvement in the past, the total cost of each project was paid by the property owners.

Adjacent property owners also paid $4600 for placing six inches of reinforced cement on an alley which runs between North Fourth and Fifth Streets, parallel to Pine Street.

The city avoided having any base or asphalt failures on any streets in 1960, since a testing laboratory's services were utilized for all street construction.

Overlay was placed on 14 streets:

North Third, from DeSiard to Forsythe Avenue; N. Sixth from DeSiard to Forsythe; Hudson Lane from Riverside Drive to N. Sixth; Washington from Walnut to N. Ninth; Walnut from DeDeSiard to Jefferson and west to North Grand; N. Second from DeSiard to Washington; Harrison from St. John to Hall; Wood from S. Grand to Seventh; Depot from Sixth to Seventh; Sixth from DeSiard to Oak; Oak from S. Grand to Illinois Central railroad tracks; Fifth from Layton to Ouachita Avenue; St. John from Morris Drive to Orange; Hall from DeSiard to Oak.

Streets completed in 1960 are:

DeSiard, from Sixth to the Sterlington Road intersection; Forsythe Avenue from N. Sixth to North 18; S. Grand from DeSiard to Telemaque; N. Grand from Jefferson to DeSiard; Filhiol from DeSiard to Bayou DeSiard; Bres from N. Eight to N. Ninth; Atkinson from Winnsboro Road to Thomas; Pearl from Thomas to Mouton; Mouton from Pearl to Jackson; Benton from S. Grand to Jackson; Commerce from DeSiard to Stanley.

Eleven streets under construction as of Dec. 1, 1960 are:

North Ninth from Arkansas to Breard; McGuire from DeSiard to Bayou DeSiard; Blanks from S. College to Sherrouse; Franklin from Breard to Betin; D'Arbonne from DeSiard to Grammont; Plum from S. Eighth to South 10th; Pecan from S. Eighth to South 10th; Beauregard from S. Eighth to South 10th; McGee from Wilson to S. Sixth; Ivy from S. Grand to 321 feet west; Jack McEnery from Gordon to Lee.

Streets under contract as of Dec. 1, although construction had not started yet, are:

Stuart from Pargoud Blvd. to Kenmore; K from N. Fourth to North 10th; Auburn from N. Sixth to N. Eighth; Hudson from N. Sixth to N. Eighth; Stanley from DeSiard to St. Charles; St. Charles from Stanley to Louisville; Marx from Winnsboro Road to Thomas.

Legal process had been initiated for improvements of the following nine streets, as of Dec. 1, 1960:

Island Dr. from Marquette to Sharon; Girod from S. Eighth to South 12th; S. Ninth from Girod to its end at Ouachita Cotton Mill's second addition; South 10th from Girod to Ouachita Cotton Mill's second addition; Glenmar from North 18th to North 19th; Bule from Loop Road north as dedicated in Bule addition plat; North 11th from Hilton to K; K from North 11 to North 10th; Breard from Louisville southwest 300 feet to railroad spur.

Swanson Cites Expansion Needs At Institution

By SARAH LITTLE
Staff Writer

Though Louisiana Training Institute for boys has been undergoing a series of construction projects, there is still need for improvements, Superintendent A. L. (Red) Swanson says.

He pointed out that the 683 acres of land, which lies south of Monroe just outside the city limits, still needs more buildings to take care of the many boys from all over the state which it serves.

"Our boys range from 7 to 19," Swanson said, and right now "we have some 350 on the place."

He added that all of the boys at the training institute are not necessarily delinquents or one who have been mixed up in some kind of trouble, but some of them are just from neglected homes.

We have just completed construction of a new dormitory, two homes for staff members, a Catholic chapel, storerooms and a new football field equipped with lights. A new running track for the track team will soon be completed around the football field.

But the school still needs two more dormitories and another gymnasium, he said.

Swanson added that an application has been filed by the director of the department of institutes for a $695,000 grant to pay for the needed improvements on the institution, the only one of its kind for boys in the state.

There is a similar institute for girls in Pineville, and also one for Negroes in the state.

Swanson explained that the present plant now includes only nine dormitories, including the recently completed one; a school building with grades one through twelve; an auditorium; a cafeteria; a trades building; maintenance buildings; auto mechanics shop; administration building; two duplexes for staff members and six homes including the two new ones; protestant and catholic chapels; a modern up - to - date dairy; a cannery; and a gymnasium and swimming pool.

He added that there are barns which combine a laying house for the hens and a broiler house where all the hens are raised, and barns for cattle.

Swanson noted that the budget for this past year hit somewhere around $690,000.

Pointing out that it costs approximately $4 per day per boy to run the school, he said that it provides everything for the boys from toilet articles to psychiatric treatment.

The training school for boys produces all of its milk, eggs, chickens, pork and better than half of its beef through efforts of the boys themselves, he stressed. The gardens also produce a lot of the fresh vegetables and canned foods for the cafeteria.

The boys are required to go to chapel services on Sunday morning, he said, but Sunday night and Wednesday night services are on a voluntary basis.

Swanson explained that they felt the boys should attend the services at least on Sunday morning, remarking that "if some of them had been made to go before now, they might not be here today."

TO BE DEVELOPED

Tourism Seen As Area's Most Notable Attraction

By JIMMY HATTEN
Staff Writer

The Monroe - West Monroe metropolitan area and outlying Ouachita Parish's prolific sports country pumped valuable dollars into the lifestream of the region's economy during 1960.

And signs point to bigger and better things during the coming year and the years ahead.

This is the opinion of spokesmen in various fields related to conventions and tourism, its intertwining and related components.

It's hard to read a tourism gauge, but it may well be a million dollar industry that leaders of the area will want to watch more closely in order to act more forcefully.

Conventions, that most desirable of attraction plums for a city's tourism economy, may have, according to the Monroe Chamber of Commerce's estimate, brought in from between $375,000 - $1½ million dollars for the past year alone.

There were about 30 conventions and conferences held in Monroe alone, with average attendance approximately 200.

MORE IN 1961

And, Monroe is looking forward to 1961 conventions, having already booked 15. Even the 1962 booking has begun.

Another instance of tourist potential may be drawn from traffic figures.

For instance, 8 - million vehicles poured in and out of the Twin Cities during the past year, this figure being based on the Highway Department's traffic count of 21,940 vehicles in a 24-hour period for the new bridge.

It is in the traffic flow, adds a spokesman of the petroleum industry, that "one of the greatest things" happening to this area is in the making.

This is the development of Interstate 20 — the new superhighway spanning the nation.

Already upwards of perhaps 80 per cent of the traffic flow through the Twin Cities comes from an east - west direction, following U. S. Highway 80.

With the coming of Interstate 20, running through the Twin Cities, light industrial centers will spring up, predicts this spokesman.

WILDLIFE

Another facet of the tourist trade is the bountiful, and sometimes underrated hunting and fishing mecca of Ouachita.

But, at the rate it's developing, this phase of tourism may well be the heaviest drawing card of them all.

Within a 30 - mile radius of the Twin Cities lie 30-40 lakes and rivers. Says one man, long an avid sportsman and backer of wildlife projects, "I'd rather live in Ouachita Parish than anywhere in Louisiana because of the advantages it offers in hunting and fishing."

This also, is a field that is forging forcefully ahead. The purchase of the Lafourche Swamp area is in the works.

With it would come 15,000 acres of land for fishing, and hunting.

Black Bayou, five miles north of Monroe, affords one of the best bass fishing spots in the south, and draws sportsmen from as far away as St. Louis and Kansas City.

Wham Brake is rated as one of the best habitats around, and some of the biggest deer kills in the state were made during the year on the outskirts of Ouachita. In the next two years, Ouachita may be opened to deer hunting, and will assuredly bring in many more sportsmen.

The scenic drawing value of the Twin Cities and Ouachita area cannot be overlooked when it comes to estimating drawing attractions on tourists.

Boasting one of the most beautiful rivers in the United States, the Ouachita provides a boating pleasure place, and since projects underway to clean up pollution of the river are in the process, may be counted on in the future to figure even more prominently in the scheme of things.

CLUB COUNCIL

With the organization of the Twin City Council, garden and flower club activities may be expected during the coming year to strengthen and act with renewed vigor.

There are around 34 garden clubs in Monroe alone and several tours have been provided by local residents for visitors from other cities.

Merchandizing provides traffic in and out of the Twin cities, thus relating itself to tourism in that by drawing the people in to buy it also opens avenues to other aspects of the field.

If beauty of the area is a tourist - drawer, so also then would be unique and modern merchandize houses; and this can be found here.

The Monroe gas fields may be considered in this light also, with one of the biggest compressor stations in the world located at Sterlington. More pipelines converge here than any other point in the United States.

Also adding its share are the cultural activities of the cities, and this, too, is growing.

Sports events also helped to bring in tourists during the past year, these including bowling tournaments, golf tourneys and both high school and college games of various kinds.

The Ouachita area does have its historical side also, but for the most part there are few big attractions that would tempt tourists from other sections of the country

For that reason, it is going to be in merchandizing, beauty, the bountifulness of the area as given by nature that will have to be tapped in the coming years if the Twin Cities and Ouachita Parish is to capture its share of the tourist's dollar.

This, then, leaves the field virtually open for enterprizing, forceful idea men and leaders.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCIS FLANDERS

It is our sincere wish that the people of Ouachita Parish have a very happy New Year and that they continue to take advantage of the resources of the Ouachita Parish Public Library as they have in the past year. The book collection is growing constantly. More than 7,000 new books were added to the Library collection during 1960 and we hope to exceed this during the coming year.

In the past week a number of interesting new books were added to the collection. A book which everyone who is worried about the international situation should read is "American might and Soviet myth" by Jameson G. Compaigne. The author states that America is suffering from a failure of nerve and that we are dupes of irrational fear. Never in history have two more unequal major powers faced one another than America and the Soviet Union, the free world and the communist countries. He shows that Russian accomplishments and claims of accomplishment compose a brilliant explicited facade which hides from the West a backward and primitive country, far more terrified of atomic war than we are. He states that America suffers from chronic underestimation of her own vitality. He calls for a reassessment of our potential and a firm approach to the international situation. This is a positive book and a hopeful book. In an age whose critics cry doom on every side, it is a much needed application of commonsense.

Several years ago the world was startled by the disappearance of Commander Crabb, an underwater secret service agent of Great Britain. J. Brenard Hutton has written about this interesting tale in a book which he calls "Frogman" Spy." It is a book which you will want to read and enjoy.

One of the most sordid episcodes of American History was the reign of the Al Capone Gang in Chicago during the prohibition period. The gang was broken by a group of incorruptible men known as the "Untouchables." Their story has been recorded by their leader, Eliot Ness and is appearing on a current T.V. series. The library has recently added 5 copies of this book, one for each branch, so everyone may be able to read just what they did for the country.

The field of guidance is a most important one and the library has just added two new books in this field. One is "Principles and Techniques of Guidance" by David W. Lefever and the other is "Group Work in Education" by Ruth May Strange. Engineers will be most interested in a book by Alfred Jensen called "Applied Engineering Mechanics." This is a very fine book and one that should be most valuable.

A different and interesting book is concerned with the seal industry and is called "The Sea Bears." It was written by Fredericka Martin and contains all sorts of information about these interesting animals, their habits, habitat and how to capture them. Another interesting cookbook has been added to the library collection. It is "The Sunset Cookbook," published by the Sunset Magazine. It has recipes which are appropriate to the Southwest and many of them have gourmet touch.

Boris de Rachewiltz is the author of a very lovely and scholarly new book, "An Introduction to Egyptian art." It is profusley illustrated with beautiful color plates and contains interesting and valuable information. A new generation has almost grown up since World War II and they are vitally interested in reading books about war heroes and adventures. All of the books which were published during that period are in demand by High School and College Students and new ones are appearing regularly. The latest one was written by Wilbur H. Morrison and had for it's title "Hellbirds' 'the story of the B-29's in combat."

Trumbill Higgins is the author of "Korea and the fall of MacArthur" a book which sheds new light on the Korean conflict and on the events which led to the recall of General MacArthur. One of the High School classes has been reading biographies of people who lived during the colonial period of American history. It has been hard for us to find enough books for them, because there are just not too many in existence. This week we added two which will be valuable next fall. One is by George Dangerfield. It is "Chancellor Robert R. Livingston of New York, 1746-1813. The other is "The indomitable John Scott; Citizen of Long Island, 1632-1704.

Have you made all your New Year's resolutions. If not, make one to read more during the coming year and take advantage of the resources of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

DEATH, DISCOVERY

News Chronology In Area For 1960

By EZRA ADAMS
State Editor

Newspaper files are interesting, especially when there are stories and events you know about.

Gleaned from the page one stories during 1960, first year of a new decade, are the following area items, chronologically:

Jan. 4—Jesse Bland, 67, Winnfield, burned to death in a fire that swept through his frame home.

Jan. 8—Jackson Parish hears of Federal approval of a $360,000 grant to match locally voted funds to build a 37-bed hospital.

Jan. 9—Record area vote turnout for election of governor, local and area officials in Democratic primary.

Jan. 11—Mrs. Olive Long Wright, 97, aunt of Earl K. Long, and thought to be one of the oldest twins living in the United States, died on Jan. 10.

Jan. 13—British scientists and technicians visit Winnfield to help the Atomic Energy Commission on project to determine if nuclear blasts can be concealed underground without detection.

Jan. 16—A. M. Moore, Monroe trapper, finds wreckage of single engine airplane in Lafourche Swamp eight miles from Monroe south of Highway 80. No trace found of owner, pilot, etc.

Jan. 23 — Cold weather conditions set stage for death of 81-year-old housewife near Jonesboro. She was badly burned after her dress caught fire from a gas heater. Identified as Mrs. Edith Gresham Nash.

Jan. 31—Shields Gardner Lawson, 51, bogus check artist nabbed in Las Vegas, Nev., on information furnished by Ouachita Parish authorities.

Feb. 13—John W. Griffin of the U. S. Park Service looks into possibility of establishing a national park at Povery Point on Bayou Macon in West Carroll Parish. He said the area looked "impressive" and that inspection reports are being made on areas across the nation.

Feb. 13—The first major snow hit the area since 1951. An estimated depth up to eight inches fell on Feb. 12, blanketing the area and leaving highway travel hazardous.

Feb. 29—Fire destroys elementary school, gymnasium at Bernice. The school housed about 120 students. Total loss estimated at $250,000. Churches used for classes.

Mar. 3—North Louisiana shudders in wake of ice storm that caused extensive damage and power blackouts throughout the area. Timber losses were reported heavy.

Mar. 23—Three Louisiana Tech students "borrow" railroad work car from behind West Monroe Illinois Central station on a Monday night to return to Ruston. They wrecked the car three miles from Ruston and one was hospitalized; the other two were jailed immediately. The injured received a broken nose, broken hand and arm.

April 9—The state Civil Defense organization stages a "disaster" at Ruston. A liquified petroleum truck was supposed to have collided with an Army truck, and 150 Tech students participated as wreck victims. The emergency hospital was set up in the Tech gymnasium.

May 8—A Sunday, and many persons from the area join flotillas on the Ouachita River to converge with others around the state to participate in the Tuesday noon inauguration ceremonies of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, the state's forty-first governor.

June 24—Drought conditions reported in area are alleviated somewhat by rain, Cotton had begun to wilt and one county agent reported "We need rain badly." Selman Field weathermen recorded a 1.25 inch rain.

July 4—Judith Ann Coday, of Baton Rouge, chosen "Miss Louisian" in annual pageant at Lake Providence. The green - eyed blonde won the title over 24 contestants.

July 5—James Gwin arrested in New Orleans after a weekend spending spree, for November, 1959 robbery of the Oak Ridge Bank of $13,050. James was free on bond after a mistrial had been declared in April when he and his brother Otis were in court for the robbery. The two lived near Holly Ridge. They were sentenced later, on Oct. 6, with James getting 20 years and Otis 10 years in the state prison.

July 9—Billie Sue Riordan, of Bernice, is chosen Peach Queen at Ruston in finals of the annual Peach Festival. Chosen as the queen's junior partner, Miss Princess Peach, was Denise Jones.

July 15—The body of N. D. Crooks, 38, of Jena is recovered from Larto Lake where he drowned after his boat nosed over. Others aboard were able to swim ashore.

July 25—J. M. Weems, 100 years old, is reported missing from his home near Holly Ridge. Authorities begin investigation by questioning a number of persons but found nothing of his whereabouts.

Aug. 1—An escapee from Louisiana Training Institute, Monroe is killed when the stolen car he was driving left the road in a curve near Alexandria and smashed up. He was identified as Mack Molaison, 15, of New Orleans, who escaped with Edgar Daljour, 16, also of New Orleans. Officials said the car must have been doing over 100 miles per hour. The boys stole the car after their 7:15 p.m. escape and wrecked it early the next morning.

Oct. 30—Charles A. Hazen, 69, executive editor of the Shreveport Times, dies after a lengthy illness. He was associated with the Times for 28 years, and was one of the South's best known newsmen.

Nov. 8— Area qualified voters trek to the polls from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. to help elect the next president and vice president of the United States. Losing candidate Richard M. Nixon, took top spot in northeast Louisiana's balloting, with unpledged States Rights electors second and John F. Kennedy third.

Nov. 22—Citizens from all over the northeast Louisiana area come in large groups to Neville High School auditorium in Monroe for a mass meeting to show their support of the governor and Legislature in their hassle with the Federal government over state sovereignty.

Finances, Expansion Top 1960 School News

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Outstanding expansion at Northeast Louisiana State College, a new record for enrollment in Ouachita Parish system schools and cut-to-the-bone budgets in both Ouachita and Monroe school systems characterized 1960.

Now under construction or recently completed at Northeast College are projects costing $2,536,000 according to Dr. George T. Walker, president.

Enrollment in Ouachita schools passed the 14,000 mark since classes began in August — the most students in parish school's history.

And this phrase on Ouachita School Supt. W. W. Ward's desk tells the money story for both his schools and those in Monroe Supt. Van D Odom's jurisdiction:

"If there is anything you want that we don't have, please let us know and we will tell you how to get along without it."

"The most noteworthy accomplishment of the Monroe City school system in 1960 was making the budget operate for 180 school days," said Odom.

"We used all the surplus accumulated over at least a dozen years," he continued. "Unless some grave emergency arises, which we do not anticipate, we will have a full school session."

But of the $93,000 surplus, only $8,000 will be left over for next year.

"Unless additional sources of revenue are derived at state or local level, we cannot continue to operate on a 180 day schedule and offer a program of education which our people are accustomed to," he said.

In contrast, Northeast State College is on the move.

The college budget for 1960-61 stands at $2,179,545, an increase of 9.3 per cent over 1959-60, and a 47.5 per cent increase over 1958-59.

Major item on the budget is $1,657,039 for personal services — 76 per cent of the total budget.

Dr. George Walker, president, stated that, "The greatest thing at Northeast in the year 1960 has been the friendly and effective efforts of the faculty and the students in attaining a standard of excellence of which any institution and its friends would be proud."

"The next greatest thing for Northeast in 1960 has been the increasing support of the college on the part of Monroe and Louisiana citizens who want the best educational opportunities provided to Louisiana's young people," he pointed out.

The Monroe City System has a college course of its own: college first year physics is being offered for the first time this year at Neville High school.

Advanced mathematics, another first year college course, also is being taught at Neville this year.

The physics laboratory was completely renovated with the most modern equipment for the scientific course of study, made possible by an Olin Mathieson grant.

Neville also added Problems of Democracy to its social studies curriculum.

Spanish and French are being offered in the city's two junior high schools, Jefferson and Lee.

During the fall, Neville was accredited again for membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools by a visiting committee of educators from throughout the state.

Excerpts from the Committee's report are: "Excellent school with a broad and varied curriculum, a well trained and most capable staff . . . Neville High School has a most impressive course of studies. Fifty-five and one half units are offered . . . Much evidence of sound leadership and instruction . . . Pupil activity is extensive, varied and adequate to meet the needs and interest of the pupils . . . The Committee was impressed with the tremendous pride of the students in their teachers, their student body, their scholastic and athletic achievements, their building and their student activities . . . unusually high and desirable school spirit . . . The Superintendent is very cooperative and progressive in his thinking . . . The Principal is effectively performing his administrative tasks, exercising his supervisory duties and carrying out his leadership responsibilities."

Ouachita parish history was made this year. For the first time, all schools in the parish system now have library service and librarians.

Libraries in each elementary school were centralized into one room.

"The children are doing better reading, more of it, and showing more interest in reading this year than ever before," stated elementary schools' supervisor Miss Gertrude Gregory.

She gives credit for this increased interest in reading to the centralized library program, which makes all of the books of a school available to the entire student body.

"The children are taking more books home. As a result, they can read better and take more interest in reading," she points out.

Ouachita's pioneer work in centralization of elementary libraries has drawn inquiries from interested educators as far away as Michigan and Canada.

Scientific interest in parish elementary schools also skyrocketed in 1960.

"This year, more than in any other year I can recall, the elementary teachers are interested in science. They've called for more books, more demonstration experiments," Miss Gregory revealed.

Along with Ouachita's history-making student enrollment of 14,568 students (10,634 white, 3,934 colored), the number of teachers also surpassed previous records: 476 white teachers, 140 colored, including principals, librarians, regular instructors and special education field teachers.

Pioneering in the field of teaching music over educational television station KLSE also was seen in the first year of the 60's.

C. Solon King, parish music supervisor, conducted classes for grades one through four, and grades five and six together.

Children from parish schools composed the television class. Many schools in the parish turned on their television sets and participated regularly in this program.

In connection with the vocational rehabilitation section of the state Department of Education, and with the cooperation of the Northeast Louisiana Mentally Retarded Association the parish has established a sheltered workshop for the mentally retarded at the old Selman Field school.

Curriculum changes at parish schools included the establishment of a new office education department at West Monroe High school and industrial arts at Terzia High School.

Vocational agriculture was discontinued at both Ouachita Parish High school and Terzia.

The new Sterlington High school opened in August with 198 students registered.

Fire destroyed the main building of Terzia High in September, three weeks after school opened. Plans for reconstruction have been approved by the school board. Bids are scheduled to be taken at the January 17 board meeting.

Ouachita schools are participating in their second year of in-service study for the Southern Association's elementary school accreditation program.

Each school chose a problem or need which they felt would be improved by a year's intensive study.

Recently, all elementary schools participated in a three-day arithmetic conference.

Fairbanks was discontinued as a school, and students were transferred to A. L. Smith school in Sterlington.

Death claimed Miss Gladys Gregg, visiting teacher since that program was inaugurated in 1945.

Miss Josephine McCranie, formerly guidance counselor at OPHS, was named new visiting teacher.

Dr. Lake C. Oxford resigned from his post of West Monroe Junior High school to become registrar at Northeast College.

Gene Hardin took over the junior high's principal post, and C. O. Wilson moved into Hardin's former position as Millsaps elementary school principal.

Johnny Wilson resigned from Union Baptist elementary school, where he had been principal, to accept a high school principal's post in Winn Parish. Donald C. Wade was promoted to be Union Baptist principal.

The toughest problem for both parish and city schools was balancing the budget, after the state legislature slashed funds.

Short $180,000 of anticipated revenues, the parish "cut everything to the bone."

"We eliminated everything except what was absolutely essential. We cut out some physical things we really need, and items in the library program," said Ward.

Expenditures for some scientific equipment and transportation also was lopped off.

"We're cutting every corner we can to stay within the budget of $4,452,129.26," Ward pointed out.

Officials expect that a balance of $4,251.42 will be left when this school year is over. Not much of a surplus if insufficient funds are next year's problem too.

Both parish and city systems were badly hurt when the money for fast growing parishes was eliminated.

Achievements in the Monroe city system during 1960 included an orchestra at Neville for the first time.

Youngsters who had begun their study of music in the elementary grades have reached the high school level, and provide the orchestra.

In addition, the school system's Monroe Youth Orchestra recently performed the first of three concerts in the Young Concertgoers series. It was attended by 1,000 children.

The orchestra has been invited to Ashville, N. C. to participate in a festival next spring, as the only youth group with both string instruments and focals.

Swanson Cites Expansion Needs At Institution

By SARAH LITTLE
Staff Writer

Though Louisiana Training Institute for boys has been undergoing a series of construction projects, there is still need for improvements, Superintendent A. L. (Red) Swanson says.

He pointed out that the 683 acres of land, which lies south of Monroe just outside the city limits, still needs more buildings to take care of the many boys from all over the state which it serves.

"Our boys range from 7 to 19," Swanson said, and right now "we have some 350 on the place."

He added that all of the boys at the training institute are not necessarily delinquents or one who have been mixed up in some kind of trouble, but some of them are just from neglected homes.

We have just completed construction of a new dormitory, two homes for staff members, a Catholic chapel, storerooms and a new football field equipped with lights. A new running track for the track team will soon be completed around the football field.

But the school still needs two more dormitories and another gymnasium, he said.

Swanson added that an application has been filed by the director of the department of institutes for a $695,000 grant to pay for the needed improvements on the institution, the only one of its kind for boys in the state.

There is a similar institute for girls in Pineville, and also one for Negroes in the state.

Swanson explained that the present plant now includes only nine dormitories, including the recently completed one; a school building with grades one through twelve; an auditorium; a cafeteria; a trades building; maintenance buildings; auto mechanics shop; administration building; two duplexes for staff members and six homes including the two new ones; protestant and catholic chapels; a modern up - to - date dairy; a cannery; and a gymnasium and swimming pool.

He added that there are barns which combine a laying house for the hens and a broiler house where all the hens are raised, and barns for cattle.

Swanson noted that the budget for this past year hit somewhere around $690,000.

Pointing out that it costs approximately $4 per day per boy to run the school, he said that it provides everything for the boys from toilet articles to psychiatric treatment.

The training school for boys produces all of its milk, eggs, chickens, pork and better than half of its beef through efforts of the boys themselves, he stressed. The gardens also produce a lot of the fresh vegetables and canned foods for the cafeteria.

The boys are required to go to chapel services on Sunday morning, he said, but Sunday night and Wednesday night services are on a voluntary basis.

Swanson explained that they felt the boys should attend the services at least on Sunday morning, remarking that "if some of them had been made to go before now, they might not be here today."

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCIS FLANDERS

It is our sincere wish that the people of Ouachita Parish have a very happy New Year and that they continue to take advantage of the resources of the Ouachita Parish Public Library as they have in the past year. The book collection is growing constantly. More than 7,000 new books were added to the Library collection during 1960 and we hope to exceed this during the coming year.

In the past week a number of interesting new books were added to the collection. A book which everyone who is worried about the international situation should read is "American might and Soviet myth" by Jameson G. Compaigne. The author states that America is suffering from a failure of nerve and that we are dupes of irrational fear. Never in history have two more unequal major powers faced one another than America and the Soviet Union, the free world and the communist countries. He shows that Russian accomplishments and claims of accomplishment compose a brilliant explicited facade which hides from the West a backward and primitive country, far more terrified of atomic war than we are. He states that America suffers from chronic underestimation of her own vitality. He calls for a reassessment of our potential and a firm approach to the international situation. This is a positive book and a hopeful book. In an age whose critics cry doom on every side, it is a much needed application of commonsense.

Several years ago the world was startled by the disappearance of Commander Crabb, an underwater secret service agent of Great Britain. J. Brenard Hutton has written about this interesting tale in a book which he calls "Frogman" Spy." It is a book which you will want to read and enjoy.

One of the most sordid episcodes of American History was the reign of the Al Capone Gang in Chicago during the prohibition period. The gang was broken by a group of incorruptible men known as the "Untouchables." Their story has been recorded by their leader, Eliot Ness and is appearing on a current T.V. series. The library has recently added 5 copies of this book, one for each branch, so everyone may be able to read just what they did for the country.

The field of guidance is a most important one and the library has just added two new books in this field. One is "Principles and Techniques of Guidance" by David W. Lefever and the other is "Group Work in Education" by Ruth May Strange. Engineers will be most interested in a book by Alfred Jensen called "Applied Engineering Mechanics." This is a very fine book and one that should be most valuable.

A different and interesting book is concerned with the seal industry and is called "The Sea Bears." It was written by Fredericka Martin and contains all sorts of information about these interesting animals, their habits, habitat and how to capture them. Another interesting cookbook has been added to the library collection. It is "The Sunset Cookbook," published by the Sunset Magazine. It has recipes which are appropriate to the Southwest and many of them have gourmet touch.

Boris de Rachewiltz is the author of a very lovely and scholarly new book, "An Introduction to Egyptian art." It is profusley illustrated with beautiful color plates and contains interesting and valuable information. A new generation has almost grown up since World War II and they are vitally interested in reading books about war heroes and adventures. All of the books which were published during that period are in demand by High School and College Students and new ones are appearing regularly. The latest one was written by Wilbur H. Morrison and had for it's title "Hellbirds' 'the story of the B-29's in combat."

Trumbill Higgins is the author of "Korea and the fall of MacArthur" a book which sheds new light on the Korean conflict and on the events which led to the recall of General MacArthur. One of the High School classes has been reading biographies of people who lived during the colonial period of American history. It has been hard for us to find enough books for them, because there are just not too many in existence. This week we added two which will be valuable next fall. One is by George Dangerfield. It is "Chancellor Robert R. Livingston of New York, 1746-1813. The other is "The indomitable John Scott; Citizen of Long Island, 1632-1704.

Have you made all your New Year's resolutions. If not, make one to read more during the coming year and take advantage of the resources of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

DEATH, DISCOVERY

News Chronology In Area For 1960

By EZRA ADAMS
State Editor

Newspaper files are interesting, especially when there are stories and events you know about.

Gleaned from the page one stories during 1960, first year of a new decade, are the following area items, chronologically:

Jan. 4—Jesse Bland, 67, Winnfield, burned to death in a fire that swept through his frame home.

Jan. 8—Jackson Parish hears of Federal approval of a $360,000 grant to match locally voted funds to build a 37-bed hospital.

Jan. 9—Record area vote turnout for election of governor, local and area officials in Democratic primary.

Jan. 11—Mrs. Olive Long Wright, 97, aunt of Earl K. Long, and thought to be one of the oldest twins living in the United States, died on Jan. 10.

Jan. 13—British scientists and technicians visit Winnfield to help the Atomic Energy Commission on project to determine if nuclear blasts can be concealed underground without detection.

Jan. 16—A. M. Moore, Monroe trapper, finds wreckage of single engine airplane in Lafourche Swamp eight miles from Monroe south of Highway 80. No trace found of owner, pilot, etc.

Jan. 23 — Cold weather conditions set stage for death of 81-year-old housewife near Jonesboro. She was badly burned after her dress caught fire from a gas heater. Identified as Mrs. Edith Gresham Nash.

Jan. 31—Shields Gardner Lawson, 51, bogus check artist nabbed in Las Vegas, Nev., on information furnished by Ouachita Parish authorities.

Feb. 13—John W. Griffin of the U. S. Park Service looks into possibility of establishing a national park at Povery Point on Bayou Macon in West Carroll Parish. He said the area looked "impressive" and that inspection reports are being made on areas across the nation.

Feb. 13—The first major snow hit the area since 1951. An estimated depth up to eight inches fell on Feb. 12, blanketing the area and leaving highway travel hazardous.

Feb. 29—Fire destroys elementary school, gymnasium at Bernice The school housed about 120 students. Total loss estimated at $250,000. Churches used for classes.

Mar. 3—North Louisiana shudders in wake of ice storm that caused extensive damage and power blackouts throughout the area. Timber losses were reported heavy.

Mar. 23—Three Louisiana Tech students "borrow" railroad work car from behind West Monroe Illinois Central station on a Monday night to return to Ruston. They wrecked the car three miles from Ruston and one was hospitalized; the other two were jailed immediately. The injured received a broken nose, broken hand and arm.

April 9—The state Civil Defense organization stages a "disaster" at Ruston. A liquified petroleum truck was supposed to have collided with an Army truck, and 150 Tech students participated as wreck victims. The emergency hospital was set up in the Tech gymnasium.

May 8—A Sunday, and many persons from the area join flotillas on the Ouachita River to converge with others around the state to participate in the Tuesday noon inauguration ceremonies of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, the state's forty-first governor.

June 24—Drought conditions reported in area are alleviated somewhat by rain, Cotton had begun to wilt and one county agent reported "We need rain badly." Selman Field weathermen recorded a 1.25 inch rain.

July 4—Judith Ann Coday, of Baton Rouge, chosen "Miss Louisian" in annual pageant at Lake Providence. The green - eyed blonde won the title over 24 contestants.

July 5—James Gwin arrested in New Orleans after a weekend spending spree, for November, 1959 robbery of the Oak Ridge Bank of $13,050. James was free on bond after a mistrial had been declared in April when he and his brother Otis were in court for the robbery. The two lived near Holly Ridge. They were sentenced later, on Oct. 6, with James getting 20 years and Otis 10 years in the state prison.

July 9—Billie Sue Riordan, of Bernice, is chosen Peach Queen at Ruston in finals of the annual Peach Festival. Chosen as the queen's junior partner, Miss Princess Peach, was Denise Jones.

July 15—The body of N. D. Crooks, 38, of Jena is recovered from Larto Lake where he drowned after his boat nosed over. Others aboard were able to swim ashore.

July 25—J. M. Weems, 100 years old, is reported missing from his home near Holly Ridge. Authorities begin investigation by questioning a number of persons but found nothing of his whereabouts.

Aug. 1—An escapee from Louisiana Training Institute, Monroe is killed when the stolen car he was driving left the road in a curve near Alexandria and smashed up. He was identified as Mack Molaison, 15, of New Orleans, who escaped with Edgar Daljour, 16, also of New Orleans. Officials said the car must have been doing over 100 miles per hour. The boys stole the car after their 7:15 p.m. escape and wrecked it early the next morning.

Oct. 30—Charles A. Hazen, 60, executive editor of the Shreveport Times, dies after a lengthy illness. He was associated with the Times for 28 years, and was one of the South's best known newsmen.

Nov.8— Area qualified voters trek to the polls from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. to help elect the next president and vice president of the United States. Losing candidate Richard M. Nixon, took top spot in northeast Louisiana's balloting, with unpledged States Rights electors second and John F. Kennedy third.

Nov. 22—Citizens from all over the northeast Louisiana area come in large groups to Neville High School auditorium in Monroe for a mass meeting to show their support of the governor and Legislature in their hassle with the Federal government over state sovereignty.

SEVERAL PROJECTS

Monroe's Street Program Hits Peak During 1960

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Monroe's biggest street improvement program in the city's history took place during 1960, with $887,869.01 spent on 21.04 miles of new construction, overlay of old Class one streets and $98,934.75 on the Plum Street underpass contract.

In addition, the city is contributing $500,000 from the 1958 bond issue as their part in financing the underpass to be built at South Second Street, under the Missouri - Pacific tracks.

Fifty - two streets had been improved, or were under contract for improvement as the year ended.

Outstanding project was the widening of DeSiart Street, from Sixth Street downtown to the intersection with Powell Avenue, Louisville Avenue and U. S. Highway 165 — a $386,056.64 job done in three contracts.

The final section of DeSiard was completely reopened to traffic on Dec. 11.

Widening of Forsythe Avenue from North Sixth Street to North 18th Street was completed on July 12 at a cost of $170,182.64.

South and North Grand Street also was a major project, to the tune of $46,305.

The street was widened from Telemaque Street to Jefferson, to accommodate heavy traffic enroute to or leaving the proposed Interstate 20 highway bridge.

Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez, the force behind the outstanding improvement work, gives credit for what's been accomplished to, "the progressive spirit of the property owners, who made it possible."

"The entire City Council has supported the whole street program wholeheartedly," the Commissioner pointed out.

"A great deal of inconvenience has been visited on some of the people, especially in the rebuilding of Forsythe, DeSiard and Grand Streets. This is natural for that sort of improvement," he stated.

The city council approved the Plum Street underpass contract on Dec. 16.

Monroe's share of its costs, in addition to the $98,934.73 contract, is five and one - half of the contract cost for engineers fees, $1200 soil testing and $8,000 land acquisition, plus cost to the utilities commission for relocating electricity and water lines.

A Missouri - Pacific bridge crew will start work on their part of the underpass project about Feb. 1. Before they are completely finished, the city will start on its share of the work.

The railroad won't be able to determine its part of the cost until it completes work.

Under the contract, the underpass is due for completion 150 days after it was signed, or about August first.

"It will be ready in time for school opening," Rodriguez points out.

Looking to the future, he visualized the major network of streets in Monroe, after completion of Interstate Highway 20, its bridge, the new U.S. Highway 165 bypass, plus overpasses over railroad crossings and over highways.

Overlay on all class one streets is due for completion in 1963.

"None of us feel satisfied. There is still a great deal to be done yet, a lot of negotiations with property owners, and hard work on the part of the city engineer's office and the Commission Council," he pointed out.

City engineer Tom Keller and his department came in for praise as "very efficient."

"Our workload has been quite heavy, so in addition to the city engineer, we have used consulting engineer firms," the commissioner said.

A total of 3.5 miles of street work (on DeSiard, Forsythe from 6th to 18th and Grand) was financed partly by the 1958 bond issue of $1,830,000 for street improvements and grade separations. Owners of abutting property paid $2.50 per front foot assessment, a very small part of the cost.

Asphalt overlay was placed on 6.7 miles of 14 class one streets. Owners of abutting property paid 75 cents per front foot, approximately one third of the cost.

New construction resulted in 8.12 additional miles of smooth driving, over seven streets, in addition to the three major bond issue streets. These streets included what had been gravel roads, newly opened streets, new subdivisions and streets built with "blade mix blacktop."

Legal process has started, but bids have not been opened yet, on 1.08 miles of street. In the very near future, legal process will be started on five miles of additional streets.

For newly constructed streets, where property owners had never been assessed anything for street improvement in the past, the total cost of each project was paid by the property owners.

Adjacent property owners also paid $4600 for placing six inches of reinforced cement on an alley which runs between North Fourth and Fifth Streets, parallel to Pine Street.

The city avoided having any base or asphalt failures on any streets in 1960, since a testing laboratory's services were utilized for all street construction.

Overlay was placed on 14 streets:

North Third, from DeSiard to Forsythe Avenue; N. Sixth from DeSiard to Forsythe; Hudson Lane from Riverside Drive to N. Sixth; Washington from Walnut to N. Ninth; Walnut from De-DeSiard to Jefferson and west to North Grand; N. Second from DeSiard to Washington; Harrison from St. John to Hall; Wood from S. Grand to Seventh; Depot from Sixth to Seventh; Sixth from DeSiard to Oak; Oak from S. Grand to Illinois Central railroad tracks; Fifth from Layton to Ouachita Avenue; St. John from Morris Drive to Orange; Hall from DeSiard to Oak.

Streets completed in 1960 are:

DeSiard, from Sixth to the Sterlington Road intersection; Forsythe Avenue from N. Sixth to North 18; S. Grand from DeSiard to Telemaque; N. Grand from Jefferson to DeSiard; Filhiol from DeSiard to Bayou DeSiard; Bres from N. Eight to N. Ninth; Atkinson from Winnsboro Road to Thomas; Pearl from Thomas to Mouton; Mouton from Pearl to Jackson; Benton from S. Grand to Jackson; Commerce from DeSiard to Stanley.

Eleven streets under construction as of Dec. 1, 1960 are:

North Ninth from Arkansas to Breard; McGuire from DeSiard to Bayou DeSiard; Blanks from S. College to Sherrouse; Franklin from Breard to Betin; D'Arbonne from DeSiard to Grammont; Plum from S. Eighth to South 10th; Pecan from S. Eighth to South 10th; Beauregard from S. Eighth to South 10th; McGee from Wilson to S. Sixth; Ivy from S. Grand to 321 feet west; Jack McEnery from Gordon to Lee.

Streets under contract as of Dec. 1, although construction had not started yet, are:

Stuart from Pargoud Blvd. to Kenmore; K from N. Fourth to North 10th; Auburn from N. Sixth to N. Eighth; Hudson from N. Sixth to N. Eighth; Stanley from DeSiard to St. Charles; St. Charles from Stanley to Louisville; Marx from Winnsboro Road to Thomas.

Legal process had been initiated for improvements of the following nine streets, as of Dec. 1, 1960:

Island Dr. from Marquette to Sharon; Girod from S. Eighth to South 12th; S. Ninth from Girod to its end at Ouachita Cotton Mill's second addition; South 10th from Girod to Ouachita Cotton Mill's second addition; Glenmar from North 18th to North 19th; Buie from Loop Road north as dedicated in Buie addition plat; North 11th from Hilton to K; K from North 11 to North 10th; Breard from Louisville southwest 390 feet to railroad spur.

TO BE DEVELOPED

Tourism Seen As Area's Most Notable Attraction

By JIMMY HATTEN
Staff Writer

The Monroe - West Monroe metropolitan area and outlying Ouachita Parish's prolific sports country pumped valuable dollars into the lifestream of the region's economy during 1960.

And signs point to bigger and better things during the coming year and the years ahead.

This is the opinion of spokesmen in various fields related to conventions and tourism, its intertwining and related components.

It's hard to read a tourism gauge, but it may well be a million dollar industry that leaders of the area will want to watch more closely in order to act more forcefully.

Conventions, that most desirable of attraction plums for a city's tourism economy, may have, according to the Monroe Chamber of Commerce's estimate, brought in from between $375,000 - $½ million dollars for the past year alone.

There were about 30 conventions and conferences held in Monroe alone, with average attendance approximately 200.

MORE IN 1961

And, Monroe is looking forward to 1961 conventions, having already booked 15. Even the 1962 booking has begun.

Another instance of tourist potential may be drawn from traffic figures.

For instance, 8 - million vehicles poured in and out of the Twin Cities during the past year, this figure being based on the Highway Department's traffic count of 21,940 vehicles in a 24-hour period for the new bridge.

It is in the traffic flow, adds a spokesman of the petroleum industry, that "one of the greatest things" happening to this area is in the making.

This is the development of Interstate 20 — the new superhighway spanning the nation.

Already upwards of perhaps 80 per cent of the traffic flow through the Twin Cities comes from an east - west direction, following U. S. Highway 80.

With the coming of Interstate 20, running through the Twin Cities, light industrial centers will spring up, predicts this spokesman.

WILDLIFE

Another facet of the tourist trade is the bountiful, and sometimes underrated hunting and fishing mecca of Ouachita.

But, at the rate it's developing, this phase of tourism may well be the heaviest drawing card of them all.

Within a 30 - mile radius of the Twin Cities lie 30-40 lakes and rivers. Says one man, long an avid sportsman and backer of wildlife projects, "I'd rather live in Ouachita Parish than anywhere in Louisiana because of the advantages it offers in hunting and fishing."

This also, is a field that is forging forcefully ahead. The purchase of the Lafourche Swamp area is in the works.

With it would come 15,000 acres of land for fishing, and hunting.

Black Bayou, five miles north of Monroe, affords one of the best bass fishing spots in the south, and draws sportsmen from as far away as St. Louis and Kansas City.

Wham Brake is rated as one of the best habitats around, and some of the biggest deer kills in the state were made during the year on the outskirts of Ouachita. In the next two years, Ouachita may be opened to deer hunting, and will assuredly bring in many more sportsmen.

The scenic drawing value of the Twin Cities and Ouachita area cannot be overlooked when it comes to estimating drawing attractions on tourists.

Boasting one of the most beautiful rivers in the United States, the Ouachita provides a boating pleasure place, and since projects underway to clean up pollution of the river are in the process, may be counted on in the future to figure even more prominently in the scheme of things.

CLUB COUNCIL

With the organization of the Twin City Council, garden and flower club activities may be expected during the coming year to strengthen and act with renewed vigor.

There are around 34 garden clubs in Monroe alone and several tours have been provided by local residents for visitors from other cities.

Merchandizing provides traffic in and out of the Twin cities, thus relating itself to tourism in that by drawing the people in to buy it also opens avenues to other aspects of the field.

If beauty of the area is a tourist - drawer, so also then would be unique and modern merchandize houses; and this can be found here.

The Monroe gas fields may be considered in this light also, with one of the biggest compressor stations in the world located at Sterlington. More pipelines converge here than any other point in the United States.

Also adding its share are the cultural activities of the cities, and this, too, is growing.

Sports events also helped to bring in tourists during the past year, these including bowling tournaments, golf tourneys and both high school and college games of various kinds.

The Ouachita area does have its historical side also, but for the most part there are few big attractions that would tempt tourists from other sections of the country

For that reason, it is going to be in merchandizing, beauty, the bountifulness of the area as given by nature that will have to be tapped in the coming years if the Twin Cities and Ouachita Parish is to capture its share of the tourist's dollar.

This, then, leaves the field virtually open for enterprizing, forceful idea men and leaders.

Freedom In Movies

Biblical Solomon, who offered to cut a child in two, so that each of two women who claimed to be the mother might have half, might find it difficult to arbitrate the controversy between Hollywood and various elements of the country which seek to keep the movie industry clean.

This is an endless dispute, sometimes in abeyance, never settled, and, at the moment, at one of its peaks of intensity.

Emotions run deep on both sides. Churchmen and many church people, as well as others who espouse decency, are indignant at the moral content of films and many of them can never condone the profanity which has invaded movies only in recent years.

Hollywood is aggrieved because, it contends, that of all entertainment and communications media, it is so singly and unvaryingly the target of criticism. There is no Legion of Decency oath, it says, that aims at novels or plays or television. Accordingly, Hollywood resents being singled out as society's most dangerous producer of temptation.

A less emotionally upset Hollywood, however, might find the always admonishing voices flattering in a way, suggesting as it does the immense power of the movie medium.

Always remembering Lord Acton's axiom about the corruptive influence of power, it might take serious inventory of its tastes by making an honest assessment of whether movies do project an excess of sex, violence and licentiousness for boxoffice purposes.

Sponsors of clean movies certainly are not without evidence to support their attacks on Hollywood's tastes and standards. To face a historic truth, neither are the proponents of clean movies necessarily immune to the temptation to strike out at an old, yet possibly redeemable, whipping boy.

Hollywood is right in its contention that the movies should have as much freedom of expression as is granted to television, books, magazines, newspapers and other media but its position that this gives the movies a license for obscenity is ill-founded. Instead, public sentiment should be used to clean out all kinds of obscenity in public media.

Television and radio stations are under supervision of the federal communications commission. This commission lends an ear to the public in determining what shall be allowed to go on the air. Generally the television programs may about conform to movies in the pictures they are allowed to show, although they seem to be kept a little cleaner.

In the printed word, books rate as the greatest purveyors of obscenity. In the matter of pictures in print, lewd magazines are the worst. Some high class magazines and the newspapers are about the cleanest.

Movies may have some truth in the argument that sex, violence and licentiousness help to draw the patrons. There is no truth in whatever claim they may make that the use of profane words acts as a drawing power. In reality, so-called "cuss" words, instead of adding strength to any performance, not only detract from its force but are repugnant to a large percentage of the audience, even though some of the people may use such words themselves. Any actor who has to use profanity to put over his performance, is not an actor. Some of the finest actors in the last two years have spoiled good performances by throwing in profane words.

The argument in favor of profanity is that people in real life use profanity and that pictures in which it is used are more true to life. If actors could realize how profanity on the screen lowers them in the opinion of their viewers they would refrain from its use. A few actors are so profane in real life that they reveal the fact in movie portrayals.

It is only in the last few years that profanity has been used on the screen. Hollywood should prohibit its use for the sake of improving its reputation.

There is always the question of whether any individual or media possesses freedom to such a great extent that he has the legal right to be degrading in a public performance. Even if he has such a legal right, the public should not permit him to use and abuse that right.

Filibuster Battle

Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican conservative leader from Arizona, plans to join the South in the forthcoming battle over the filibuster rule.

The conservatives see in the right to filibuster a means of holding off any dangerous spendthrift programs the new administration might try to put into effect during its proposed '100 days."

It is for this reason, plus the fact that no urgent emergency exists, that President-elect Kennedy's first days in the White House will not be as dramatic as those of President Franklin Roosevelt.

"The country is with the President and the country runs Congress," was the statement of House Speaker Rainey before the opening of the second session of the 73rd Congress in 1934. It is a reflection of a mood which had hung on long past the "100 days."

Of course, there are many supporters of the new administration who want a repeat performance of 1933-34 mood. Senator Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico has taken the lead in crusading for vote cloture in order to prevent filibusters.

And ultra-liberal Senator Hubert Humphrey said on December 15 that he hoped the time consumed by debate on changing the Senate's rules could be limited to 48 hours.

Apparently, both Anderson and Humphrey forsee debates and they intend to keep them as short as possible. They are joined in their sentiments by Senators Paul Douglas of Illinois and Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania.

In the House, however, the Kennedy program faces tougher progress than in the Senate. Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck, backed up by more than a score of seats, is promising to maintain the coalition with conservative Southern Democrats. This will tie in favorably with Senator Goldwater's efforts in the Senate.

Roosevelt's "100 days" was a period during which the President was armed with extraordinary powers for combatting depression and promoting recovery. Many had not been read by the senators and representatives who had given them blanket aproval.

President - elect Kennedy mentioned he also would like to open his tenure of office with a sweeping program called a "new frontier" during the campaign.

In voicing his opposition, Senator Goldwater said:

". . . I feel I have both a moral obligation and a public duty to resist the efforts of the Democratic Administration to impose their dangerous spendthrift programs on the electorate, the majority of which has rejected them."

The Arizona senator was referring to the slim plurality by which the President - elect went into office—certainly not enough to merit a "mandate" for the new frontier.

One Of Greatest Errors Of Modern Times Was Roosevelt's Idea Of Taming His 'Friend' Joseph Stalin

The year, 1961, brings in a new President, with some new faces in his administration and some very old ones. Some of the new faces give hope of a rationalization of the structure and policy of government; some of the old faces are not a little frightening because they were among the authors of the errors which have brought upon us many of our present difficulties. But men do grow older and they do mature and those who blundered may have learned that doctrinaire assumptions are neither facts nor policies.

One of the principal assumptions of Franklin D. Roosevelt, based upon nothing more realistic than "hunch," was that he, of all men, could win Stalin over to his conception of democracy and Christian virtue. However, Stalin was a Marxist and was unaffected by Roosevelt's blandishments any more than Khrushchev was influenced by the spirit of Camp David or Tito by the vast extravagances which we showered upon him. Whether we shall have to go through another experiment at the conversion of Khrushchev by those who are to have a voice in the formulation of policy during the Kennedy administration, I cannot, of course, know. Some of those appointed might try their hand at it, particularly those who had been associated with the Roosevelt or Truman administrations who are being resurrected from the oblivion which was their meet. However, some of them may redeem themselves, for there is nothing like a sinner who is given a second chance.

What is necessary is not so much a reformulation of policy as a total reorganizaton of the personnel of the State Department, the searching out of blackmailable homosexuals in both the State Department and the Pentagon and their elimination at any cost, and the exposure of characters such as William Arthur Montenegro, by whatever name he goes.

And this brings me to the question of what will be done about William Arthur Montenegro, by whatever name he goes in the State Department. This man used the power of the government of the United States which he was able to exercise to make it possible for Fidel Castro to turn Cuba into a Soviet satellite just as the little I.P.R. experts in the various parts of the government were able in the Truman administration to make it possible for those "agrarian reformers," the Chinese Communists, to take over the whole of China and lower the status and prestige of the United States in the world. This country does not need to go through another period of wild-eyed world-changers.

I have been told that the Eastland Committee has been investigating William Arthur Montenegro, by whatever name he goes, for many months and that this committee possesses more information concerning him and his activities than I possess, although I doubt that, for I have the entire story. However, if the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee possesses such data, what is it waiting for? Is it waiting for the State Department to shift this man to a European country so that he can go behind the Iron Curtain?

The new President will need to face many reorganizations of departments, but none is as important as the restudy of the personnel of the State Department and of other departments which deal with foreign relations. For some reason, these departments have been infiltrated and infested with unsatisfactory personnel. It is not so much a matter of the "Ugly American," as it is that the information which comes to a President is too often inadequate or even incorrect and that the day-by-day actions and decisions which cumulatively become policy before a president can act, are not always beneficial to the United States.

Some presidents have taken the view that because these departments affect international relations, they must be protected from the vulgar eyes of the people through the action of a congressional committee. Thus great mischief can be done by small people. The William Arthur Montenegro case—by whatever name he goes—opens the door wide. No secretary of state and no president can have any excuse for protecting this case from congressional investigation, and this one case will open many windows to shocking conditions.

The new President will have to clean house anyhow and he might as well start in the State Department which is the show-case of the nation and a very sloppy show-case it is, indeed.

Kennedy Advice

Many Telling Him How To Banish Dead Wood In Government

When John F. Kennedy takes over control of the Administration Jan. 20, he will have no lack of advice on how to shake the dead wood out of the Government.

Already, proposals are pouring in on methods of organizing the White House staff and the Cabinet more efficiently. Chances are that Kennedy will adopt some of the suggestions.

Most of the plans for revitalizing the White House organization strike at the problem which Governmental experts have been wrestling with for at least the last eight years: how to enable the President to delegate his staggering work load without insulating himself from vital contact with the cross currents of American life.

The difficulty is inherent in the nature of the Presidency in the midst of the Twentieth Century. The President performs tasks which in most other countries are parceled out to two or three different people.

Thus, he is as busy as the King or Queen of England laying cornerstones, accepting Christmas turkeys and greeting visiting delegations from the remotest reaches of the hinterland. But he also performs the functions of the British prime minister in administering the day-to-day routine of the Government and guiding his legislative programs through the parliamentary body. To top all this, he is required by tradition to lead a social life that would deflate Elsa Maxwell.

Recent presidents have generally been criticized for veering too far one way or another — too much the figurehead of the Ship of State or too much the meddler in the rough-and-tumble world of grass-roots politics.

Of all the suggestions for rearranging the White House-staff system, by far the most comprehensive has been prepared by the National Planning Association, a bipartisan study group specializing in national problems.

The key to the NPA's proposal lies in its attempt to reconcile differences between policy-making for foreign relations and for domestic programs.

In the past, the NPA states, these two activities have tended to go their separate ways within the President's inner circle. The National Security Council for example, is the key agency for long-range planning of America's counter - measures against Russia, but contains no one fully versed in the problems of domestic labor, agriculture or resources development.

To remedy the situation, the NPA would sweep out a large number of semi-independent committees within the White House itself and bring the remaining ones within the Cabinet system to link them more closely with the Cabinet organization.

A single staff officer would be responsible for over-all guiding of the committees which remain, instead of having separate officials guiding each of the committees.

The NPA would also greatly increase the scope of the President's personal scientific staff to keep supplied with expert advice on research needs. The scientific group would serve partly as a funnel to carry new scientific ideas to the President.

The system of reports to the President would be revised to emphasize the degree of progress toward pre-established goals, rather than to present mere lists of facts and figures of things that have been done.

Another proposal would be creation of a special long - range planning staff, whose main job would be to peer into the future and prepare for all foreseeable emergencies.

A proposal which would arouse much more serious opposition would be a plan to make the President's press secretary part of an overall committee that would coordinate information policy for the entire Government.

Theoretically, such an approach to the release of information could go far to prevent a recurrence of the confusion that resulted from conflicting atatements at the time of the U-2 incident last May.

It might also help to iron out a situation in which some departments of the Government guard routine information almost literally with their lives, while in others you can find out just about anything you want to know for asking.

Sales Tax Defeat

To the Editor:

It is gratifying for those of us who are trying to preserve our public education system in New Orleans to learn that the voices of moderation and reason are at last prevailing in Northeast Louisiana. The apparent defeat of the "segregation" sales tax was a real step toward a more realistic policy for our public school system.

I want to compliment the far-sighted efforts of your newspaper, as well as such progressive organizations as the Louisiana Delta Council, in opposing this tax measure. With such effective leadership, I am sure that a policy of moderation in this segregation issue also can prevail in your area.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a New Year of good will, I remain.

I want the world to know how the average person feels about the tax that our Governor wants the Legislature to pass. I want to say that nine out of ten want the tax.

We know it is going to cost a lot of money to pay for private schools. Why wait until the last minute to do something about it.

We know that Kennedy said he would have the entire South integrated in three years and we haven't made any move toward establishing private schools here in Monroe. We are going to have to organize and get ready for it for we know it is coming to Monroe.

I want to thank the Morning World for the stand it is taking to help us in our fight to maintain our way of life.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER
Senator From Arizona

Most of my sophisticated friends regard New Year's resolutions as a self - deluding exercise in futility. No one is really going to stop smoking, or lose 15 pounds, or be more cheerful at the office, or curb their hair-triggered temper before breakfast, or save money, or actually achieve any of the reforms expressed most frequently at the beginning of a new year.

What these cynical friends of mine are saying, in reality, is this — man being human is a frail vessel. Improvement in the nature and habits of man come slowly, almost imperceptibly. Therefore, those who make their noble New Year's resolutions are doomed as inevitable backsliders.

Such obesrvers miss the entire point of New Year's resolutions and reveal themselves as taking a one-sided view of human nature. Man's aspiration is always toward improvement. His performance never quite lives up to what he hopes to do. But the important thing here and the significant thing about New Year's resolutions, is this: an instinctively, almost involuntarily, aspires to a better, stronger, physical, moral, spiritual and social realization.

Applying the cynic's viewpoint to nations, in this disturbed world of 1960, we could expect these observers to report only the gloomy or negative aspect of national societies.

And if nations, like individuals, made New Year's resolutions, the sophisticates would promptly torpedo anyone who wanted to look on the brighter side.

The British, they would say, have an insufferable superior attitude, have lost their grip on world power, and we really mustn't believe that such a nation could keep a resolution which promised improvement. This, of course, ignores Dunkirk and the courage of a people under the bombing of Britain and the nobility of the nation which produced Winston Churchill.

The cynical observers would characterize the French as unstable, greedy and dedicated to pleasure. And such critical comment would ignore Lafayette, the artistry and nobility of a race of people capable of producing perfection in Paris lace or vintage champagne, and exhibiting a joy d' vive difficult for the rest of the world to match.

It would be easy to catalogue the sins and mistakes of Germany, if we were willing to ignore the determined craftsman ship of a race which has produced perhaps the most able technicians and knowledgeable scientists the world has ever known, to say nothing of Goethe and Wagner.

Here in the United States we can be accused of preoccupation with our individual grubby little selfish desires, so clumsy we have been unable to discharge the responsibilities of world leadership which have been thrust upon us.

My point is that both men and nations can be petty and mean, and noble and unselfish, and that New Year's resolutions are important because they express the hope of all men for improvement, for progress, and for a full realization of the potential God has given to each of us.

For this land of ours, I would hope that we might, with one voice, resolve that in this New year, and in the decade ahead, America will remain true to its tradition of liberty with justice, of opportunity without interference, of an uncompromising devotion to what is morally right. In short, that we as citizens of this land resolve to be responsible in our citizenship, that America may be responsible in the world and command the respect such a nation composed of such a people, deserves. How do you stand, sir?

Money Troubles

American People Realize Unfavorable Trade Balance Hurts

In 1960, you and I, the American public, grew up — left behind us the grandiose, childish illusion that "I can do anything I want and I'm so powerful, nothing can hurt me."

Millions of us now realize for the first time that we can't continue spending billions of dollars more each year outside our borders than we take in and remain solvent — and realizing this, we are determined to get our international accounts in order. We now understand such techincal phrases as "adverse balance of payments" and understanding this is a threat to our nation's strength, we are ready to take the steps necessary to turn the balance from adverse to favorable. We now know that even the United States — with its huge gold hoard, great dollar, massive resources — can spend itself into financial trouble and knowing this, we're agreed that we must get out of trouble fast. We now accept the fact that our allies have become first - class trade competitors and accepting this fact, we're set to make ourselves a tougher competitor.

This growing up is, I think, among 1960's most significant developments. It marks a milestone in our growth and while it's hardly a pleasant milestone, growing up often is not pleasant.

The awakening came late in the year and two events above all others forced it with startling abruptness.

The first occurred on a Thursday in late October when newspapers the nation over front-paged a spectacular upsurge in the price of gold in the London market of $5 over our buying price of $35. This rise reflected the bet of speculators that we would have to raise our gold buying price and by so doing, automatically devalue our dollar. It indicated a decision among some cold - blooded financiers that it was safer to hold gold than U.S. dollars. Suddenly millions of us were made aware that many in the world markets were downgrading the reputation and future of our mighty U.S. dollar.

Freedom In Movies

Biblical Solomon, who offered to cut a child in two, so that each of two women who claimed to be the mother might have half, might find it difficult to arbitrate the controversy between Hollywood and various elements of the country which seek to keep the movie industry clean.

This is an endless dispute, sometimes in abeyance, never settled, and, at the moment, at one of its peaks of intensity.

Emotions run deep on both sides. Churchmen and many church people, as well as others who espouse decency, are indignant at the moral content of films and many of them can never condone the profanity which has invaded movies only in recent years.

Hollywood is aggrieved because, it contends, that of all entertainment and communications media, it is so singly and unvaryingly the target of criticism. There is no Legion of Decency oath, it says, that aims at novels or plays or television. Accordingly, Hollywood resents being singled out as society's most dangerous producer of temptation.

A less emotionally upset Hollywood, however, might find the always admonishing voices flattering in a way, suggesting as it does the immense power of the movie medium.

Always remembering Lord Acton's axiom about the corruptive influence of power, it might take serious inventory of its tastes by making an honest assessment of whether movies do project an excess of sex, violence and licentiousness for boxoffice purposes.

Sponsors of clean movies certainly are not without evidence to support their attacks on Hollywood's tastes and standards. To face a historic truth, neither are the proponents of clean movies necessarily immume to the temptation to strike out at an old, yet possibly redeemable, whipping boy.

Hollywood is right in its contention that the movies should have as much freedom of expression as is granted to television, books, magazines, newspapers and other media but its position that this gives the movies a license for obscenity is ill-founded. Instead, public sentiment should be used to clean out all kinds of obscenity in public media.

Television and radio stations are under supervision of the federal communications commission. This commission lends an ear to the public in determining what shall be allowed to go on the air. Generally the television programs may about conform to movies in the pictures they are allowed to show, although they seem to be kept a little cleaner.

In the printed word, books rate as the greatest purveyors of obscenity. In the matter of pictures in print, lewd magazines are the worst. Some high class magazines and the newspapers are about the cleanest.

Movies may have some truth in the argument that sex, violence and licentiousness help to draw the patrons. There is no truth in whatever claim they may make that the use of profane words acts as a drawing power. In reality, so-called "cuss" words, instead of adding strength to any performance, not only detract from its force but are repugnant to a large percentage of the audience, even though some of the people may use such words themselves. Any actor who has to use profanity to put over his performance, is not an actor. Some of the finest actors in the last two years have spoiled good performances by throwing in profane words.

The argument in favor of profanity is that people in real life use profanity and that pictures in which it is used are more true to life. If actors could realize how profanity on the screen lowers them in the opinion of their viewers they would refrain from its use. A few actors are so profane in real life that they reveal the fact in movie portrayals.

It is only in the last few years that profanity has been used on the screen. Hollywood should prohibit its use for the sake of improving its reputation.

There is always the question of whether any individual or media possesses freedom to such a great extent that he has the legal right to be degrading in a public performance. Even if he has such a legal right, the public should not permit him to use and abuse that right.

Filibuster Battle

Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican conservative leader from Arizona, plans to join the South in the forthcoming battle over the filibuster rule.

The conservatives see in the right to filibuster a means of holding off any dangerous spendthrift programs the new administration might try to put into effect during its proposed '100 days."

It is for this reason, plus the fact that no urgent emergency exists, that President-elect Kennedy's first days in the White House will not be as dramatic as those of President Franklin Roosevelt.

"The country is with the President and the country runs Congress," was the statement of House Speaker Rainey before the opening of the second session of the 73rd Congress in 1934. It is a reflection of a mood which had hung on long past the "100 days."

Of course, there are many supporters of the new administration who want a repeat performance of 1933-34 mood. Senator Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico has taken the lead in crusading for vote cloture in order to prevent filibusters.

And ultra-liberal Senator Hubert Humphrey said on December 15 that he hoped the time consumed by debate on changing the Senate's rules could be limited to 48 hours.

Apparently, both Anderson and Humphrey forsee debates and they intend to keep them as short as possible. They are joined in their sentiments by Senators Paul Douglas of Illinois and Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania.

In the House, however, the Kennedy program faces tougher progress than in the Senate. Minority Leader Charles A. This will tie in favorably with Senator Goldwater's efforts in the Senate.

You good people of Monroe had better take time out and look around to see just who you are standing next to.

From what I have read in the Monroe Morning World lately you have a minister, Mr. Ben Oliphant and a gentleman (I use this word gentleman very loosely here) Mr. R. C. White, Jr., who don't think so much of the rabble in New Orleans that protested the integration of their schools.

It will be too late, as the people in New Orleans found out, when your schools are taken over by your own people and handed over to the federal government.

Winnsboro, La

To the Editor:

I think your editorial in the Morning World of December 17th, 1960, entitled, Hypocritical Race Stand, is as true as it can be. If more of our northern friends would read and digest it, I think the South would avoid much criticism that they are now getting.

Best wishes to you.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER
Senator From Arizona

Most of my sophisticated friends regard New Year's resolutions as a self - deluding exercise in futility. No one is really going to stop smoking, or lose 15 pounds, or be more cheerful at the office, or curb their hair-triggered temper before breakfast, or save money, or actually achieve any of the reforms expressed most frequently at the beginning of a new year.

What these cynical friends of mine are saying, in reality, is this — man being human is a frail vessel. Improvement in the nature and habits of man come slowly, almost imperceptibly. Therefore, those who make their noble New Year's resolutions are doomed as inevitable backsliders.

Such obesrvers miss the entire point of New Year's resolutions and reveal themselves as taking a one-sided view of human nature. Man's aspiration is always toward improvement. His performance never quite lives up to what he hopes to do. But the important thing here and the significant thing about New Year's resolutions, is this: an instinctively, almost involuntarily, aspires to a better, stronger, physical, moral, spiritual and social realization.

Applying the cynic's viewpoint to nations, in this disturbed world of 1960, we could expect these observers to report only the gloomy or negative aspect of national societies.

And if nations, like individuals, made New Year's resolutions, the sophisticates would promptly torpedo anyone who wanted to look on the brighter side.

The British, they would say, have an insufferable superior attitude, have lost their grip on world power, and we really mustn't believe that such a nation could keep a resolution which promised improvement. This, of course, ignores Dunkirk and the courage of a people under the bombing of Britain and the nobility of the nation which produced Winston Churchill.

The cynical observers would characterize the French as unstable, greedy and dedicated to pleasure. And such critical comment would ignore Lafayette, the artistry and nobility of a race of people capable of producing perfection in Paris lace or vintage champagne, and exhibiting a joy d' vive difficult for the rest of the world to match.

It would be easy to catalogue the sins and mistakes of Germany, if we were willing to ignore the determined craftsman ship of a race which has produced perhaps the most able technicians and knowledgeable scientists the world has ever known, to say nothing of Goethe and Wagner.

Here in the United States we can be accused of preoccupation with our individual grubby little selfish desires, so clumsy we have been unable to discharge the responsibilities of world leadership which have been thrust upon us.

My point is that both men and nations can be petty and mean, and noble and unselfish, and that New Year's resolutions are important because they express the hope of all men for improvement, for progress, and for a full realization of the potential God has given to each of us.

For this land of ours, I would hope that we might, with one voice, resolve that in this New year, and in the decade ahead, America will remain true to its tradition of liberty with justice, of opportunity without interference, of an uncompromising devotion to what is morally right. In short, that we as citizens of this land resolve to be responsible in our citizenship, that America may be responsible in the world and command the respect such a nation composed of such a people, deserves. How do you stand, sir?

Money Troubles

American People Realize Unfavorable Trade Balance Hurts

In 1960, you and I, the American public, grew up — left behind us the grandiose, childish illusion that "I can do anything I want and I'm so powerful, nothing can hurt me."

Millions of us now realize for the first time that we can't continue spending billions of dollars more each year outside our borders than we take in and remain solvent — and realizing this, we are determined to get our international accounts in order. We now understand such techincal phrases as "adverse balance of payments" and understanding this is a threat to our nation's strength, we are ready to take the steps necessary to turn the balance from adverse to favorable. We now know that even the United States — with its huge gold hoard, great dollar, massive resources — can spend itself into financial trouble and knowing this, we're agreed that we must get out of trouble fast. We now accept the fact that our allies have become first - class trade competitors and accepting this fact, we're set to make ourselves a tougher competitor.

This growing up is, I think, among 1960's most significant developments. It marks a milestone in our growth and while it's hardly a pleasant milestone, growing up often is not pleasant.

The awakening came late in the year and two events above all others forced it with startling abruptness.

The first occurred on a Thursmarket of $5 over our buying price of $35. This rise reflected the bet of speculators that we would have to raise our gold buying price and by so doing, automatically devalue our dollar. It indicated a decision among some cold - blooded financiers that it was safer to hold gold than U.S. dollars. Suddenly millions of us were made aware that many in the world markets were downgrading the reputation and future of our mighty U.S. dollar.

day in late October when newspapers the nation over frontpaged a spectacular upsurge in the price of gold in the London

City Hall Problem

By SARAH LITTLE
Staff Writer

Peeling plaster, rotten woodwork, open electric sockets and naked lightbulbs — this is typical of the offices throughout Monroe's city hall.

Not only do the overcrowded offices include this interior decor, but they also sport hole-pocked ceilings and even in one office a metal cap on the floor where unwary secretaries can get "shocked" electrically. And this most certainly is not "horseplay," one worker stated.

About the only attractive part of the whole 50-year-old building is the west side of the first floor which houses the mayor's offices, the commissioner of streets, and commissioner of finance's offices. And even these rooms do not put Monroe's best foot forward.

MOANED

"It's a shame, with a city this big," to have a city hall in this shape the mayor moaned. But to do anything about it would call for a completely new structure and a bond issue to build it.

W. M. Harper, who has been on the bench as city judge for some 35 years, laughingly cracked that the jail (housed on the second floor) must be pretty bad when prisoners "prefer the penitentiary to the Monroe jail."

Chief of Police James Kelly has his gripes too. With only two small gutters on the roof of a condemned tower, when it rains sometimes the radio equipment is grounded.

This, of course, comes from the fact that the whole second floor and tower is flooded out when a very heavy rain falls, because the two small gutters are inadequate to handle heavy rains.

Kelly explained that the police force has had to build a small shed over the radio equipment and raise the transmitter on blocks because at one time the water - caused shorting burned the transmitter up. Several tubes had to be replaced when water shorted them. This has happened about three times in the past few years, he remarked.

The judge, on a grand tour of the second floor, said he had seen people get wet sitting in his courtroom. But, thanks to a temporary roof put on by jail labor, this no longer happens, "for the time being, anyway," he said. He added that this roof will probably last about one year.

LEAKS

A jaunt through the ceiling over the second floor revealed several five - gallon paint cans strategically placed throughout the network of beams, joists and labyrinth of condemned electrical wiring to catch rainwater and keep it from leaking down into the offices and court room.

A tower that once looked proudly down over the city and held a huge bell that was rung in case of emergencies and town meetings, now sways and creaks in the wind, threatening at any moment to topple.

It is highlighted with rotten stairways, holes in the ceiling and holes big enough for a man to fall through in the floor. It is a favorite roost for pigeons. "We just can't seem to keep those feathered devils out," one of the jailers remarked.

A brief rundown of the City Hall that serves a metropolis of 51,782 persons reveals that it was constructed in 1910 when A. A. Forsythe was mayor.

The first floor contains half of the police department — the chief's office, the radio receiving room, the traffic department and the front office where bookings are made and fines paid.

Also housed on the first floor are the city treasurer's offices and the city tax collections office; the mayor's office, the street commissioner's office, the finance commissioner's office, and two rest rooms. Actually they are in pretty bad shape, since the ceiling fell down in the ladies rest room breaking part of the facilities.

REASON

Reason for the crackup leaking sewerage pipes from the jail overhead causing weakening of the plaster and eventual collapse. Luckily no one was in the room at the time, and so there were no injuries, ladies commented.

Incidentally, this is the only ladies' room in the building other than the one in the jail on the second floor. There are two men's rooms, one on the first floor and one on the second. But they are in as bad a shape as the ladies' room.

Throughout all the offices one finds bare wall sockets, cracked and peeling wall plaster, some of indeterminate color, mazes of wiring, rotting window sills, almost plasterless windows, and makeshift filing facilities, such as shelves built along the walls.

P. A. Poag, the city treasurer, works in a small six by eight foot cubicle while the city tax assessors are boxed into a small cubbyhole where old wiring last summer blazed up in a connection. Here, too, is found a small metal cap on the floor where secretaries who wear today's modern high heel shoe with the small metal caps on the heel can get shocked. "It happened to me," Miss Voyline Cummins said.

PROBLEM

Also housed on this floor is the city councilmen's wing which has been remodeled to look nice. But, here too, we find the problem of lack of storage and proper, attractive filing space.

Along the back wall of the mayor's office and the finance commissioners office are the typical shelves for filing, with no door on them.

In the traffic office of the police department, one sees evidence of leaky plumbing overhead staining the ceiling which, like the ceiling in the ladies' room next door, might fall.

Chief Kelly explained that the sheet rock ceiling on the offices in his department and in the hall that runs the length of the building was installed by prison labor and policemen. It was placed right over the old plaster ceiling.

Finally we have a choice of two sets of rickety looking stairs, the only means visitors have of getting to the second floor where city court is held, the judge's chambers, identification and filing facilities of the police department, detectives' offices, jail, and city planning offices are located.

The court room, as has already been poined out, leaks at times. Besides that, the wasps like to hibernate in the fluorescent lights that were installed, and one often finds himself in danger of being stung.

I, myself, have even had to dodge the little insects. One jailer, Capt. Jack Ogelsbee, said that fly swatters have been carried to the court room to ward off the wasps and court has been interrupted for this operation.

Judge Harper explained that this city hall was built to serve a city one - fourth the size of present-day Monroe.

This is especially evident in the jail, which was built to hold approximately 36 prisoners and now maintains between 96 to 120 a day.

The judge even pointed out that in order to keep papers dry and filing cabineta from rusting, sheets of tar paper have been spread over the cabinets. He added that a double layer of the black tar paper was spread over the ceiling of the juvenile consultant room to keep it and the furnishings dry. This room recently was built with money from the court operating funds.

He also emphasized the lack of an elevator to the second floor where "hundreds" have business each day. Some of our older citizens who are not used to climbing stairs find it difficult to get to the second floor, Harper said.

ALTERNATIVE

But all of this could be changed if the citizens of Monroe realized the need for a new city hall.

The mayor said that the Master Plan set up by the city planner calls for the construction of a new city hall along with separate police facilities.

Preliminary work with architects is being done now through the aid of a federal grant in drawing up long range plan for such structures.

But, to construct a city hall would call for a bond election, the mayor pointed out. He said that the city council has no immediate plans for calling such an election.

But, if Monroe citizens want visitors to see the city as an expanding metropolis, they should always put their best foot forward, and city hall cannot be called our best foot. Every worker in the building, from the mayor down, can cite the need for a new city hall.

THE APPARENTLY sturdy exterior of Monroe City Hall, is in marked contrast to its deteriorating interior structure.

CONDEMNED WIRING forms criss-cross network in egg-shell thin ceiling of city hall.

PEELING, BROKEN plaster on walls and rotten window sills are found throughout all offices.

BIG HOLES in ceiling of room in the tower of city hall.

Trolley Makes Last Ditch Stand

EDITOR's NOTE — if you are looking for bargains in travel tours, be sure to consider the El Paso trolley. For 15 cents you can get a ride into a foreign nation and back. And it takes only half an hour.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Streamlined descendants of the Toonerville trolley are making a last ditch stand here that would do the buffalo and whooping crane proud.

Cars of one of the few surviving trolley systems in the country clang across the Rio Grande into Mexico through an international scene packed with enough intrigue, tradition and color for a Hollywood movie.

Their three-mile route leaves downtown El Paso, cuts across the U.S.-Mexican border, circles through Juarez and back across the Rio Grande in a loop that lies half in the U.S. and half in Mexico.

TWO CULTURES

The passenger finds himself on a half-hour tour of two cultures, full of curious blendings of language, custom and architecture.

It is this cultural potpourri that makes the El Paso-Juarez trolley special. The fare alone is remarkable. Only 7½ cents entitle the passenger to a ride from the United States to Mexico and back. Or the trip can start in Juarez, where the streetcar may be boarded for the fantastically low fare of 15 Mexican centavos—1.2 cents in U.S. money.

Block by block the streetcar ride to Juarez spins a narrative of two nationalities. From downtown El Paso store signs change slowly from English into both English and Spanish. Senoras in black mantillas or shawls board the car in increasing numbers. Sidewalk fruit stores appear. Potted plants, so popular in Mexico, show up in windows.

The change in cultures, slowly begun, is in immediate evidence on the Mexican side of the international bridge. Inspection by Juarez customs officials punctuates the crossing of the Rio Grande, today a bare trickle of dirty water.

SPANISH

All signs are in Spanish. Buildings are painted gay yellows, blues and reds. Lavish homes with grilled iron windows, fences and gates front the business thoroughfare and conceal flower-filled patios within.

Down one side street is the rebuilt Balderas Bull Ring, where the greatest matadors in history have performed and where Pancho Villa once had his headquarters.

At the streetcar turn is the Banco Nacional de Mexico, where several years back a trolley operator pulled up at the sight of a man tossing sacks stuffed with bank notes from a balcony, while compadres below kept all pacified with submachine guns. The ciudadanos of Juarez were proud of that one.

"Better than Chicago," they said.

Down the famous 16th of September Street the line passes a new movie theater, which rivals anything on the El Paso side, a modernistic office building, and the ancient fortress-like walls of the Customs Building, pitted with rifle fire, where Damon Runyon covering the revolution once huddled in a taxi.

ANCIENT MISSION

Ahead is the Guadalupe Mission, 301 years old, and its modern successor, the cathedral. Behind are the railroad tracks where an infuriated Juarez cab driver not long ago fired a pistol at a locomotive blocking his way.

U.S. customs and immigration officials check passengers at the second international bridge, and the trolley is on the home stretch to downtown El Paso.

While the customs check on both bridges appears cursory, it is by no means naive. Return of the full skirt has prompted inspectors to scan passengers carefully for outlines of sewing machines, radios and the like. The sudden ring of an alarm clock or cry of a parrot from the bosom of a maternal figure is uncommon but not unknown.

IN TWIN CITIES

Religious Thought Said Revived During Year '60

By FRANK NOONAN
Staff Writer

A revival in religious thinking is one of several elements which Twin Cities church leaders saw on the brighter side of the past year, a survey reveals.

And there were other promising elements in church affairs, where spiritual gains and losses cannot be measured by statistical comparisons.

Some officials said there was a renewed interest in Bible study. Others pointed to increased attendance, advances in youth participation in church affairs, and construction of new facilities.

Reports on the status of spiritual affairs and church progress varied considerably from different sources.

A considerable number of ministers, however, seemed to share the opinion that a revival of religious thinking and increased Bible study are in progress.

Mrs. Swansea C. Kotz, president of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monroe, gave this view:

"I think the world is more religion conscious than it has been in quite a while. I think people are searching for a peaceful solution to living."

On the matter of the role of youth in church affairs, she said:

"I think the youth of today is very conscious of the fact that they are going to contribute to the world its solution to its problems. There is more interest in reading the Bible and other religious materials.

BROTHERHOOD

"In general there is greater striving to attain brotherhood in the christian world, and I believe there is a greater application of spiritual law in daily life, the 'Love your neighbor as yourself policy.'"

Greater religious strength was seen by Dr. James T. Horton, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Monroe.

"There seem to be more people in church than ever before," he said. "That is a general observation on American church attendance. I think that organized religion is stronger, but whether its a deep spiritual gain, I can't say.

"Our churches have bigger staffs, better facilities, and the outward appearance is very encouraging. I think that people are being exposed to more religious material through newspapers, radio and television, as well as through the churches."

The Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor of the Southside Methodist Church, Monroe, was impressed with the number of persons wanting to take part in church programs and work, gains in Sunday school attendance by the young people, and reading of religious materials.

"I think people are expressing added interest in the Bible and reading more religious books than before, especially those dealing with peace of mind and how to rid ourselves of frustrations," she explained. "More are reading the Bible as a source of comfort and inspiration and to find peace of mind.

"We have had in the last six or eight months the largest groups of youths and children to attend services. People always ask the question, 'Where are we going?' And the only place we can go is for a deeper understanding and love of one another and the brotherhood of man. There is an indication of a general trend back to God. I think the uncertainty of world affairs has something to do with it."

Said Dr. Hugh Bradshaw, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church, West Monroe:

"BACK TO CHURCH"

"More people are coming back to church. I think the times we are in have brought people to think in a way that the basic thing we need is religion. And we're having a revival of religious thinking. There's a lot of nondenominational thinking, but I think the trend is back toward affiliation with a church."

He attributed a sizeable increase in Sunday school attendance to "enlarged facilities, as well as to the loyalty of teachers and pupils."

Dr. Bradshaw added, "We are in planning stage for a permanent educational building to replace temporary buildings which are old residences which we purchased."

Other church leaders gave these views:

Rev. L. A. Brennen, pastor, Church of God (Georgia Street), Monroe:

"In this last year there has been an increase in church activities, visiting the sick, and, perhaps, a little better attendance at some of the services. There was definitely a steady increse in youth activities. I have had some people tell me they were reading their Bibles more than in the past."

Rev. John O. Stewart, minister, First Christian Church of Monroe:

"Definitely our attendance has picked up. We didn't have room to seat the people at one recent service. We have a program on Sunday nights that has been very effective. We have a Bible book of the month, from which all the (night) sermons for the month are taken. We have done that a little over a year."

E. C. McKenzie, minister, Jackson Street Church of Christ, Monroe:

"The attendance and interest in general at this particular church is at its highest peak, and has been throughout 1960. Our young people are active in various phases of church work.

"I have noticed an increased interest in religious and spiritual things, but I don't know what is behind it. The visible attitude of the group indicates they have been reading various religious literature and gotten something from it. But I have made no canvas of the congregation in that regard.

RECORD BROKEN

"So far as this church is concerned attendance records have been broken throughout the year, and contributions have exceeded by far any of those in any previous year in the history of the church."

Rev. E. J. Graves, pastor, College Town Assembly of God Church:

"We have had a pretty nice year. We have been handicapped, since our church is in the path of new Highway 165 bypass. We bought property near the college and started building a new church.

"I believe people are hungry for the truth. More read the Bible. We have had the best year for young people growth in the church."

Rabbi Martin I. Silverman, Temple B'nai Israel, Monroe:

"I have been here since August 1, and I'm pleased with the attendance and participation in church activities. We are in the midst of a building program, and I'm very pleased with the wholehearted participation of all members in this.

"Before the end of May we will have a new temple completed with fine facilities, and a much better location as far as membership is concerned."

Msgr. John C. Marsh, pastor, St. Matthews Catholic Church, Monroe:

"During the past year, we dedicated a church, school and convent, the Church of Jesus the Good Shepherd. It was the opening of a new parish. At St. Matthews we closed our grammar school and turned our school into junior and senior high school. The grammar school was switched to the Good Shepherd School. This improvement was quite a gain for the church in Monroe and for both parishes.

"I would say generally during the past year there has been an increase in church attendance."

He pointed to an increase in building new Catholic churches in residential areas, three of them within the past seven or eight years in the Monroe area.

"Our attendance at St. Matthews is holding up well in spite of the new divisions. Practically the same group of members is attending here, while new ones are coming to those churches."

SALVATION ARMY

Capt. W. E. Grantham Jr., in charge of the Salvation Army in Monroe:

"During the year 1960, The Salvation Army has had an international evangelistic campaign, the slogan of which has been 'For Christ to Witness, and When.' And during the year we have placed special emphasis on this slogan in all phases of our work.

"In the past five or six months we have noticed an increase in our religious work as far as people attending our services are concerned. Bible study has been one emphasis of this campaign and there appears to be an increase in Bible study.

"The Salvation Army holds Sunday School and morning worship, evening youth meeting and Sunday night services, as well as Wednesday weekday prayer meeting. We also have street meetings in reaching the people.

"The Salvation Army goes into some of the rest homes, convalescent homes and charity hospitals with this program, usually with reading materials, tracts and religious material as small tokens. We try to administer to all of man's needs whether they be physical or spiritual."

Rev. E. P. Akin, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, Monroe:

"We're taking on new life. Our people have taken on new interest in witnessing for Christ. There has been a good bit of response along that line.

"We have had an increase in members this past year. Also our finances are on the increase. Our church work is carried on mostly by adults, but we are trying to get a young people's department built up."

H. C. Trull, presiding minister, Jehovah's' Witnesses, West Unit, Kingdom Hall:

"There has been an increase in the activity of the church. Our activity is principally to increase and promote Bible study through house - to - house visitation. We go out in the middle of the week to find people who are interested in Bible study and then cultivate them. There has been a 15 per cent increase in participation in Bible study.

"We have been studying a great deal on the Book of Daniel this year, because it is highly prophetic and we feel that we can see what is coming to pass in this age, coupled with the study of the Book of Revelations."

Rev. L. J. Yeats, pastor, United Pentecostal Church at Selman Field:

"There is a tendency for world events to cause people to check their spiritual conditions, so they will be able to have confidence in their spiritual experience that they should have.

"Young people participation is increasing. We have had a steady growth as far as young people are concerened, more so than the older folks. Our people are studying the scripture to intrepret the signs of the times."

Elder W. T. Hemphill, pastor, Apostolic Church of West Monroe:

"Attendance is right good and rather on the increase. We have had several new additions to the church, five classrooms.

"Young people are interested. There is considerable emphasis on youth training to strengthen the church.

"Especially in our Bible class there seems to be a trend to searching the scripture. There are several factors behind this, I think. One is the unsettled world conditions."

M. Hatcher, branch president, Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter - Day Saints, Mormon, in Monroe:

"We have had fairly good attendance, about 40 per cent of membership attendance. We have a good many people here that are active. We've got 15 or 20 organizations in the church that requires officers and workers.

YOUNG PEOPLE

"Young people participation and attendance are fine. We use the Bible as much as we use any other book. The Bible, Book of Mormon, Doctrine and Covenant, and Pearl of Great Price, those are our main books, and we go to them all of the time, and some of the writing of some of the people that are pretty strong doctrine."

Rev. Arthur Betz, pastor, Trinity Lutheran Church, Monroe:

"As far as our congregation is concerened the growth of this has been excellent and as for worship and the various Bible studies, there has been good participation.

"The Sunday attendance has been more or less normal. I would say at least 90 per cent of our children attend church services. That is one of the things we insist upon."

Rev. Jameson, pastor, Seventh Day Adventist Church of Monroe:

"I think things are about normal. We do follow daily study and family worship in every home, and do all we can to boost attendance and encourage members to bring someone with them to church.

"We give regular mission offerings every week. We are tithers, and our tithing shows a good increase over last year. We have a very active young people's department. They elect their own officers and work with the aid of a senior sponsor.

"Most of the sabbath school students also attend church and we are very pleased that this is true. We built a new church two years ago and have rooms for all departments."

Rev. W. Alan King, vicar, St. Alban's Episcopal Church in Monroe, and St. Patrick's Episcopal Church in West Monroe:

"We recently moved St. Alban's Church to a new site, and at the first of the year will add a new classroom to the building.

"At St. Patrick's, a new church site has been purchased, and a site for a vicarage for the pastor.

"There is fair amount of participation in church activities. People of both churches receive letters from the diocese, national church magazines and newspapers containing inspirational material for spiritual guidance."

Missionaries New Training Setup Slated

A drastically different program of pre - field training and orientation for new missionaries of the Methodist Church and seven other denominations will begin on an experimental basis this month at Stony Point, N. Y.

The new program is the product of almost two years of study and deliberation among eight denominational mission boards regarding a new approach to missionary training, which might meet more adequately the conditions missionaries face in work overseas.

ASSURED

Methodist participation in the new program was assured when the two divisions of the Board of Missions dealing with work overseas approved late in September a comprehensive "basis of agreement" regarding the new plan. The approval by the Woman's Division of Christian Service and the Division of World Missions committed themselves to the Stony Point location and to partial underwriting of an operational fund for the program, starting in January.

Church Slates Recognition Day

The Gordon Avenue Methodist Church of Monroe today will observe Student Recognition Day.

In announcing the event, The Rev. W. M. Allen, pastor, said, "At holiday time college and university students come home. This is the Sunday to let them know how much their church cares. Students will take part in this service."

IN TWIN CITIES

Religious Thought Said Revived During Year '60

By FRANK NOONAN
Staff Writer

A revival in religious thinking is one of several elements which Twin Cities church leaders saw on the brighter side of the past year, a survey reveals.

And there were other promising elements in church affairs, where spiritual gains and losses cannot be measured by statistical comparisons.

Some officials said there was a renewed interest in Bible study. Others pointed to increased attendance, advances in youth participation in church affairs, and construction of new facilities.

Reports on the status of spiritual affairs and church progress varied considerably from different sources.

A considerable number of ministers, however, seemed to share the opinion that a revival of religious thinking and increased Bible study are in progress.

Mrs. Swansea C. Kotz, president of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monroe, gave this view:

"I think the world is more religion conscious than it has been in quite a while. I think people are searching for a peaceful solution to living."

On the matter of the role of youth in church affairs, she said:

"I think the youth of today is very conscious of the fact that they are going to contribute to the world its solution to its problems. There is more interest in reading the Bible and other religious materials.

BROTHERHOOD

"In general there is greater striving to attain brotherhood in the christian world, and I believe there is a greater application of spiritual law in daily life, the 'Love your neighbor as yourself policy.'"

Greater religious strength was seen by Dr. James T. Horton, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Monroe.

"There seem to be more people in church than ever before," he said. "That is a general observation on American church attendance. I think that organized religion is stronger, but whether its a deep spiritual gain, I can't say.

"Our churches have bigger staffs, better facilities, and the outward appearance is very encouraging. I think that people are being exposed to more religious material through newspapers, radio and television, as well as through the churches."

The Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor of the Southside Methodist Church, Monroe, was impressed with the number of persons wanting to take part in church programs and work, gains in Sunday school attendance by the young people, and reading of religious materials.

"I think people are expressing added interest in the Bible and reading more religious books than before, especially those dealing with peace of mind and how to rid ourselves of frustrations," she explained. "More are reading the Bible as a source of comfort and inspiration and to find peace of mind.

"We have had in the last six or eight months the largest groups of youths and children to attend services. People always ask the question, "Where are we going?' And the only place we can go is for a deeper understanding and love of one another and the brotherhood of man. There is an indication of a general trend back to God. I think the uncertainty of world affairs has something to do with it."

Said Dr. Hugh Bradshaw, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church, West Monroe:

"BACK TO CHURCH"

"More people are coming back to church. I think the times we are in have brought people to think in a way that the basic thing we need is religion. And we're having a revival of religious thinking. There's a lot of nondenominational thinking, but I think the trend is back toward affiliation with a church."

He attributed a sizeable increase in Sunday school attendance to "enlarged facilities, as well as to the loyalty of teachers and pupils."

Dr. Bradshaw added, "We are in planning stage for a permanent educational building to replace temporary buildings which are old residences which we purchased."

Other church leaders gave these views:

Rev. L. A. Brennen, pastor, Church of God (Georgia Street), Monroe:

"In this last year there has been an increase in church activities, visiting the sick, and, perhaps, a little better attendance at some of the services. There was definitely a steady increse in youth activities. I have had some people tell me they were reading their Bibles more than in the past."

Rev. John O. Stewart, minister, First Christian Church of Monroe:

"Definitely our attendance has picked up. We didn't have room to seat the people at one recent service. We have a program on Sunday nights that has been very effective. We have a Bible book of the month, from which all the (night) sermons for the month are taken. We have done that a little over a year."

E. C. McKenzie, minister, Jackson Street Church of Christ, Monroe:

"The attendance and interest in general at this particular church is at its highest peak, and has been throughout 1960. Our young people are active in various phases of church work.

"I have noticed an increased interest in religious and spiritual things, but I don't know what is behind it. The visible attitude of the group indicates they have been reading various religious literature and gotten something from it. But I have made no canvas of the congregation in that regard.

RECORD BROKEN

"So far as this church is concerned attendance records have been broken throughout the year, and contributions have exceeded by far any of those in any previous year in the history of the church."

Rev. E. J. Graves, pastor, College Town Assembly of God Church:

"We have had a pretty nice year. We have been handicapped, since our church is in the path of new Highway 165 bypass. We bought property near the college and started building a new church.

"I believe people are hungry for the truth. More read the Bible. We have had the best year for young people growth in the church."

Rabbi Martin I. Silverman, Temple B'nai Israel, Monroe:

"I have been here since August 1, and I'm pleased with the attendance and participation in church activities. We are in the midst of a building program, and I'm very pleased with the wholehearted participation of all members in this.

"Before the end of May we will have a new temple completed with fine facilities, and a much better location as far as membership is concerned."

Msgr. John C. Marsh, pastor, St. Matthews Catholic Church, Monroe:

"During the past year, we dedicated a church, school and convent, the Church of Jesus the Good Shepherd. It was the opening of a new parish. At St. Matthews we closed our grammar school and turned our school into junior and senior high school. The grammar school was switched to the Good Shepherd School. This improvement was quite a gain for the church in Monroe and for both parishes.

"I would say generally during the past year there has been an increase in church attendance."

He pointed to an increase in building new Catholic churches in residential areas, three of them within the past seven or eight years in the Monroe area.

"Our attendance at St. Matthews is holding up well in spite of the new divisions. Practically the same group of members is attending here, while new ones are coming to those churches."

SALVATION ARMY

Capt. W. E. Grantham Jr., in charge of the Salvation Army in Monroe:

"During the year 1960, The Salvation Army has had an international evangelistic campaign, the slogan of which has been 'For Christ to Witness, and When.' And during the year we have placed special emphasis on this slogan in all phases of our work.

"In the past five or six months we have noticed an increase in our religious work as far as people attending our services are concerned. Bible study has been one emphasis of this campaign and there appears to be an increase in Bible study.

"The Salvation Army holds Sunday School and morning worship, evening youth meeting and Sunday night services, as well as Wednesday weekday prayer meeting. We also have street meetings in reaching the people.

"The Salvation Army goes into some of the rest homes, convalescent homes and charity hospitals with this program, usually with reading materials, tracts and religious material as small tokens. We try to administer to all of man's needs whether they be physical or spiritual."

Rev. E. P. Akin, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, Monroe:

"We're taking on new life. Our people have taken on new interest in witnessing for Christ. There has been a good bit of response along that line.

"We have had an increase in members this past year. Also our finances are on the increase. Our church work is carried on mostly by adults, but we are trying to get a young people's department built up."

H. C. Trull, presiding minister, Jehovah's' Witnesses, West Unit, Kingdom Hall:

"There has been an increase in the activity of the church. Our activity is principally to increase and promote Bible study through house - to - house visitation. We go out in the middle of the week to find people who are interested in Bible study and then cultivate them. There has been a 15 per cent increase in participation in Bible study.

"We have been studying a great deal on the Book of Daniel this year, because it is highly prophetic and we feel that we can see what is coming to pass in this age, coupled with the study of the Book of Revelations."

Rev. L. J. Yeats, pastor, United Pentecostal Church at Selman Field:

"There is a tendency for world events to cause people to check their spiritual conditions, so they will be able to have confidence in their spiritual experience that they should have.

"Young people participation is increasing. We have had a steady growth as far as young people are concerned, more so than the older folks. Our people are studying the scripture to intrepret the signs of the times."

Elder W. T. Hemphill, pastor, Apostolic Church of West Monroe:

"Attendance is right good and rather on the increase. We have had several new additions to the church, five classrooms.

"Young people are interested. There is considerable emphasis on youth training to strengthen the church.

"Especially in our Bible class there seems to be a trend to searching the scripture. There are several factors behind this, I think. One is the unsettled world conditions."

M. Hatcher, branch president, Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter - Day Saints, Mormon, in Monroe:

"We have had fairly good attendance, about 40 per cent of membership attendance. We have a good many people here that are active. We've got 15 or 20 organizations in the church that requires officers and workers.

YOUNG PEOPLE

"Young people participation and attendance are fine. We use the Bible as much as we use any other book. The Bible, Book of Mormon, Doctrine and Covenant, and Pearl of Great Price, those are our main books, and we go to them all of the time, and some of the writing of some of the people that are pretty strong doctrine."

Rev. Arthur Betz, pastor, Trinity Lutheran Church, Monroe:

"As far as our congregation is concerned the growth of this has been excellent and as for worship and the various Bible studies, there has been good participation.

"The Sunday attendance has been more or less normal. I would say at least 90 per cent of our children attend church services. That is one of the things we insist upon."

Rev. Jameson, pastor, Seventh Day Adventist Church of Monroe:

"I think things are about normal. We do follow daily study and family worship in every home, and do all we can to boost attendance and encourage members to bring someone with them to church.

"We give regular mission offerings every week. We are tithers, and our tithing shows a good increase over last year. We have a very active young people's department. They elect their own officers and work with the aid of a senior sponsor.

"Most of the sabbath school students also attend church and we are very pleased that this is true. We built a new church two years ago and have rooms for all departments."

Rev. W. Alan King, vicar, St. Alban's Episcopal Church in Monroe, and St. Patrick's Episcopal Church in West Monroe:

"We recently moved St. Alban's Church to a new site, and at the first of the year will add a new classroom to the building.

"At St. Patrick's, a new church site has been purchased, and a site for a vicarage for the pastor.

"There is fair amount of participation in church activities. People of both churches receive letters from the diocese, national church magazines and newspapers containing inspirational material for spiritual guidance."

Missionaries New Training Setup Slated

A drastically different program of pre - field training and orientation for new missionaries of the Methodist Church and seven other denominations will begin on an experimental basis this month at Stony Point, N. Y.

The new program is the product of almost two years of study and deliberation among eight denominational mission boards regarding a new approach to missionary training, which might meet more adequately the conditions missionaries face in work overseas.

ASSURED

Methodist participation in the new program was assured when the two divisions of the Board of Missions dealing with work overseas approved late in September a comprehensive "basis of agreement" regarding the new plan. The approval by the Woman's Division of Christian Service and the Division of World Missions committed themselves to the Stony Point location and to partial underwriting of an operational fund for the program, starting in January.

Church Slates Recognition Day

The Gordon Avenue Methodist Church of Monroe today will observe Student Recognition Day.

In announcing the event, The Rev. W. M. Allen, pastor, said, "At holiday time college and university students come home. This is the Sunday to let them know how much their church cares. Students will take part in this service."

8 New Wells Are Finaled In Local Oil, Gas District

By RICHARD GREENE
World Oil Editor

There were eight new oil and gas wells completed in the Monroe district last week as a result of testing and exploration throughout the area.

In addition to the new wells there were nine new locations of possible oil or gas wells staked in the district. This was reported by Duncan S. Cook, manager of the 14-parish Monroe district of the State Department of Conservation.

There were also six holes plugged and abandoned and as of December 29 there were 25 rigs active in the fields of the district.

Following are the new completions:

CATAHOULA

Boltners Brake Field — Olin Oil and Gas-Ten Delta Co. and Justiss Mears Oil Co.'s Olin-Ten Delta no. 1 in sec. 8-6-5E, completed to pump 65 barrels through a 6¼ in. choke from perforations at 4912-19 ft., gas oil ratio 150:1, tubing pressure 320 lbs., gravity 40.

Mean Lake Field—Grigsby-McCord Joint Acc't. et al's' Catahoula Ld. Co. no. 1 in sec. 6-8-7E, completed to pump 59 barrels through a 10-64 in. choke from perforations at 4379-81 ft., tubing pressure 141 lbs., gas oil ratio 100:1, gravity 39.

LA SALLE

Olla Field — Cities Service Oil Co.'s Trem. Lbr. Co. A-42 in sec. 33-10-2E, completed to pump 80 barrels from perforations at 2320-23 ft., gravity 29.2.

H. L. Hunt's A. L. Taliaferro est B-1 in sec. 26-10-2E, completed to pump 19 barrels from perforations at 2193-98 ft.

UNION

Monroe Field — Olin Gas Trans Corp.'s Fee Gas no. 468 in sec. 19-21-3E, completed to flow 1200 MCF, rock pressure 910 lbs.

Olin Gas Trans Corp.'s Fee Gas no. 472 in sec. 30-21-3E, completed to flow 975 MCF, rock pressure 800 lbs.

United Carbon Co.'s Union Producing Co. C-20 in sec. 6-21-3E, completed to flow 7427 MCF, rock pressure 900 lbs.

United Carbon Co.'s Union Producing Co. C-21 in sec. 6-21-3E, completed to flow 7920 MCF, rock pressure 1040 lbs.

Following are the new locations:

CATAHOULA

Mean Lake Field — Crow Drilling and Producing Co. T. F. Hodge's Cruse - State - Purvis no. 1, located 330 ft. north and west of the SE corner of the SW¼-SW¼ of sec. 31-9-7E.

Tew Lake Field — Bruer and Curran Oil Co. and Teague Jr. et al's Mrs. W. M. Tolar et al no. 1, located in the SE¼-NW¼ of sec. 11-8-6E.

CONCORDIA

Ouinn Bayou Field — Crow Drilling and Producing Co.'s Madison Oil and Development Co. no. 1, located 330 ft. south and west of the NE corner of the NE¼-SW¼ of sec. 16-5-8E.

LINCOLN

Calhoun Field — Tidewater Oil Co.'s Mrs. O. W. Simmons no. 1, located 1100 ft. south and 1000 ft. west of the NE corner of sec. 35-18-1W.

OUACHITA

Monroe Field — Crescent Producing Co.'s Fred Huenefeld no 1, located 330 ft. east and south of the N W corner of SW¼ - SW¼ of sec. 29-18-5E.

TENSAS

Buckhorn Field — Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s M. M. Bloom et al no. 1, located 660 ft. north and 330 ft. east of the SW corner of the SW¼-NW¼ of sec. 16-12-11E

UNION

Monroe Field — Monla Gas. Co.'s J. A. Green no. 1, located 687 ft. south and west of the NE corner of the SE¼ of sec. 25-22-2E

Monla Gas Co.'s F. H. Hester no. 1, located 713 ft. south and 1967 ft. west of the NE corner of the NW¼ of sec. 1-19-2E.

Jack Pryor's Sherman Pilgreen no. 1, located 1602 ft. north and 323 ft. west of the SE corner of sec. 29-22-3E.

These rigs were listed as active:

CATAHOULA

Wildcat Field —R. A. Campbell's Magruder No. 1 in sec. 23-6-6E, drilling.

McGoldrick and Watson Drilling and R. H. Alagood's Mildred H. McGee no. 1 in sec. 13-9-6E, drilling.

Saline Lake Field—Justiss Mears Oil Co.'s Olin Ten Delta B-2 in sec. 28-8-5E, testing.

CONCORDIA

Wildcat Field—O'Brien Drilling Co.'s Stella H. Calhoun no. 1 in sec. 9-6-7E, drilling.

West Bayou Concordia Field—Pan American Petroleum Corp.'s Yakey no. 1 in sec. 42-4-8, testing.

Brabston Field—R. A. Campbell's Pamola Ld. and Development Co. A-1 in sec. 38-4-9E, testing.

Frogmore Field—Crow Drilling and Producing Co.'s Schiele no. 1 in sec. 33-8-8E, drilling.

FRANKLIN

Wildcat Field—Monsanto Chemical Co.'s Leila no. 1 in sec. 5-13-8E, drilling.

C. C. Renfrow Retirement Set

C. C. Renfrow, meter and well attendant for United Gas Pipe Line Company at Sterlington, will retire today after serving with the company for 33 years, according to J. G. Hicks, the United's Monroe District manager.

Renfrow joined United Gas Nov. 1, 1927, at Monroe as a rig helper, and has been serving at Sterlington since 1933. A native of Rowden, Renfrow is a World War I Army veteran.

He and Mrs. Renfrow plan to continue residing at Halls following his retirement.

BANNER YEAR

Ouachita Traffic Increases In '60

By BILL HARDIN
Staff Writer

Progress along the Ouachita River, both in the commercial shipping and the modern nine-foot channel, made tremendous strides in 1960.

During the year a law signed into authorization by President Eisenhower which enabled the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, to convert the river's present six and one-half foot channel into the deeper channel, and will provide for longer locks along the 351-mile route from the mouth of Black River to Camden, Arkansas.

1960 was a banner shipping year for the river. Preliminary estimates place the year's tonnage at 485,000, the largest in the history of the river's navigation and tops the 1959 record of 341,700 tons. The gain is approximately 42 per cent.

The authorization by the president was signed on July 14 and gives an impetus to place the Ouachita river shipping in a competitive position with that along the Mississippi.

The new channel, as proposed in the bill, will be formed by two high-lift locks and dams, thus eliminating the present locks and dams at Jonesville, Columbia, Monroe and Sterlington.

The two Arkansas navigation dams will remain in place, but will be raised approximately three and one-half feet in order to form the 9-foot channel. Each of the Arkansas dams will be equipped with new locks.

The Ouachita River Valley Association, one of the leading organizations along the route promoting the improved transportation facilities, has expressed the opinion that the present six and one-half foot channel with its 268-foot locks has reached its maximum tonnage.

The organization, with headquarters in Camden, Ark., has argued throughout its long history of river improvements that more than a million tons of river commerce could be pushed through the route if the present locks were sufficient to handle the type of barges and boats used on the Intracoastal Canal.

Because much of the river commerce available for shipping is liquid in nature, only large and long barges can economically handle these products.

The present docks, with their 268-foot maximum, along with the shallow channel and sharp curves in the river do not permit the use of standard size liquid barges unless they are loaded light when the river is at pool stage — or deeper than the minimum channel.

The Corps of Engineers in its study of the proposed nine-foot channel for the river economically justified two lengths of docks. One is a 400- foot length with a total project cost of $45,020,000, while the second is 600-foot length at a project cost of $52,450,000. In each case 19 cut-offs were proposed which would shorten the river by approximately 30 miles and eliminate practically all of the sharp bends.

Local shippers contend that anything less than 600-foot locks in the Ouachita River navigation system will continue to make the river a second-class waterway.

The Corps of Engineers was admonished by the Congress to check particularly the lock length. Emphasis was placed on not allowing the approval of structures that would be obsolete by the time construction is finished.

Presently, the plans call for construction of 400-foot locks unless shippers and others interested in the development of the river argue for longer locks.

As planned the new high-lift lock and dam near Columbia will give the Monroe - West Monroe area a pool of deep water that will not only be beneficial to navigation, but will be an inducement to water-using industries to consider the area for plant locations. With the completion of the proposed high-lift dock, the span of the river at Monroe will have a pool stage depth of approximately 20 feet.

A comparison of the preliminary estimates of river-borne traffic in 1960 with the year 1959 cannot be made definitely since the earlier year's records are complete, and this year's tonnage will not be tabulated for some few weeks. However, a review of tonnage during the past ten years, prior to 1960, points to a steady growth.

This is precluded, of course, by the assumption that the 9-foot channel will be a reality within a reasonable time and that the expected normal economic growth and industrial expansion continues. Indications do not point to the contrary.

Within the next ten years, the available river tonnage is expected to be doubled or even trebled over the figures ten, or even five years, ago.

Four years ago a report issued by the University of Arkansas, College of Business Administration Industrial Research Center, issued a report which indicated that the growth should be exceedingly bright during the decade of the 1960s.

The report read in part:

"It is expected that the industrial output of the Ouachita River Basin will increase 60 per cent within the next 15 years. This estimate is made on the assumption that high levels of national prosperity will continue; that major expansions will occur in paper, chemical, aluminum and petroleum industries; and that present economic trends will continue upward. With improved navigation on the Ouachita river, the rate of growth could be even greater."

That report, issued in 1956, has since been backed by the increase of river traffic alone from 193,067 tons that year to 341,700 in 1959. 1960 has already shown an increase of some 42 per cent.

Interest in the proposed 9-foot channel has indicated even greater increases in both traffic and short tons transported in the future.

A brief review of the traffic, all measured in short tons, for the year 1959, the last period available for comparison, is broken down as follows:

The largest single category using the river traffic, alcohols and its derivatives, showed a total of 108,879; with sand, gravel and crushed rock second with 89,721 tons. In third place is the residual fuel oil, 74,686.

Others in order of their importance were: logs and wood products, 65,800; industrial chemicals, 14,901; liquid sulphur, 12,130; industrial machinery and parts, 3,250; lubricating oils and greases, 1,036; iron and steel pipe, 612; and fish and products, 315.

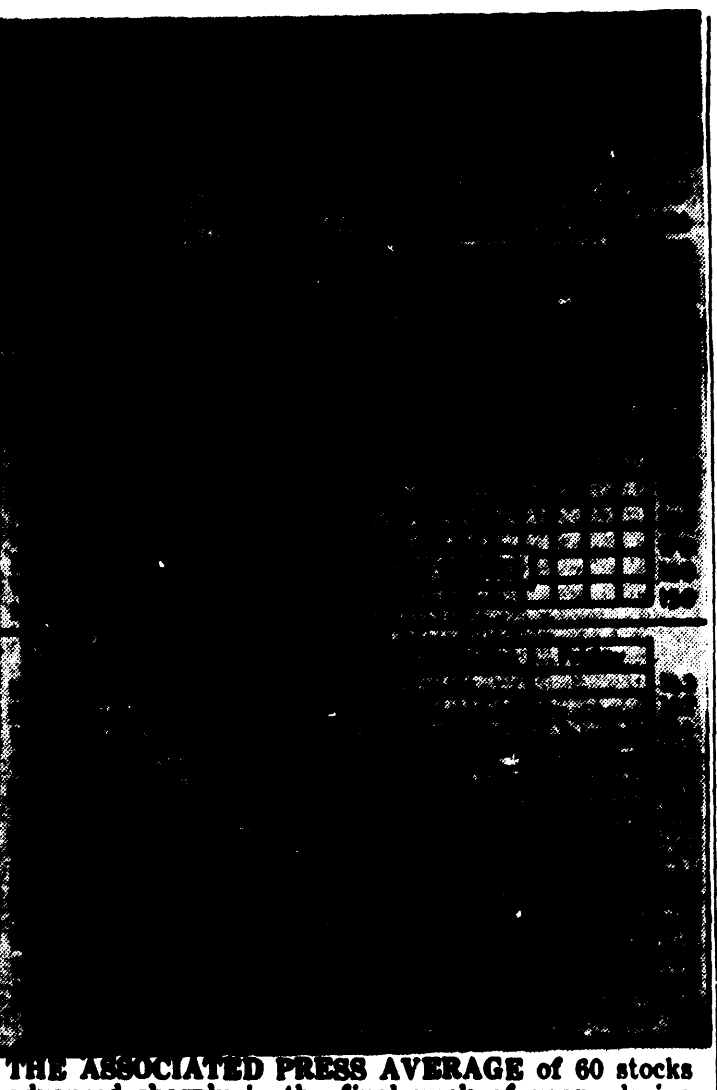
In the category of gravel and sand, by mid December of 1960, 100,000 tons have been shipped on the river, far exceeding the totals for 1959 in that group.

More than 2,000 tons of steel shapes and plates landed at Monroe this year, more than four times the amount for the preceding year. Some of this increase, it must be pointed out, was due to the construction of the bridge for the super highway, I-20, located just south of the old traffic bridge.

The ton-miles registered on the 351-mile route totaled 66,086,957 in 1959.

H. K. Thatcher, executive vice-president of the Ouachita River Valley Association, in commenting on progress in the past year, and generally in the past few years said:

"In addition to the development of the navigation feature of the Ouachita River, the Association is sponsoring the construction of two additional multiple - purpose dams in the upper watershed that will discharge into the Ouachita river approximately one-half billion gallons of water each day of the year when completed and placed in operation. This will be in addition to the water now in the river. This new volume of water will be fed into the navigation pool at Monroe and will be a very beneficial effect in abating the pollution which is becoming a very aggravating factor in the Monroe water supply."



THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AVERAGE of 60 stocks advanced sharply in the final week of year, closing Friday at 220.9 from 219.1 a week ago. The commodity index also closed higher for the second straight week winding up at 161.2 at year's close. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

DURING PAST YEAR

Area Oil-Gas Activities Show Moderate Increase

By RICHARD GREENE
World Oil Editor

Oil and gas drilling activities in the 14-parish Monroe district this past year showed a moderate increase over 1959.

Testing and exploration produced 11 new oil fields and turned in over 300 new well completions.

Duncan S. Cook, manager of the Monroe district, told of the 11 new fields which shows an increase of three from the '59 total. Catahoula Parish proved the most productive with five new field discoveries. The Wallace Lake field became the biggest strike with the finding of seven new wells during the year.

The other four fields in Catahoula are Boltners Brake, California Bayou, Longbranch and Utility. The Tew Lake field in Catahoula was also extended into new territory.

Concordia Parish exploration provided three other new fields, they are Moro, Whites Bayou and the Lower Sunk Lake.

In Tensas Parish the new Buckhorn field was discovered along with a wildcat find. The new wildcat field was staked on December 4 and has not yet been named. It is located in section 45, township 11 and range 12 east.

The final new field discovery is in La Salle Parish, it is the Searcy field.

In addition to these new discoveries, the Calhoun field in Ouachita Parish has spread into Jackson and Lincoln Parishes.

COMPLETIONS

The total number of new oil and or gas wells finaled in the district's 14 parishes amounted to 302 for the year. The week of October 30 showed the largest number of new completions in a single week when 16 new wells were brought in. Only during the weeks of February 21, when weather conditions were very bad, and April 10 were there no new wells finished. This brings the average new completions in 1960 to six wells per week.

NEW LOCATIONS

The final tally of new permits that were approved to drill on new locations throughout the district came to 670 as of December 16. The largest number of new locations staked in a single week was during the week of May 22 when 28 drillsites were found. The weeks of January 24, February 21, March 6 and 13 showed the least number of new permits approved, as only three locations were staked in each of these four weeks. The average number of new locations staked in the district in each week of last year rounded out to about 13, a good average for the Monroe area.

ACTIVE RIGS

As for the number of active rigs in the district, that total varied from its lowest during the week of April 24 when only 16 wells were in action to the week of September 11, when 40 rigs were active. An average of 22 rigs were in operation each week of 1960.

The total number of wells or wellsites abandoned during the year tallied to 304. The range here was from one abandonment each during the weeks of January 10 and March 13, to the week of October 2 when 15 sites were lost due to little or no production. Thus there was an average of six holes plugged and abandoned each week of the past year.

The district showed a net increase of 273 barrels of oil a day over the 1959 total. This is not an extremely big increase considering the entire state's increased production reached 20,000 barrels daily, but it does show that the Monroe district is not dropping in production, contrary to popular belief.

TOTAL

In a state where the total oil production is a million barrels daily, the Monroe district seems small accounting for only about 61,500 barrels per day, but that's not the whole story.

North Louisiana is not known for oil production as much as the southern parts of the state. It is, however, noted for its production of natural gas. Here the Monroe district takes the spotlight with about 333,658,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Looking at the output this past year from a statewide angle, Louisiana has taken a firmer hold on its position as the second largest oil producing state in the nation. The increase was from an average of 980,000 barrels daily in 1959 to slightly over a million during the past year.

Texas claims the title of number one in the U.S. with about two and a half million barrels a day. Athough Texas outproduces Louisiana it is ony because of the size of the Lone Star state. It is a proven fact that in Louisiana there is more oil per square mile than in any other state.

It is also interesting to note that Louisiana and Texas together produce over half of the entire oil market, which is about six million barrels a day.

DURING PAST YEAR

West Monroe Street Work Not Too Active

By JOHN TARVER
Staff Writer

Despite frequent false - starts and much elaborate planning, West Monroe's proposed comprehensive street improvement program failed to materalize during 1960, although the present plan has been in the works for the last two years.

The city council opened bids on the approximately 20.7 miles of street improvements at its last regular meeting of the year, December 13, and handed them over to consulting engineers, Fromherz Engineers of New Orleans, for study.

They were to report on their study at a special council meeting December 20.

West Monroe's comprehensive program, the last of a number of plans to mend the city's outdated and inadequate streets, is built around property assessments which in turn are geared to a front-foot ratio.

COST RATIO

That is, the cost of paving the street abutting on one foot of the property frontage is figured then multiplied by the number of feet the resident owns to arrive at the assessment a particular citizen will be required to pay.

At the regular December meeting, engineers reported that the cost per foot will be something less than had been anticipated. No figures were quoted.

The system is designed to force the paving of delapidated streets either by city or private contract, the latter in case the homeowner came forward earlier in the year with proof of good intentions of paving his street himself.

Ironically, some came forward to withdraw their streets from the program entirely, leaving it something less than comprehensive.

Bentz and Elmore, Inc., of Monroe this month submitted the apparent low bid of $271,560.34 for about 2.5 miles of re-surfacing and 18.2 miles of new paving.

The bid called for completion within 90 calendar days from the time the firm begins work.

However, the city council will not act on the bids until after reports by the engineers are brought in. Studies of the bids are necessary to assure that the bid finally accepted will meet specifications set down by state and municipal regulations.

START IN SPRING

Actual construction will not begin until weather conditions permit, reports say, probably late in the spring.

At the same time, city officials are making plans to acquire maintenance equipment for the improved streets.

Street maintenance during 1960 has been far from satisfactory, due in part to the lack of proper equipment and personnel, but evidently due somewhat to the belief among officials that since the streets are to be repaired at any rate, an earlier expenditure for maintance of existing streets would be wasted.

As a result, only those streets maintained by the State Department of Highways and those of the main business district have received any serious attention.

Early 1960 saw the completion of preliminary surveys which Mayor J. Allan Norris said recently "took almost a year" to complete. Since March when the city council called a "protest meeting" to give affected property owners an opportunity to remove their streets from the program, the city has proceeded with more or less deliberate speed from the "legal delay" to another.

Virtually the only streets to be paved or repaired during the year have been those under the control of the state and paid wholly or in large part by the state.

A few months ago, in exxplaining the delay in beginning work on the program, Mayor Norris noted several reasons, stating that "ever since the program was inaugurated two years ago, we have proceeded as fast as is legally possible."

Delays include preliminary surveys and engineering plans, several waiting periods following the advertising of council actions, and time for the engineer's cost estimates.

DELAYS

Therefore, even if bids are accepted by the first of 1961, construction could not "legally" begin until March because of two more anticipated delays:

(1) 30 days following the levying of property owners' assessments to give them time to decide whether to pay cash or borrow on ten-year property bonds at an interest rate as high as six per cent.

(2) 30 more days following advertising the paving certificates or bonds for sale.

The idea of a comprehensive paving program was defended during the year by city officials on the grounds such a project would present a more advantageous position for the city in selling paving bonds and that a program under a single contract will be cheaper.

Also, Mayor Norris advanced the prediction that "property owners won't be paying for improved streets while still riding over some bad ones."

However, the city did not shrink from allowing the state to pave and maintain the city's principal arteries over which the bulk of traffic moves rather than drive over streets "maintained" by the city.

Consequently, the state routes bear the brunt of West Monroe's traffic while the city hesitated for two years in order to save money for itself.

Then in August at a second "protest meeting," a group of citizens appeared to remove a large section of South Sixth Street from the program, defying the mayor's hope for all good streets, all at one time.

At is March protest assembly, the council successfully out-maneuvered any protestors, and it was not until later at a meeting to accept private street contracts that any number of property owners appeared to protest their streets.

They were told they were too late.

And all year, concerned as it was with garbage collection, ditch cleaning and lesser matters, the city street department managed only small isolated street repairs.

However, it did some heavy ditch cleaning with rented equipment late in the summer, after hand labor in the ditches proved inadequate.

At the October council meeting, the councilmen accepted the recommendation of the city's planning commission and took steps to hire an engineer who was scheduled to divide his time between the street department's maintenance and the planning commission.

RESIGNED

Then the man the city hired the first of November, Paul B. Moore, mysteriously resigned his new post on November 30. If he as much as occupied his office in the old city hall, it was not widely known.

When asked about the man's resignation, Mayor Norris was non-committal and advised contacting Moore for the reason.

With a pretense at attacking its maintenance problems, the city suddenly retired to the former position which even the city councilmen admit is unsatisfactory.

Referring to hiring Moore, Councilman A. P. Burkett said at the October meeting, "We've talked about it for several months, but have never done anything about it."

"I think we're expecting too much of Slim (Street Commissioner W. R. Townsend)," Burkett added.

One councilman suggested creating a separate department and Townsend told the group that his men had so much to do that they "can't get to all of it."

The year ends with both the street system and the department charged with its care in much the same condition — inadequate and over-worked.

Other bidders on the program include:

Louisiana Paving Company, Inc. of Ruston with a bid of $307,679.76, the program to be completed within 180 calendar days.

Louisiana Asphalt, Inc., of West Monroe, $347,207.54, completion within 200 calendar days.

Coastal Asphalt Company of Baton Rouge, $412,419.20, completion within 250 calendar days.

PLANNING, NAME CHANGE

West Monroe Has A Busy News Year During 1960

By LYNN GARRETT
Staff Writer

West Monroe activities during the past year made the news frequently, beginning in mid - January with the resignation of City Planner Dan S. Martin of New Orleans.

Citing "different viewpoints" among West Monroe Planning Commission members and himself, Martin quit his post a few months short of three years after he was hired.

A week later, officials announced the hiring of Eugene Smith as the new manager for the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Smith replaced George Wylie, who had accepted a position with a West Monroe bank.

February passed quietly across the river, and on March 9 the hiring of W. B. Singleton of Baton Rouge as the new city planner was announced.

NEW NAME

A few days later, the Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring a new name for the city and preliminary plans for an election were made.

On March 18, plans for the new ward five hospital were outlined in detail at a public meeting. It was pointed out that the $2,200,000 structure would have four floors and 100 - bed capacity.

In early April, the West Monroe City Council voted to call an election on the name change issue, and on April 22 voters went to the polls and soundly defeated a move for any new name.

The unofficial count showed 1,675 in favor of leaving the name alone, and 420 in favor of a change.

The month of June saw the official opening of the West Monroe Baseball Park on Seventh Street, and later in the month the contract for the hospital was signed.

On July 1, announcement was made of the reduction of the ad valorem tax by one mill for property in Sewer District No. 1. A heavy hike in assessments led to the cut, it was explained.

A few days later, ground was broken for the hospital, at the corner of Thomas Street and Mac Millan Road.

On July 23, City Attorney John F. McCormick won the race for the city judgeship and City Marshall Pete Holcomb was returned to his post.

About a month later, it was announced that gas rates in the city had been doubled. This move followed five years of litigation.

Later in August, a double tragedy hit the westside city with the asphyxiation of two trailer dwellers, identified as Mr. and Mrs. William McCann.

On Aug. 28, it was announced that Fred Riser, West Monroe realtor, was the ward five school board race winner over then incumbent Walter Bennett.

A 15-month-old boy, Dennis Carl Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Foster, Route four, West Monroe, lost his life Sept. 1 when he was struck by a truck while standing in a neighbor's driveway.

On Sept. 20, the Northeast Louisiana Home Builders Association stated that they wanted representation on the West Monroe Planning Commission. Representatives from the association said they felt entitled to representation since the builders were subjected to supervision of the commission.

Mayor J. Allan Norris said at the time that he was not acquainted with the situation. H. H. Mullins, commission chairman, said that so far as he knew there had been no difficulty along these lines.

During October, West Monroe was especially prominent in the news columns.

On Oct. 1, it was announced that the mail service had been expanded and that 370 families currently on a rural route would be placed on a city route effective Oct. 15.

The new garbage trucks arrived Oct. 3, at a cost of $12,000, and on Oct. 5 it was announced that the city had leased a new dump. The new site, for city trucks only, was leased for five years at a cost of $300 a year plus maintenance.

On Oct. 10, the Ouachita Valley Fair opened for its annual week's run, and on Oct. 12, the Ouachita Parish Police Jury voted to abolish the West Monroe Planning Commission subject to the approval of the federal government.

It was pointed out that the commission could function as a city group, but without authority beyond the city limits. The Northeast Louisiana Home Builders Association went on record as subjecting to meeting standards of both the Federal Housing Authority and the planning group.

Representatives of the home builders group pointed out that they had asked for representation on the commission but at this time were getting none.

Also on Oct. 12, it was announced that the city expected to receive street bids Dec. 13 for work on about 20 miles of streets.

A day later, the planning commission held its regularly scheduled meeting, despite the recent jury action. Speculation ran high that the jury had other motives for the abolition of power other than dislike of commission authority, since the jury would have only to refuse to adopt commission recommendations if a mere power curb were sought.

On Oct. 18, tragedy once more hit West Monroe with the death of three residents in a car - truck crash on Washington Street.

W. C. Hoy and two of his sons, Charles, 17, and Sammy, 20, were killed in the mishap.

Also on Oct. 18, the date for the $625,000 recreation bond issue election was set.

On Nov. 1, the city hired Paul Moore to work with the street department and planning commission as a consultant.

Three weeks later, voters turned back the proposed recreation bond issue by a vote of about seven to one. All 14 precincts voted against the issue.

West Monroe's annual Christmas parade was held Dec. 2, with eight floats, six marching groups and seven bands participating.

A few days later, Mayor J. Allan Norris refused comment on Moore's resignation, which was turned in Nov. 30.

On Dec. 14, it was announced that Bents and Elmore was the apparent low bidder on the city's street project. They submitted a bid of $271,560. The city council set a meeting for Dec. 20 to officially accept one of several bids offered.

Cotton Acreage Releases Close February 27

WINNSBORO (Special) — According to Edward J. LaForge, County office manager of the Franklin Parish ASC office, any farm operator who has a 1961 cotton acreage allotment and who does not plan to plant the allotment or plans to plant only a part of the allotment, may release the unused acreage to the parish ASC committee. Closing date for a farm operator to release all or a part of his 1961 cotton acreage allotment is February 27.

The ASC committee will reapportion the released allotments to other farms in amounts determined to be fair and reasonable on the basis of past acreage of cotton, land, labor, equipment available for production of cotton, crop rotation practices, and soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton.

LaForge explained that if a farmer does not plant or release at least 75 per cent of his 1961 cotton allotment the farm history will be reduced and the farm will have a smaller 1962 cotton allotment established for it.

8 New Wells Are Finaled In Local Oil, Gas District

By RICHARD GREENE
World Oil Editor

There were eight new oil and gas wells completed in the Monroe district last week as a result of testing and exploration throughout the area.

In addition to the new wells there were nine new locations of possible oil or gas wells staked in the district. This was reported by Duncan S. Cook, manager of the 14-parish Monroe district of the State Department of Conservation.

There were also six holes plugged and abandoned and as of December 29 there were 25 rigs active in the fields of the district.

Following are the new completions:

CATAHOULA

Boltners Brake Field — Olin Oil and Gas-Ten Delta Co. and Justiss Mears Oil Co.'s Olin-Ten Delta no. 1 in sec. 8-6-5E, completed to pump 65 barrels through a 6¼ in. choke from perforations at 4912-19 ft., gas oil ratio 150:1, tubing pressure 320 lbs., gravity 40.

Mean Lake Field—Grigsby-McCord Joint Acc't. et al's' Catahoula Ld. Co. no. 1 in sec. 6-8-7E, completed to pump 59 barrels through a 10-64 in. choke from perforations at 4379-81 ft., tubing pressure 141 lbs., gas oil ratio 100:1, gravity 39.

LA SALLE

Olla Field — Cities Service Oil Co.'s Trem. Lbr. Co. A-42 in sec. 33-10-2E, completed to pump 80 barrels from perforations at 2320-23 ft., gravity 29.2.

H. L. Hunt's A. L. Taliaferro est B-1 in sec. 26-10-2E, completed to pump 19 barrels from perforations at 2193-98 ft.

UNION

Monroe Field — Olin Gas Trans Corp.'s Fee Gas no. 468 in sec. 19-21-3E, completed to flow 1200 MCF, rock pressure 910 lbs.

Olin Gas Trans Corp.'s Fee Gas no. 472 in sec. 30-21-3E, completed to flow 975 MCF, rock pressure 800 lbs.

United Carbon Co.'s Union Producing Co. C-20 in sec. 6-21-3E, completed to flow 7427 MCF, rock pressure 900 lbs.

United Carbon Co.'s Union Producing Co. C-21 in sec. 6-21-3E, completed to flow 7920 MCF, rock pressure 1040 lbs.

Following are the new locations:

CATAHOULA

Mean Lake Field — Crow Drilling and Producing Co. T. F. Hodge's Cruse - State - Purvis no. 1, located 330 ft. north and west of the SE corner of the SW¼-SW¼ of sec. 31-9-7E.

Tew Lake Field — Bruer and Curran Oil Co. and Teague Jr. et al's Mrs. W. M. Tolar et al no. 1, located in the SE¼-NW¼ of sec. 11-8-6E.

CONCORDIA

Ouinn Bayou Field — Crow Drilling and Producing Co.'s Madison Oil and Development Co. no. 1, located 330 ft. south and west of the NE corner of the NE¼-SW¼ of sec. 16-5-8E.

LINCOLN

Calhoun Field — Tidewater Oil Co.'s Mrs. O. W. Simmons no. 1, located 1100 ft. south and 1000 ft. west of the NE corner of sec. 35-18-1W.

OUACHITA

Monroe Field — Crescent Producing Co.'s Fred Huenefeld no 1, located 330 ft. east and south of the N W corner of SW¼ - SW¼ of sec. 29-18-5E.

TENSAS

Buckhorn Field — Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s M. M. Bloom et al no. 1, located 660 ft. north and 330 ft. east of the SW corner of the SW¼-NW¼ of sec. 16-12-11E

UNION

Monroe Field — Monla Gas. Co.'s J. A. Green no. 1, located 687 ft. south and west of the NE corner of the SE¼ of sec. 25-22-2E

Monla Gas Co.'s F. H. Hester no. 1, located 713 ft. south and 1967 ft. west of the NE corner of the NW¼ of sec. 1-19-2E.

Jack Pryor's Sherman Pilgreen no. 1, located 1602 ft. north and 323 ft. west of the SE corner of sec. 29-22-3E.

These rigs were listed as active:

CATAHOULA

Wildcat Field —R. A. Campbell's Magruder No. 1 in sec. 23-6-8E, drilling.

McGoldrick and Watson Drilling and R. H. Alagood's Mildred H. McGee no. 1 in sec. 13-9-6E, drilling.

Saline Lake Field—Justiss Mears Oil Co.'s Olin Ten Delta B-2 in sec. 28-5-5E, testing.

CONCORDIA

Wildcat Field—O'Brien Drilling Co.'s Stella H. Calhoun no. 1 in sec. 9-6-7E, drilling.

West Bayou Concordia Field—Pan American Petroleum Corp.'s Yakey no. 1 in sec. 42-4-8, testing.

Brabston Field—R. A. Campbell's Panola Ld. and Development Co. A-1 in sec. 38-4-9E, testing.

Frogmore Field—Crow Drilling and Producing Co.'s Schiele no. 1 in sec. 32-8-8E, drilling.

FRANKLIN

Wildcat Field—Monsanto Chemical Co.'s Leila no. 1 in sec. 5-13-8E, drilling.

South Big Creek Field—R. E. Williams Oil Co.'s W. G. Vernon no. 1 in sec. 18-16-8E, testing.

JACKSON

Calhoun Field—Ark La Gas Co.'s Boyd Est Unit no 1 in sec. 1-17-1W, drilling in sand and shale.

LA SALLE

Wildcat Field — Justiss Mears Oil Co. et al's Cassell-Davis no. 1 in sec. 22-9-1E, testing.

Justiss Mears Oil Co. et al's Trem. Lbr. Co. R-1 in sec. 14-9-2E, drilling.

Nebo Hemphill Field—Justiss Mears Co. et al's J. L. Paul no. 1 in sec. 22-7-3E, testing.

Olla Field—Cities Service Oil Co.'s Trem. Lbr. Co. A-41 in sec. 34-10-2E, testing.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AVERAGE of 60 stocks advanced sharply in the final week of year, closing Friday at 220.9 from 219.1 a week ago. The commodity index also closed higher for the second straight week winding up at 161.2 at year's close. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

DURING PAST YEAR

Area Oil-Gas Activities Show Moderate Increase

By RICHARD GREENE
World Oil Editor

Oil and gas drilling activities in the 14-parish Monroe district this past year showed a moderate increase over 1959.

Testing and exploration produced 11 new oil fields and turned in over 300 new well completions.

Duncan S. Cook, manager of the Monroe district, told of the 11 new fields which shows an increase of three from the '59 total. Catahoula Parish proved the most productive with five new field discoveries. The Wallace Lake field became the biggest strike with the finding of seven new wells during the year.

The other four fields in Catahoula are Boltners Brake, California Bayou, Longbranch and Utility. The Tew Lake field in Catahoula was also extended into new territory.

Concordia Parish exploration provided three other new fields, they are Moro, Whites Bayou and the Lower Sunk Lake.

In Tensas Parish the new Buckhorn field was discovered along with a wildcat find. The new wildcat field was staked on December 4 and has not yet been named. It is located in section 45, township 11 and range 12 east.

The final new field discovery is in La Salle Parish, it is the Searcy field.

In addition to these new discoveries, the Calhoun field in Ouachita Parish has spread into Jackson and Lincoln Parishes.

COMPLETIONS

The total number of new oil and or gas wells finaled in the district's 14 parishes amounted to 302 for the year. The week of October 30 showed the largest number of new completions in a single week when 16 new wells were brought in. Only during the weeks of February 21, when weather conditions were very bad, and April 10 were there no new wells finished. This brings the average new completions in 1960 to six wells per week.

NEW LOCATIONS

The final tally of new permits that were approved to drill on new locations throughout the district came to 670 as of December 16. The largest number of new locations staked in a single week was during the week of May 22 when 28 drillsites were found. The weeks of January 24, February 21, March 6 and 13 showed the least number of new permits approved, as only three locations were staked in each of these four weeks. The average number of new locations staked in the district in each week of last year rounded out to about 13, a good average for the Monroe area.

ACTIVE RIGS

As for the number of active rigs in the district, that total varied from its lowest during the week of April 24 when only 16 wells were in action to the week of September 11, when 40 rigs were active. An average of 22 rigs were in operation each week of 1960.

The total number of wells or wellsites abandoned during the year tallied to 304. The range here was from one abandonment each during the weeks of January 10 and March 13, to the week of October 2 when 15 sites were lost due to little or no production. Thus there was an average of six holes plugged and abandoned each week of the past year.

The district showed a net increase of 273 barrels of oil a day over the 1959 total. This is not an extremely big increase considering the entire state's increased production reached 20,000 barrels daily, but it does show that the Monroe district is not dropping in production, contrary to popular belief.

TOTAL

In a state where the total oil production is a million barrels daily, the Monroe district seems small accounting for only about 61,500 barrels per day, but that's not the whole story.

North Louisiana is not known for oil production as much as the southern parts of the state. It is, however, noted for its production of natural gas. Here the Monroe district takes the spotlight with about 333,658,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Looking at the output this past year from a statewide angle, Louisiana has taken a firmer hold on its position as the second largest oil producing state in the nation. The increase was from an average of 980,000 barrels daily in 1959 to slightly over a million during the past year.

Texas claims the title of number one in the U.S. with about two and a half million barrels a day. Athough Texas outproduces Louisiana it is ony because of the size of the Lone Star state. It is a proven fact that in Louisiana there is more oil per square mile than in any other state.

It is also interesting to note that Louisiana and Texas together produce over half of the entire oil market, which is about six million barrels a day.

BANNER YEAR

Ouachita Traffic Increases In '60

By BILL HARDIN
Staff Writer

Progress along the Ouachita River, both in the commercial shipping and the modern nine-foot channel, made tremendous strides in 1960.

During the year a law signed into authorization by President Eisenhower which enabled the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, to convert the river's present six and one-half foot channel into the deeper channel, and will provide for longer locks along the 351-mile route from the mouth of Black River to Camden, Arkansas.

1960 was a banner shipping year for the river. Preliminary estimates place the year's tonnage at 485,000, the largest in the history of the river's navigation and tops the 1959 record of 341,700 tons. The gain is approximately 42 per cent.

The authorization by the president was signed on July 14 and gives an impetus to place the Ouachita river shipping in a competitive position with that along the Mississippi.

The new channel, as proposed in the bill, will be formed by two high-lift locks and dams, thus eliminating the present locks and dams at Jonesville, Columbia, Monroe and Sterlington.

The two Arkansas navigation dams will remain in place, but will be raised approximately three and one-half feet in order to form the 9-foot channel. Each of the Arkansas dams will be equipped with new locks.

The Ouachita River Valley Association, one of the leading organizations along the route promoting the improved transportation facilities, has expressed the opinion that the present six and one-half foot channel with its 268-foot locks has reached its maximum tonnage.

The organization, with headquarters in Camden, Ark., has argued throughout its long history of river improvements that more than a million tons of river commerce could be pushed through the route if the present locks were sufficient to handle the type of barges and boats used on the Intracoastal Canal.

Because much of the river commerce available for shipping is liquid in nature, only large and long barges can economically handle these products.

The present docks, with their 268-foot maximum, along with the shallow channel and sharp curves in the river do not permit the use of standard size liquid barges unless they are loaded light when the river is at pool stage — or deeper than the minimum channel.

The Corps of Engineers in its study of the proposed nine-foot channel for the river economically justified two lengths of docks. One is a 400- foot length with a total project cost of $45,030,000, while the second is 600-foot length at a project cost of $52,450,000. In each case 19 cut-offs were proposed which would shorten the river by approximately 30 miles and eliminate practically all of the sharp bends.

Local shippers contend that anything less than 600-foot locks in the Ouachita River navigation system will continue to make the river a second-class waterway.

The Corps of Engineers was admonished by the Congress to check particularly the lock length. Emphasis was placed on not allowing the approval of structures that would be obsolete by the time construction is finished.

Presently, the plans call for construction of 400-foot locks unless shippers and others interested in the development of the river argue for longer locks.

As planned the new high-lift lock and dam near Columbia will give the Monroe - West Monroe area a pool of deep water that will not only be beneficial to navigation, but will be an inducement to water-using industries to consider the area for plant locations. With the completion of the proposed high-lift dock, the span of the river at Monroe will have a pool stage depth of approximately 20 feet.

A comparison of the preliminary estimates of river-borne traffic in 1960 with the year 1959 cannot be made definitely since the earlier year's records are complete, and this year's tonnage will not be tabulated for some few weeks. However, a review of tonnage during the past ten years, prior to 1960, points to a steady growth.

This is precluded, of course, by the assumption that the 9-foot channel will be a reality within a reasonable time and that the expected normal economic growth and industrial expansion continues. Indications do not point to the contrary.

Within the next ten years, the available river tonnage is expected to be doubled or even trebled over the figures ten, or even five years, ago.

Four years ago a report issued by the University of Arkansas, College of Business Administration Industrial Research Center, issued a report which indicated that the growth should be exceedingly bright during the decade of the 1960s.

The report read in part:

"It is expected that the industrial output of the Ouachita River Basin will increase 60 per cent within the next 15 years. This estimate is made on the assumption that high levels of national prosperity will continue; that major expansions will occur in paper, chemical, aluminum and petroleum industries; and that present economic trends will continue upward. With improved navigation on the Ouachita river, the rate of growth could be even greater."

That report, issued in 1956, has since been backed by the increase of river traffic alone from 193,067 tons that year to 341,700 in 1959. 1960 has already shown an increase of some 42 per cent.

Interest in the proposed 9-foot channel has indicated even greater increases in both traffic and short tons transported in the future.

A brief review of the traffic, all measured in short tons, for the year 1959, the last period available for comparison, is broken down as follows:

The largest single category using the river traffic, alcohols and its derivatives, showed a total of 108,879; with sand, gravel and crushed rock second with 89,721 tons. In third place is the residual fuel oil, 74,696.

Others in order of their importance were: logs and wood products, 65,500; industrial chemicals, 14,901; liquid sulphur, 12,130; industrial machinery and parts, 2,250; lubricating oils and greases, 1,036; iron and steel pipe, 612; and fish and products, 315.

In the category of gravel and sand, by mid December of 1960, 100,000 tons have been shipped on the river, far exceeding the totals for 1959 in that group.

More than 2,600 tons of steel shapes and plates landed at Monroe this year, more than four times the amount for the preceding year. Some of this increase, it must be pointed out, was due to the construction of the bridge for the super highway, I-20, located just south of the old traffic bridge.

The ton-miles registered on the 351-mile route totaled 66,086,957 in 1959.

H. K. Thatcher, executive vice-president of the Ouachita River Valley Association, in commenting on progress in the past year, and generally in the past few years said:

"In addition to the development of the navigation feature of the Ouachita River, the Association is sponsoring the construction of two additional multiple - purpose dams in the upper watershed that will discharge into the Ouachita river approximately one-half billion gallons of water each day of the year when completed and placed in operation. This will be in addition to the water now in the river. This new volume of water will be fed into the navigation pool at Monroe and will be a very beneficial effect in abating the pollution which is becoming a very aggrevating factor in the Monroe water supply."

C. C. Renfrow Retirement Set

C. C. Renfrow, meter and well attendant for United Gas Pipe Line Company at Sterlington, will retire today after serving with the company for 33 years, according to J. G. Hicks, the United's Monroe District manager.

Renfrow joined United Gas Nov. 1, 1927, at Monroe as a rig helper, and has been serving at Sterlington since 1933. A native of Rowden, Renfrow is a World War I Army veteran.

He and Mrs. Renfrow plan to continue residing at Haile following his retirement.

DURING PAST YEAR

West Monroe Street Work Not Too Active

By JOHN TARVER
Staff Writer

Despite frequent false - starts and much elaborate planning, West Monroe's proposed comprehensive street improvement program failed to materalize during 1960, although the present plan has been in the works for the last two years.

The city council opened bids on the approximately 20.7 miles of street improvements at its last regular meeting of the year, December 13, and handed them over to consulting engineers, Fromherz Engineers of New Orleans, for study.

They were to report on their study at a special council meeting December 20.

West Monroe's comprehensive program, the last of a number of plans to mend the city's outdated and inadequate streets, is built around property assessments which in turn are geared to a front-foot ratio.

COST RATIO

That is, the cost of paving the street abutting on one foot of the property frontage is figured then multiplied by the number of feet the resident owns to arrive at the assessment a particular citizen will be required to pay.

At the regular December meeting, engineers reported that the cost per foot will be something less than had been anticipated. No figures were quoted.

The system is designed to force the paving of delapidated streets either by city or private contract, the latter in case the homeowner came forward earlier in the year with proof of good intentions of paving his street himself.

Ironically, some came forward to withdraw their streets from the program entirely, leaving it something less than comprehensive.

Bentz and Elmore, Inc., of Monroe this month submitted the apparent low bid of $271,560.34 for about 2.5 miles of re-surfacing and 18.2 miles of new paving.

The bid called for completion within 90 calendar days from the time the firm begins work.

However, the city council will not act on the bids until after reports by the engineers are brought in. Studies of the bids are necessary to assure that the bid finally accepted will meet specifications set down by state and municipal regulations.

START IN SPRING

Actual construction will not begin until weather conditions permit, reports say, probably late in the spring.

At the same time, city officials are making plans to acquire maintenance equipment for the improved streets.

Street maintenance during 1960 has been far from satisfactory, due in part to the lack of proper equipment and personnel, but evidently due somewhat to the belief among officials that since the streets are to be repaired at any rate, an earlier expenditure for maintance of existing streets would be wasted.

As a result, only those streets maintained by the State Department of Highways and those of the main business district have received any serious attention.

Early 1960 saw the completion of preliminary surveys which Mayor J. Allan Norris said recently "took almost a year" to complete. Since March when the city council called a "protest meeting" to give affected property owners an opportunity to remove their streets from the program, the city has proceeded with more or less deliberate speed from the "legal delay" to another.

Virtually the only streets to be paved or repaired during the year have been those under the control of the state and paid wholly or in large part by the state.

A few months ago, in explaining the delay in beginning work on the program, Mayor Norris noted several reasons, stating that "ever since the program was inaugurated two years ago, we have proceeded as fast as is legally possible."

Delays include preliminary surveys and engineering plans, several waiting periods following the advertising of council actions, and time for the engineer's cost estimates.

DELAYS

Therefore, even if bids are accepted by the first of 1961, construction could not "legally" begin until March because of two more anticipated delays:

(1) 30 days following the levying of property owners' assessments to give them time to decide whether to pay cash or borrow on ten-year property bonds at an interest rate as high as six per cent.

(2) 30 more days following advertising the paving certificates or bonds for sale.

The idea of a comprehensive paving program was defended during the year by city officials on the grounds such a project would present a more advantageous position for the city in selling paving bonds and that a program under a single contract will be cheaper.

Also, Mayor Norris advanced the prediction that "property owners won't be paying for improved streets while still riding over some bad ones."

However, the city did not shrink from allowing the state to pave and maintain the city's principal arteries over which the bulk of traffic moves rather than drive over streets "maintained" by the city.

Consequently, the state routes bear the brunt of West Monroe's traffic while the city hesitated for two years in order to save money for itself.

Then in August at a second "protest meeting," a group of citizens appeared to remove a large section of South Sixth Street from the program, defying the mayor's hope for all good streets, all at one time.

At is March protest assembly, the council successfully out-maneuvered any protestors, and it was not until later at a meeting to accept private street contracts that any number of property owners appeared to protest their streets.

They were told they were too late.

And all year, concerned as it was with garbage collection, ditch cleaning and lesser matters, the city street department managed only small isolated street repairs.

However, it did some heavy ditch cleaning with rented equipment late in the summer, after hand labor in the ditches proved inadequate.

At the October council meeting, the councilmen accepted the recommendation of the city's planning commission and took steps to hire an engineer who was scheduled to divide his time between the street department's maintenance and the planning commission.

RESIGNED

Then the man the city hired the first of November, Paul B. Moore, mysterously resigned his new post on November 30. If he as much as occupied his office in the old city hall, it was not widely known.

When asked about the man's resignation, Mayor Norris was non-committal and advised contacting Moore for the reason.

With a pretense at attacking its maintenance problems, the city suddenly retired to the former position which even the city councilmen admit is unsatisfactory.

Referring to hiring Moore, Councilman A. P. Burkett said at the October meeting, "We've talked about it for several months, but have never done anything about it."

"I think we're expecting too much of Slim (Street Commissioner W. R. Townsend)," Burkett added.

One councilman suggested creating a separate department and Townsend told the group that his men had so much to do that they "can't get to all of it."

The year ends with both the street system and the department charged with its care in much the same condition — inadequate and over-worked.

Other bidders on the program include:

Louisiana Paving Company, Inc. of Ruston with a bid of $307,679.76, the program to be completed within 180 calendar days.

Louisiana Asphalt, Inc., of West Monroe, $347,207.54, completion within 200 calendar days.

Coastal Asphalt Company of Baton Rouge, $412,419.29, completion within 250 calendar days.

West Monroe Has A Busy News Year During 1960

By LYNN GARRETT
Staff Writer

West Monroe activities during the past year made the news frequently, beginning in mid - January with the resignation of City Planner Dan S. Martin of New Orleans.

Citing "different viewpoints" among West Monroe Planning Commission members and himself, Martin quit his post a few months short of three years after he was hired.

A week later, officials announced the hiring of Eugene Smith as the new manager for the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Smith replaced George Wylie, who had accepted a position with a West Monroe bank.

February passed quietly across the river, and on March 9 the hiring of W. B. Singleton of Baton Rouge as the new city planner was announced.

NEW NAME

A few days later, the Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring a new name for the city and preliminary plans for an election were made.

On March 18, plans for the new ward five hospital were outlined in detail at a public meeting. It was pointed out that the $2,200,000 structure would have four floors and 100 - bed capacity.

In early April, the West Monroe City Council voted to call an election on the name change issue, and on April 22 voters went to the polls and soundly defeated a move for any new name.

The unofficial count showed 1,675 in favor of leaving the name alone, and 420 in favor of a change.

The month of June saw the official opening of the West Monroe Baseball Park on Seventh Street, and later in the month the contract for the hospital was signed.

On July 1, announcement was made of the reduction of the ad valorem tax by one mill for property in Sewer District No. 1. A heavy hike in assessments led to the cut, it was explained.

A few days later, ground was broken for the hospital, at the corner of Thomas Street and Mac Millan Road.

On July 23, City Attorney John F. McCormick won the race for the city judgeship and City Marshall Pete Holcomb was returned to his post.

About a month later, it was announced that gas rates in the city had been doubled. This move followed five years of litigation.

Later in August, a double tragedy hit the westside city with the asphyxiation of two trailer dwellers, identified as Mr. and Mrs. William McCann.

On Aug. 28, it was announced that Fred Riser, West Monroe realtor, was the ward five school board race winner over then incumbent Walter Bennett.

A 15-month-old boy, Dennis Carl Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Foster, Route four, West Monroe, lost his life Sept. 1 when he was struck by a truck while standing in a neighbor's driveway.

On Sept. 20, the Northeast Louisiana Home Builders Association stated that they wanted representation on the West Monroe Planning Commission. Representatives from the association said they felt entitled to representation since the builders were subjected to supervision of the commission.

Mayor J. Allan Norris said at the time that he was not acquainted with the situation. H. H. Mullins, commission chairman, said that so far as he knew there had been no difficulty along these lines.

During October, West Monroe was especially prominent in the news columns.

On Oct. 1, it was announced that the mail service had been expanded and that 370 families currently on a rural route would be placed on a city route effective Oct. 15.

The new garbage trucks arrived Oct. 3, at a cost of $12,000, and on Oct. 5 it was announced that the city had leased a new dump. The new site, for city trucks only, was leased for five years at a cost of $300 a year plus maintenance.

On Oct. 10, the Ouachita Valley Fair opened for its annual week's run, and on Oct. 12, the Ouachita Parish Police Jury voted to abolish the West Monroe Planning Commission subject to the approval of the federal government.

It was pointed out that the commission could function as a city group, but without authority beyond the city limits. The Northeast Louisiana Home Builders Association went on record as subjecting to meeting standards of both the Federal Housing Authority and the planning group.

Representatives of the home builders group pointed out that they had asked for representation on the commission but at this time were getting none.

Also on Oct. 12, it was announced that the city expected to receive street bids Dec. 13 for work on about 20 miles of streets.

A day later, the planning commission held its regularly scheduled meeting, despite the recent jury action. Speculation ran high that the jury had other motives for the abolition of power other than dislike of commission authority, since the jury would have only to refuse to adopt commission recommendations if a mere power curb were sought.

On Oct. 18, tragedy once more hit West Monroe with the death of three residents in a car - truck crash on Washington Street.

W. C. Hoy and two of his sons, Charles, 17, and Sammy, 20, were killed in the mishap.

Also on Oct. 18, the date for the $625,000 recreation bond issue election was set.

On Nov. 1, the city hired Paul Moore to work with the street department and planning commission as a consultant.

Three weeks later, voters turned back the proposed recreation bond issue by a vote of about seven to one. All 14 precincts voted against the issue.

West Monroe's annual Christmas parade was held Dec. 2, with eight floats, six marching groups and seven bands participating.

A few days later, Mayor J. Allan Norris refused comment on Moore's resignation, which was turned in Nov. 30.

On Dec. 14, it was announced that Bentz and Elmore was the apparent low bidder on the city's street project. They submitted a bid of $271,560. The city council set a meeting for Dec. 20 to offically accept one of several bids offered.

Cotton Acreage Releases Close February 27

WINNSBORO (Special) — According to Edward J. LaForge, County office manager of the Franklin Parish ASC office, any farm operator who has a 1961 cotton acreage allotment and who does not plan to plant the allotment or plans to plant only a part of the allotment, may release the unused acreage to the parish ASC committee. Closing date for a farm operator to release all or a part of his 1961 cotton acreage allotment is February 27.

The ASC committee will reapportion the released allotments to other farms in amounts determined to be fair and reasonable on the basis of past acreage of cotton, land, labor, equipment available for production of cotton, crop rotation practices, and soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton.

LaForge explained that if a farmer does not plant or release at least 75 per cent of his 1961 cotton allotment the farm history will be reduced and the farm will have a smaller 1962 cotton allotment established for it.

Market Road Takes Sugar Bowl Event

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Market Road, a good-looking 2-year-old owned by Texan Dan Logan, rallied in the stretch Saturday to win the $10,000 Sugar Bowl Handicap at the Fair Grounds.

Jockey Johnny Heckmann rode the Logan color bearer, who came from fifth place to post a one-length victory and pick up the winner's check of $6,500.

Bull Story, owned by William Resseguit and Ben Weiner of New Orleans, finished second and Joe Gavegnano's King of Kentucky was third.

The 12,931 fans sent Market Road to the post as the even money favorite and he returned $4, $2.80 and $2.20. Bull Story, the second choice of the holiday crowd paid $3.40 and $2.60. King of Kentucky paid $2.60.

Heckmann had a tight rein on Market Road as a 13-1 shot, Mecom Blue, cut out the early pace. Heckmann turned Market Road loose as the field headed for home and the big colt was pulling away at the end of the 6-furlong sprint.

Market Road negotiated the distance in 1:13 2-5 over a muddy track. It was sixth victory in 12 outings this year and boosted his earnings to a shade above $24,000. The triumph also stamped the colt as a serious contender for the $40,000 added Louisiana Derby which colses the Fair Ground season next March.

Dallas Pros Will Renew Court Fight

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Texans and the Dallas Cowboys have been ordered to renew their off-gridiron rivalry next March—in a courtroom.

Judge Dick Dixon, head of the 5th Civil Court of Appeals, ruled Friday the Cowboys' contract battle with Texan defensive star Jimmy Harris will go another round March 3.

Harris, a former member of the National Football League's Los Angeles Rams, was traded to the Cowboys in July. The Dallas NFL entry swapped its fifth choice at the recent league draft meeting for the former Oklahoma quarterback.

Harris, in the meantime, had signed to play with the Texans, this city's entry in the American Football League. The Cowboys went to court to dispute Harris' contract with the Texans. Harris was temporarily banned from playing football for anyone until the dispute could be settled.

Harris appealed the playing ban and won the contract dispute before the appeal was decided. The appeals court, in light of Harris' victory, said the injunction was off and Harris started playing in the AFL.

The Cowboys' appeal of the contract dispute decision appeared Friday before Judge Dixon. The judge changed his mind and decided the ban against Harris was back in effect.

To settle the whole issue he ordered everything rolled up into one case and told both sides to prepare for battle in March.

BOWL ROUNDUP

Experts Favor Ark., Ole Miss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri over Navy, Minnesota over Washington, Arkansas over Duke, and Mississippi over Rice, in each case, by about one touchdown.

That's the way the experts see the four big college football bowl games Monday that will draw almost a half million spectators, headed by President-elect Kennedy.

For stay-at-home television fans it will be a flickering parade of footballs starting at 1 p.m., EST, with the Orange Bowl (Missouri vs. Navy) over CBS and winding up somewhere around 8 p.m. with the finish of the Rose Bowl (Minnesota vs. Washington) over NBC. The Rose Bowl starts at 5 p.m.

In between these two are the Sugar Bowl (Rice vs. Mississippi) at 2 p.m. over NBC and the Cotton Bowl (Arkansas vs. Duke) at 3:30 p.m. over CBS.

The big four New Year's Day games actually are being contested on the second day of the new year because Jan. 1 falls on a Sunday.

All-American reputations will be put to the test.

In the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., a 103,000 sellout, there are no less than three in action—Tom Brown, the giant lineman of Minnesota from the Big Ten, center Roy McKasson of Washington, and a 1959 star who was injured early in the season and finally has returned to action — Bob Schloredt, Washington's great quarterback who must be rated as the unknown and possibly explosive factor in this biggest of all bowl games.

In the Orange Bowl at Miami, where the President-elect is expected in the crowd of 76,000, there are two — Joe Bellino of Navy, the fancy-running halfback who won the Heisman award, and Dan LaRose, Missouri's big end.

Kennedy, an avid practitioner of touch football, is expected to sit on the Navy side of the field in his capacity as a World War II Navy veteran.

In the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, where the crowd could hit 81,000, there is Mississippi's Jack Gibbs, a top passer, kicker, runner, and field general. Rice, the underdog, has a solid team but nothing to match Gibbs and in this game alone of the big four the point margin favoring Mississippi is 10. In the other three cases it is 6½ or 7.

In the Cotton Bowl at Dallas there are no first team All-Americas, but a lively game is forecast between Arkansas, the favorite, and Duke and a crowd of 75,000 or more is expected. Arkansas will give away considerable poundage to its rival but should more than make up for this with speed and aggression.

Five Sugar Champs To Defend Titles

By DAVID ZINMAN

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Young Dyrol Burleson, the University of Oregon's NCAA 1,500-meter titlist, heads a list of five meet champions defending their laurels in the Sugar Bowl invitational track and field meet Sunday.

The annual winter outdoor meet has attracted some 70 athletes for seven running and hurdling events and the pole vault.

They toe the mark for the opening race on City Park's quarter-mile cinder oval at 2 p.m. (CST).

The 20-year-old Burleson, whose 3:48.5 1,500-meter effort broke the Sugar Bowl record last year, is back in the metric mile against a crowded 10-man field.

Stiff competition is expected from Oregon teammates Archie San Romani Jr., whose father won the Sugar Bowl mile in 1936 and the 1,500-meters in 1939, and George Larson, a late entrant, and ex-Stanford distance star Ernie Cunliffe.

But Burleson, rated on his 1960 Olympic 1,500-meters 6th place clocking of 3:40.9 which has been recognized as the American citizens record, is the man to beat.

Other returning 1960 Sugar Bowl winners are NCAA and AAU cross-country champion Al Lawrence in the 5,000-meter run; Eddie Southern, former Texas star now in the Air Force, in the 400-meters; Rex Cawley, fleet Southern California sophomore, in the 110-meter high hurdles; and Jim Graham, former Oklahoma State standout, in the pole vault.

The 100-meter dash, which has no returning champion, has a field of eight that includes Southwest Conference champion Ralph Alspaugh of the Austin A. C., British sprint Olympian Dave Segal of Furman, and Southern AAU champ Dave Styron of Southern Illinois.

Styron's twin, Don, who holds the world's 200-meter low hurdles mark of 21.9, is in the 110-meters high hurdles.

Another nationally-known athlete, AAU pole vault champion Aubreay Dooley of Oklahoma University but competing unattached, is entered in his specialty.

Many college athletes compete unattached or for athletic clubs in the Sugar Bowl meet because of conference rules.

Best, Worst In World Of Sports

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The best — and some of the worst — in the world of sports in 1960:

THE BEST

Bill Mazeroski's ninth inning homer that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates the World Series clincher against the New York Yankees.

Floyd Patterson's fifth-round knockout of Ingemar Johansson to become the first heavyweight champion to regain his crown.

Russia's two Olympic teams, winter and summer, loaded with scoring power.

Arnold Palmer's closing rounds to win the Masters (birdies on the last two holes) and the U.S. Open (a 65.)

The National League in downing the American League in both All-Star games.

U. S. Olympic hockey victory over Russia — and eventual gold medal at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Shot putter Bill Neider, named as an alternate to the Olympic team after failing to qualify because of an injury, coming through to lead a 1-2-3 U. S. sweep at Rome.

U. S. Olympic swimmers, who made a tremendous comeback after losing out to the Aussies four years before.

Bobby Richardson of the Yanks in the World Series: he set a record of six runs-batted-in in one game and another for a total of 12 RBI's in a series.

Young Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Rafael Osuna of Mexico winning the Wimbledon Tennis doubles.

The U. S. Basketball team in every game here and abroad.

Norm Van Brocklin of the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football League playoff against Green Bay.

Washington's Huskies against Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl.

Jack Nicklaus and others on the U. S. team who won the world golf championship by 42 shots; Nicklaus was 11 under for 72 holes.

THE WORST

The incredible wrangling over major league baseball expansion and, in particular, the American League's haste to get into the act a year ahead (1961) of the National.

The air crash at Toledo that killed 16 members of the California Polytechnic College football team.

Squabbles over "wine, women and song" at the summer Olympics and reaction to an exposure of discontent among U. S. speed skaters in the winter games.

The pro football war, including singing college stars under the goal posts after their final collegiate games.

Just about everything that happened in boxing outside the ring.

The defeat of world record holder John Thomas by two little-known Russians in the Olympic high jump.

Virginia's oft-beaten football team.

U. S. Defeat by Italy in the inter-zone Davis Cup meets.

The Kansas City Athletics who lost more games (one more than the Phillies) than any other major league club.

And, last for emphasis, the sudden exit from baseball of the colorful Casey Stengel.

SUGAR AND SPICE, Ole Miss and Rice. That's the lineup for Monday's Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The sugar and spice is Miss Millie Sue Riordan, the 1961 queen of the Sugar Bowl. Miss Riordan, of Bernice, La., claims no favorite. (AP Wirephoto)

FOREST, IRISH FAVORED

Ouachita Meet Opens Thursday

Northeast Louisiana's top-rated cage quintets — Forest and St. Matthew's — are favored to renew their hot 1960-61 series in the finals of the Ouachita Tournament Saturday night.

Ouachita's annual basketball scramble begins here Thursday. Nine teams are entered in the boys division and eight in the girls bracket.

Forest, a strong class B outfit, and St. Matthew's, defending class A state champion, have met twice this season and each came up with a victory. Arlan Adams' Forest five tripped St. Matthew's easily, 80-65, here in early season and then Jim Mahoney's Irishmen swept to a 65-53 victory in the finals of the Bastrop Tournament.

Both teams must clear some big hurdles before reaching the Ouachita finals, however. St. Matthew's has a tough opening test in Jerry Lovett's always-tough Calhoun club. The two teams meet at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Forest faces Quitman in its first-round contest at 2:15 Friday and then could run into the host team, blowing strong after an early December slump.

Coaching the mile and 70 yards ... Coach Herb Holliman's Ouachita team draws a bye, then faces the West Monroe-Winnsboro winner. If Ouachita and Forest win their first games, they'll meet in the semifinals.

If St. Matthew's can handle Calhoun, the Irish will face the Neville-Grayson winner in the semifinals.

Eight teams are entered in the girls division, West Monroe, Quitman, Calhoun, Baskin, Neville, Chatham, Winnsboro and Ouachita.

The tournament opener will be the 4:15 meeting between Neville and Chatham girls Thursday. Other Thursday games are Calhoun vs. Baskin girls at 5:30, Ouachita vs. Winnsboro girls at 6:45 and the Calhoun-St. Matthew's boys tilt.

Six games are scheduled Friday. West Monroe and Winnsboro boys meet in the first one at 1 o'clock, Quitman plays Forest at 2:15, Neville and Grayson tangle at 3:30 and West Monroe and Quitman girls match shots at 5:30.

A girls semifinal between the winners of the Chatham-Neville and Ouachita - Winnsboro games is slated for 6:45 and the Ouachita boys face the West Monroe-Winnsboro victor at 8.

A girls semifinal between the West Monroe-Quitman and Calhoun-Baskin winners is set for 11:15 Saturday with the two boys semifinals scheduled for 12:30 and 1:45. Consolation games will start at 5:15 and 6:30 and the finals at 7:45 and 9.

Ouachita will warm up for the tourney with a Tuesday night home game against 1-AAA for Fair Park.

Kings Song By Nose In Miami Run

MIAMI (AP) — L. Chester's Kings Song set the pace until inside the 16th pole, lost the lead temporarily to Wheatley Stable's Royal Record, then came on in the last 70 yards to win by a nose the $11,900 City of Miami Beach Allowance Stakes for 2-year-olds at Tropical Park Saturday.

Royal Record, urged by Bill Hartack, finished four lengths ahead of Meadow Stable's Tillman, with Audrey Farm's Shy Boy fourth, three quarters of a length back. Tillman was an entry with Cross County.

Covering the mile and 70 yards in 1:43 over a fast track, Kings Song paid $12.80, $7.80 and $6.10. Royal Record paid $9.70 and $7.30 and Tillman $7.40.

The victory was worth a net of $7,610 to the winner.

A crowd of 11,310 watched the field of 14 in its final race as 2-year-olds.

Jockey William Zakoor got Kings Song away fast and with good challenges all the way. First it was Royal Record pressing the leader and then Mrs. Mable McCable's Scotch Bull.

Shy Boy came up from third to displace Scotch Bull under the heels of Kings Song, and held that position until Royal Record under a driving ride by Hartack came on to get his nose in front in the final sixteenth, only to have Kings Song surge ahead to poke his nose under the wire first.

Tillman made a good race of it, being in contention throughout until it became a two-horse race in the final sixteenth.

It was Kings Song's third straight victory but the first time he had been asked to go for 6 furlongs. He carried 113 pounds, three over his assigned weight.

J. Graham Brown's On His Metal and Scotch Bull were top weighed at 123.

More Rain Falls On Houston Turf

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — More than an inch of rain fell Saturday but the Weather Bureau was optimistic about kickoff-time conditions for Sunday's American Football League championship game between Los Angeles and Houston.

It was the fifth consecutive day of rain for the uncovered Jeppesen Public School Stadium field, but Sunday afternoon's forecast includes clearing weather and a high temperature of 60 degrees.

Jeppesen officials, however, were not optimistic about turf conditions. The annual Prairie View Bowl was to be played on the muddy field Saturday night.

Baltimore Inks Ohio State Star

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts Friday night signed back Tom Matte of Ohio State, their No. 1 draft pick, to a National Football League contract.

Matte, fifth draft choice of the New York Titans in the rival American Football League, is listed to start at quarterback for the East against the West Saturday in the Shrine All-Star Game at San Francisco.

The Colts are hoping the 6-foot, 190-pound Buckeye will help them as a halfback. His totals at Ohio State include 161 rushes for 682 yards and 50 completions in 95 pass attempts for 737 yards and eight touchdowns.

Oilers Choice In AFL Title Game Today

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers, riding a four-game winning streak, meet the Houston Oilers Sunday in the first championship game of the American Football League.

Despite equal records for the two division champions, Houston is a 6½-point favorite for the nationally televised game (ABC-TV, 3:30 p.m. EST).

A sudden death overtime will be used to settle the championship should the regulation 60 minutes end in a tie.

Four days of rain since Tuesday slowed pre-game ticket sales for the 35,500-seat Jeppesen High School Stadium but all proceeds will go to the players—60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers.

Both teams wrapped up division crowns with 10-4 records. Houston was never headed after jumping to a 5-1 early start. Los Angeles had its early troubles but won eight of its last nine games.

Los Angeles holds a 2-1 edge over the Oilers after two league games and an early exhibition, but the Charger point edge is only 74-72.

Sunday's battle has been billed as a rematch between two fine passers, Jack Kemp of Los Angeles and George Blanda of Houston, but both coaches have indicated they have placed increased emphasis on their ground attacks while preparing for the title showdown.

Sid Gillman of Los Angeles sought to improve the blocking for Paul Lowe, swift halfback who enters the game with a 6.3-yard rushing average, the best in the league.

Houston's Lou Rymkus has mapped strategy he hopes will shake loose two fine Oiler runners, Billy Cannon and Dave Smith.

Kemp is a youngster compared to Blanda but finished the regular 14-game season as the league's finest passer. The former Occidental star, a pro four years, threw 20 touchdown passes while completing 211 of 407 attempts for a .518 average.

Blanda, the former Chicago Bear scoring leader, came out of retirement to lead the Oilers to the Eastern Division title. He ranked No. 7 among passers in final league standings but threw more touchdown passes and fewer interceptions than Kemp.

In his 11th year as a pro, Blanda completed 168 of 363 passes for 2,353 yards and 24 touchdowns and a .464 average. He had 22 interceptions to 25 for Kemp but an ankle injury caused him to miss two games and most of two others.

Lowe, formerly of Oregon State, was the league's No. 2 rusher. His 855 yards on 136 carries left him 20 yards behind Abner Haynes, the Dallas Texan rookie.

Cannon and Smith ranked No. 5 and No. 6, each with 4.3-yard averages. Cannon, the 1959 Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State, overtook Smith in the final game of the season. Cannon finished with 644 yards in 152 plays, Smith, from Ripon College, had 643 in 154.

Los Angeles won the early exhibition, 22-13, but four touchdown passes by Kemp did not prevent the Oilers from taking a Sept. 18 league game, 38-28. On Nov. 13, the day Blanda injured his knee, the Chargers got revenge, 24-21, at Los Angeles.

The Chargers were to be in top physical condition, but injuries continued to plague Houston. A knee injury sent Jerry Helluin, a starting Oiler defensive tackle, to the inactive list this week. Injuries continued to bother two Oiler offensive starters, John Carson, an end, and Bob Talamini, a guard.

Texans Rout Arkansas Tech By 45-14 Count

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—Sophomore halfback Butch Pressley scored four touchdowns Saturday to lead spirited Texas A&I to a smashing 45-14 victory over fumbling Arkansas Tech in the first Great Southwest football bowl.

Pressley, a powerfully built 185-pounder, scored on runs of 4, 10, 7, and 3 yards to pace the favored Javelinas to a lopsided triumph over the previously unbeaten "Wonder Boys."

Thick black clouds hovered over the stadium in early rains, which soaked the field Friday night, never returned. A crowd of 3,900 turned out.

The Javelinas, in addition to the sparkling runs of Pressley, stunned the helpless Wonder Boys with a rugged defense and the smashing run of Harold Hees, Sid Blanks and Tommy Janik.

A&I, the Lone Star Conference champions, wound up the season with an 8-1 record. The loss, Tech's first, completed its campaign at 10-1.

A fumble on the opening kickoff opened the door for the onrushing Javelinas and they moved to a 17-0 lead in the first period. This they increased to 31-0 at halftime and both teams later tallied twice in the second half.

Boudreau Signs New Radio Pact

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Halfback Ray Purdin of Northwestern was chosen the outstanding player in Saturday's Blue-Gray game. Bernie Allen, Purdue quarterback, was second.

Purdin caught two touchdown passes and ran a punt back 58 yards for another score as the Blue whipped the Gray 35-7.

Harold Beaty of Oklahoma State won the acclaim of sports writers as the best Yankee defensive player. Bo Strange of Louisiana State was picked best on defense for the South.

Wake Forest quarterback Norman Snead was chosen outstanding Southern player on offense.

Baylor Gambles For Two-Pointer

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Baylor missed a go-for-broke two-point conversion attempt in the closing seconds Saturday and Florida won a 13-12 thriller in the 16th Gator Bowl football game.

Baylor, led by quarterbacks Bobby Ply and Ronnie Stanley, almost pulled out the victory after Florida built a 13-0 lead, but a conversion try by Larry Corley failed after the first touchdown, and Ply's pass conversion attempt Goodwin's fingertips after the second touchdown as time was running out.

Florida guard Chet Collins recovered a Baylor fumble and induced another with a jolting tackle, each recovery led to a Gator touchdown in the second quarter.

But Baylor wouldn't concede, and the Bears from the Southwest Conference struck by air on the passes of Ply and Stanley for two touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Ply hurled 11 yards to Goodwin for the first, and halfback Ronnie Bull scored the second from the 3 after a Stanley-to-Goodwin pass covered 40 yards in the final minute.

Fullback Don Goodman scored Florida's first touchdown on a three-yard plunge five plays after Collins recovered Bull's fumble at the Baylor 30.

Most of the yardage in the scoring drive went to wee Larry Libertore, Florida's 138-pound quarterback. End Bill Cash kicked the conversion that proved to be the margin of victory.

The second Florida touchdown came easily after the Gators had an apparent score nullified by an illegal motion penalty. That drive was checked at the Baylor 2 when tackle Pete Nicklas blocked Cash's field goal attempt.

Collins separated Stanley from the ball at the Baylor goal line and Larry Travis recovered in the end zone for a 13-0 Florida lead.

A record crowd of 50,112 fans saw Baylor come back magnificently in the second half. Ply did most of the Baylor passing with Goodwin his favorite target.

Statistics

	Baylor	Florida

Yards rushing	60	178
Yards passing	211	37
Passes	13-27	5-6
Passes intercepted by	0	0
Punts	8-33	7-37
Fumbles lost	2	1
Yards penalized	5	70

Florida made a furious stand on the goal line in the first quarter after Ply's pitches guided the Bears 74 yards. Leading the Florida defensive heroics were center Bill Hood, guard Vic Miranda and tackle Jim Beaver.

Libertore and Ply won the games most valuable player awards, but Miranda pushed the Florida sophomore for his silverware.

Ply, who played second fiddle all season to Stanley, completed 12 of 24 passes for 162 yards. Baylor amassed 211 air yards, but Miranda, Collins, Hood, Beaver and associates restricted the Bears to 60 yards on the ground.

Florida's victory, ninth in 11 games during 1960 for the Southeastern Conference Gators, was a sparkling 42nd birthday present for Coach Ray Graves, who made his head coaching debut this year after many seasons as a Georgia Tech assistant.

Baylor's fierce rebound keyed players on both teams to fever beat, and a brief flurry of fisticuffs interrupted play a few seconds before the game ended.

Libertore led the individual rushing parade with 61 yards in 14 carries, but Bull almost caught the tiny Florida squirmer when he raced 28 yards to the Florida 43 to get Baylor's first touchdown drive in high gear. Bull wound up with 53 yards and also carried 14 times.

'Statement Of Purpose' To Be Discussed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Five legislative proposals concerning athletic recruiting and financial aids, and a "statement of purpose" further implementing the NCAA get tough policy come up for debate during the annual week of the big wheels in college sports.

The week, which embraces the annual conventions of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the American Football Coaches Association and a half dozen other groups, gets under way Friday and runs through Wednesday, Jan. 11.

The NCAA legislation will be acted upon at the business session the final day.

More than 2,200 coaches, athletic directors, faculty representatives and others are expected to attend. Also meeting here are the American Association of College Baseball Coaches, the college athletic business managers, college sports information directors, college track coaches, the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

With the recent hiring of Tom Harp to replace Lefty James at Cornell, only three major college football coaching jobs remain unfilled.

Georgia is seeking a replacement for retiring Wally Butts. Virginia has to find successors to Dick Voris as football coach and Gus Tebell as athletic director and Cincinnati needs a coach to take George Blackburn's place.

Most controversial bit of NCAA legislation concerns a national pre-registration service, akin to the "letters of intent" employed in several conferences. This, if adopted, would bar colleges from approaching an athlete who already had signified his intention of attending another school. The proposal includes numerical limits on the number of pre-registration certificates a college could use each year.

Other subjects for discussion and possible action include a couple of proposals for changes in the football rules, a change in the starting date for football practice to Sept. 1 or 16 days before the first scheduled game, instead of two weeks before the first day of classes.

Redskins Sign Norman Snead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Redskins Friday signed their top draft choice, quarterback Norman Snead of Wake Forest, to a 1961 contract in the National Football League.

Snead, one of the best passers in college football during his three years at Wake Forest, is being counted on to help revive the Redskins, who won only one game this season.

He'll be seen in action Saturday as quarterback for the Gray team against the Blue in the annual Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala.

Stream, Lake Pollution Hit By Organization

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP) — The Izaak Walton League says lake and stream pollution is costing the nation's sportsmen millions of fishing trips every year.

Results of a survey made public Saturday by the national outdoor organization showed fishermen in 41 per cent of its local chapters considered recreation waters near their homes inadequate. Thirty-nine per cent termed their lakes and streams adequate, 20 per cent rated them superior.

Executive Director Frank Gregg said league members surveyed said they would take 13 additional local fishing trips annually if waters were "cleaned up." Applying the figure to the nation's 30 million anglers, he said, means pollution is depriving fishermen of 390 million outings a year.

This recreation loss, Gregg concluded, "makes it unmistakably clear that pollution of our limited water resource is a short-sighted luxury the nation cannot afford."

Dallas AFL Club Inks Texas Tech Star E. J. Holub

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — E. J. Holub, Texas Tech center, has signed with the Dallas Texans of the American Football League, Texan owner Lamar Hunt announced Saturday.

Hunt said Holub, playing Saturday in the East-West game at San Francisco, telephoned him Friday night that he will play with the Texans.

Hunt thus was winning part of his battle of the checkbook with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, who also had drafted Holub.

Bob Lilly, Texas Christian tackle, signed with the Cowboys after being drafted by the Texans. Lilly will receive $15,000 a year, it was learned.

Florida Wins Gator Bowl, 13 - 12

Market Road Takes Sugar Bowl Event

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Market Road, a good-looking 2-year-old owned by Texan Dan Logan, rallied in the stretch Saturday to win the $10,000 Sugar Bowl Handicap at the Fair Grounds.

Jockey Johnny Heckmann rode the Logan color bearer, who came from fifth place to post a one-length victory and pick up the winner's check of $6,500.

Bull Story, owned by William Ressegut and Ben Weiner of New Orleans, finished second and Joe Gavegnano's King of Kentucky was third.

The 12,931 fans sent Market Road to the post as the even money favorite and he returned $4, $2.80 and $2.20. Bull Story, the second choice of the holiday crowd paid $3.40 and $2.60. King of Kentucky paid $2.60.

Heckmann had a tight rein on Market Road as a 13-1 shot, Mecom Blue, cut out the early pace.

Heckmann turned Market Road loose as the field headed for home and the big colt was pulling away at the end of the 6-furlong sprint.

Market Road negotiated the distance in 1:13 2-5 over a muddy track. It was sixth victory in 12 outings this year and boosted his earnings to a shade above $24,000. The triumph also stamped the colt as a serious contender for the $40,000 added Louisiana Derby which colses the Fair Ground season next March.

Dallas Pros Will Renew Court Fight

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Texans and the Dallas Cowboys have been ordered to renew their off-gridiron rivalry next March—in a courtroom.

Judge Dick Dixon, head of the 5th Civil Court of Appeals, ruled Friday the Cowboys' contract battle with Texan defensive star Jimmy Harris will go another round March 3.

Harris, a former member of the National Football League's Los Angeles Rams, was traded to the Cowboys in July. The Dallas NFL entry swapped its fifth choice at the recent league draft meeting for the former Oklahoma quarterback.

Harris, in the meantime, had signed to play with the Texans, this city's entry in the American Football League. The Cowboys went to court to dispute Harris' contract with the Texans. Harris was temporarily banned from playing football for anyone until the dispute could be settled.

Harris appealed the playing ban against him but won the contract dispute before the appeal was decided. The appeals court, in light of Harris' victory, said the injunction was off and Harris started playing in the AFL.

The Cowboys' appeal of the contract dispute decision appeared Friday before Judge Dixon. The judge changed his mind and decided the ban against Harris was back in effect.

To settle the whole issue he ordered everything rolled up into one case and told both sides to prepare for battle in March.

BOWL ROUNDUP

Experts Favor Ark., Ole Miss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri over Navy, Minnesota over Washington, Arkansas over Duke, and Mississippi over Rice, in each case, by about one touchdown.

That's the way the experts see the four big college football bowl games Monday that will draw almost a half million spectators, headed by President-elect Kennedy.

For stay-at-home television fans it will be a flickering parade of footballs starting at 1 p.m., EST, with the Orange Bowl (Missouri vs. Navy) over CBS and winding up somewhere around 8 p.m. with the finish of the Rose Bowl (Minnesota vs. Washington) over NBC. The Rose Bowl starts at 5 p.m.

In between these two are the Sugar Bowl (Rice vs. Mississippi) at 2 p.m. over NBC and the Cotton Bowl (Arkansas vs. Duke) at 3:30 p.m. over CBS.

The big four New Year's Day games actually are being contested on the second day of the new year because Jan. 1 falls on a Sunday.

All-American reputations will be put to the test.

In the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., a 103,000 sellout, there are no less than three in action—Tom Brown, the giant lineman of Minnesota from the Big Ten, center Roy McKasson of Washington, and a 1959 star who was injured early in the season and finally has returned to action — Bob Schloredt, Washington's great quarterback who must be rated as the unknown and possibly explosive factor in this biggest of all bowl games.

In the Orange Bowl at Miami, where the President-elect is expected in the crowd of 76,000, there are two — Joe Bellino of Navy, the fancy-running halfback who won the Heisman award, and Dan LaRose, Missouri's big end.

Kennedy, an avid practitioner of touch football, is expected to sit on the Navy side of the field in his capacity as a World War II Navy veteran.

In the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, where the crowd could hit 81,000, there is Mississippi's Jack Gibbs, a top passer, kicker, runner, and field general. Rice, the underdog, has a solid team but nothing to match Gibbs and in this game alone of the big four the point margin favoring Mississippi is 10. In the other three cases it is 6½ or 7.

In the Cotton Bowl at Dallas there are no first team All-Americas, but a lively game is forecast between Arkansas, the favorite, and Duke and a crowd of 75,000 or more is expected. Arkansas wil give away considerable poundage to its rival but should more than make up for this with speed and aggression.

Five Sugar Champs To Defend Titles

By DAID ZINMAN

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Young Dyrol Burleson, the University of Oregon's NCAA 1,500-meter titlist, heads a list of five meet champions defending their laurels in the Sugar Bowl invitational track and field meet Sunday.

The annual winter outdoor meet has attracted some 70 athletes for seven running and hurdling events and the pole vault.

They toe the mark for the opening race on City Park's quarter-mile cinder oval at 2 p.m. (CST).

The 20-year-old Burleson, whose 3:48.5 1,500-meter effort broke the Sugar Bowl record last year, is back in the metric mile against a crowded 10-man field.

Stiff competition is expected from Oregon teammates Archie San Romani Jr., whose father won the Sugar Bowl mile in 1936 and the 1,500-meters in 1939, and George Larson, a late entrant, and ex-Stanford distance star Ernie Cunliffe.

But Burleson, rated on his 1960 Olympic 1,500-meters 6th place clocking of 3:40.9 which has been recognized as the American citizens record, is the man to beat.

Other returning 1960 Sugar Bowl winners are NCAA and AAU cross-country champion Al Lawrence in the 5,000-meter run; Eddie Southern, former Texas star now in the Air Force, in the 400-meters; Rex Cawley, fleet Southern California sophomore, in the 110-meter high hurdles; and Jim Graham, former Oklahoma State standout, in the pole vault.

The 100-meter dash, which has no returning champion, has a field of eight that includes Southwest Conference champion Ralph Alspaugh of the Austin A. C., British sprint Olympian Dave Segal of Furman, and Southern AAU champ Dave Styron of Southern Illinois.

Styron's twin, Don, who holds the world's 200-meter low hurdles mark of 21.?, is in the 110-meters high hurdles.

Another nationally-known athlete, AAU pole vault champion Aubreay Dooley of Oklahoma University but competing unattached, is entered in his specialty.

Many college athletes compete unattached or for athletic clubs in the Sugar Bowl meet because of conference rules.

SUGAR AND SPICE, Ole Miss and Rice. That's the lineup for Monday's Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The sugar and spice is Miss Millie Sue Riordan, the 1961 queen of the Sugar Bowl. Miss Riordan, of Bernice, La., claims no favorite. (AP Wirephoto)

FOREST, IRISH FAVORED

Ouachita Meet Opens Thursday

Northeast Louisiana's top-rated cage quintets — Forest and St. Matthew's — are favored to renew their hot 1960-61 series in the finals of the Ouachita Tournament Saturday night.

Ouachita's annual basketball scramble begins here Thursday. Nine teams are entered in the boys division and eight in the girls bracket.

Forest, a strong class B outfit, and St. Matthew's, defending class A state champion, have met twice this season and each came up with a victory. Arlan Adams' Forest five tripped St. Matthew's easily, 80-65, here in early season and then Jim Mahoney's Irishmen swept to a 65-53 victory in the finals of the Bastrop Tournament.

Both teams must clear some big hurdles before reaching the Ouachita finals, however. St. Matthew's has a tough opening test in Jerry Lovett's always-tough Calhoun club. The two teams meet at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

Forest faces Quitman in its first-round contest at 2:15 Friday and then could run into the host team, blowing strong after an early December slump.

Coach Herb Holliman's Ouachita team draws a bye, then faces the West Monroe-Winnsboro winner. If Ouachita and Forest win their first games, they'll meet in the semifinals.

If St. Matthew's can handle Calhoun, the Irish will face the Neville-Grayson winner in the semifinals.

Eight teams are entered in the girls division, West Monroe, Quitman, Calhoun, Baskin, Neville, Chatham, Winnsboro and Ouachita.

The tournament opener will be the 4:15 meeting between Neville and Chatham girls Thursday. Other Thursday games are Calhoun vs. Baskin girls at 5:30, Ouachita vs. Winnsboro girls at 6:45 and the Calhoun-St. Matthew's boys tilt.

Six games are scheduled Friday. West Monroe and Winnsboro boys meet in the first one at 1 o'clock, Quitman plays Forest at 2:15, Neville and Grayson tangle at 3:30 and West Monroe and Quitman girls match shots at 5:30.

A girls semifinal between the winners of the Chatham-Neville and Ouachita - Winnsboro games is slated for 6:45 and the Ouachita boys face the West Monroe-Winnsboro victor at 8.

A girls semifinal between the West Monroe-Quitman and Calhoun-Baskin winners is set for 11:15 Saturday with the two boys semifinals scheduled for 12:30 and 1:45. Consolation games will start at 5:15 and 6:30 and the finals at 7:45 and 9.

Ouachita will warm up for the tourney with a Tuesday night home game against 1-AAA for Fair Park.

Kings Song By Nose In Miami Run

MIAMI (AP) — L. Chester's Kings Song set the pace until inside the 16th pole, lost the lead temporarily to Wheatley Stable's Royal Record, then came on in the last 70 yards to win by a nose the $11,900 City of Miami Beach Allowance Stakes for 2 year-olds at Tropical Park Saturday.

Royal Record, urged by Bill Hartack, finished four lengths ahead of Meadow Stable's Tillman, with Audrey Farm's Shy Boy fourth, three quarters of a length back. Tillman was an entry with Cross County.

Coverng the mile and 70 yards in 1:43 over a fast track, Kings Song paid $12.80, $7.80 and $6.10. Royal Record paid $9.70 and $7.30 and Tillman $7.40.

The victory was worth a net of $7,610 to the winner.

A crowd of 11,310 watched the field of 14 in its final race as 2-year-olds.

Jockey William Zakoor got Kings Song away fast and with good challenges all the way. First it was Royal Record pressing the leader and then Mrs. Mable McCable's Scotch Bull.

Shy Boy came up from third to displace Scotch Bull under the heels of Kings Song, and held that position until Royal Record under a driving ride by Hartack came on to get his nose in front in the final sixteenth, only to have Kings Song surge ahead to poke his nose under the wire first.

Tillman made a good race of it, being in contention throughout until it became a two-horse race in the final sixteenth.

It was Kings Song's third straight victory but the first time he had been asked to go for the 6 furlongs. He carried 113 pounds, three over his assigned weight.

J. Graham Brown's On His Metal and Scotch Bull were top weighed at 123.

More Rain Falls On Houston Turf

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — More than an inch of rain fell Saturday but the Weather Bureau was optimistic about kickoff-time conditions for Sunday's American Football League championship game between Los Angeles and Houston.

It was the fifth consecutive day of rain for the uncovered Jeppesen Public School Stadium field, but Sunday afternoon's forecast includes clearing weather and a high temperature of 60 degrees.

Jeppesen officials, however, were not optimistic about turf conditions. The annual Prairie View Bowl was to be played on the muddy field Saturday night.

Baltimore Inks Ohio State Star

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts Friday night signed back Tom Matte of Ohio State, their No. 1 draft pick, to a National Football League contract.

Matte, fifth draft choice of the New York Titans in the rival American Football League, is listed to start at quarterback for the East against the West Saturday in the Shrine All-Star Game at San Francisco.

The Colts are hoping the 6-foot, 190-pound Buckeye will help them as a halfback. His totals at Ohio State include 161 rushes for 682 yards and 50 completions in 95 pass attempts for 737 yards and eight touchdowns.

Oilers Choice In AFL Title Game Today

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers, riding a four-game winning streak, meet the Houston Oilers Sunday in the first championship game of the American Football League.

Despite equal records for the two division champions, Houston is a 6½-point favorite for the nationally televised game (ABC-TV, 3:30 p.m. EST).

A sudden death overtime will be used to settle the championship should the regulation 60 minutes end in a tie.

Four days of rain since Tuesday slowed pre-game ticket sales for the 35,500-seat Jeppesen High School Stadium but all proceeds will go to the players—60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers.

Both teams wrapped up division crowns with 10-4 records. Houston was never headed after jumping to a 5-1 early start. Los Angeles had its early troubles but won eight of its last nine games.

Los Angeles holds a 2-1 edge over the Oilers after two league games and an early exhibition, but the Charger point edge is only 74-72.

Sunday's battle has been billed as a rematch between two fine passers, Jack Kemp of Los Angles and George Blanda of Houston, but both coaches have indicated they have placed increased emphasis on their ground attacks while preparing for the title showdown.

Sid Gillman of Los Angeles sought to improve the blocking for Paul Lowe, swift halfback who enters the game with a 6.3-yard rushing average, the best in the league.

Houston's Lou Rymkus has mapped strategy he hopes will shake loose two fine Oiler runners, Billy Cannon and Dave Smith.

Kemp is a youngster compared to Blanda but finished the regular 14-game season as the league's finest passer. The former Occidental star, a pro four years, threw 20 touchdown passes while completing 211 of 407 attempts for a .518 average.

Blanda, the former Chicago Bear scoring leader, came out of retirement to lead the Oilers to the Eastern Division title. He ranked No. 7 among passers in final league standings but threw more touchdown passes and had fewer interceptions than Kemp.

In his 11th year as a pro, Blanda completed 168 of 362 passes for 2,393 yards and 24 touchdowns and a .464 average. He had 22 interceptions to 25 for Kemp but an ankle injury caused him to miss two games and most of two others.

Lowe, formerly of Oregon State, was the league's No. 2 rusher. His 855 yards on 156 carries left him 20 yards behind Abner Haynes, the Dallas Texan rookie.

Cannon and Smith ranked No. 3 and No. 4, each with 4.2-yard averages. Cannon, the 1959 Heisman Trophy winner from Louisiana State, overtook Smith in the final game of the season. Cannon fished with 644 yards in 152 plays. Smith, from Ripon College, had 643 in 154.

Los Angeles won the early exhibition, 22-13, but four touchdown passes by Kemp did not prevent the Oilers from taking a Sept. 18 league game, 38-28. On Nov. 13, the day Blanda injured his knee, the Chargers got revenge, 24-21, at Los Angeles.

The Chargers were to be in top physical condition, but injuries continued to plague Houston. A knee injury sent Jerry Helluin, a starting Oiler defensive tackle, to the inactive list this week. Injuries continued to bother two Oiler offensive starters, John Carson, an end, and Bob Talamini, a guard.

Texans Rout Arkansas Tech By 45-14 Count

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—Sophomore halfback Butch Pressley scored four touchdowns Saturday to lead spirited Texas A&I to a smashing 45-14 victory over fumbling Arkansas Tech in the first Great Southwest football bowl.

Pressley, a powerfully built 185-pounder, scored on runs of 4, 10, 7, and 3 yards to pace the favored Javelinas to a lopsided triumph over the previously unbeaten "Wonder Boys."

Thick black clouds hovered over the stadium but rains, which soaked the field Friday night, never returned. A crowd of 3,900 turned out.

The Javelinas, in addition to the sparkling runs of Pressley, stunned the helpless Wonder Boys with a rugged defense and the smashing run of Harold Hees, Sid Blanks and Tommy Janik.

A&I, the Lone Star Conference champions, wound up the season with an 8-1 record. The loss, Tech's first, completed its campaign at 10-1.

A fumble on the opening kickoff opened the door for the onrushing Javelinas and they moved to a 12-0 lead in the first period. This they increased to 31-0 at halftime and both teams later tallied twice in the second half.

Boudreau Signs New Radio Pact

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Halfback Ray Purdin of Northwestern was chosen the outstanding player in Saturday's Blue-Gray game. Bernie Allen, Purdue quarterback, was second.

Purdin caught two touchdown passes and ran a punt back 58 yards for another score as the Blue whipped the Gray 35-7.

Harold Beaty of Oklahoma State won the acclaim of sports writers as the best Yankee defensive player. Bo Strange of Louisiana State was rated best on defense for the South.

Wake Forest quarterback Norman Snead was chosen outstanding Southern player on offense.

Redskins Sign Norman Snead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Redskins Friday signed their top draft choice, quarterback Norman Snead of Wake Forest, to a 1961 contract in the National Football League.

Snead, one of the best passers in college football during his three years, at Wake Forest, is being counted on to help revive the Redskins, who won only one game this season.

He'll be seen in action Saturday as quarterback for the Gray team against the Blue in the annual Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Baylor missed a go-for-broke two-point conversion attempt in the closing seconds Saturday and Florida won a 13-12 thriller in the 16th Gator Bowl football game.

Baylor, led by quarterbacks Bobby Ply and Ronnie Stanley, almost pulled out the victory after Florida built a 13-0 lead, but a conversion try by Larry Corley failed after the first touchdown, and Ply's pass conversion attempt Goodwin's fingertips after the second touchdown as time was running out.

Florida guard Chet Collins recovered a Baylor fumble and induced another with a jolting tackle, each recovery led to a Gator touchdown in the second quarter.

But Baplor wouldn't concede, and the Bears from the Southwest Conference struck by air on the passes of Ply and Stanley for two touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Ply hurled 11 yards to Goodwin for the first, and halfback Ronnie Bull scored the second from the 3 after a Stanley-to-Goodwin pass covered 49 yards in the final minute.

Fullback Don Goodman scored Florida's first touchdown on a three-yard plunge five plays after Collins recovered Bull's fumble at the Baylor 20.

Most of the yardage in the scoring drive went to wee Larry Libertore, Florida's 138-pound quarterback. End Bill Cash kicked the conversion that proved to be the margin of victory.

The second Florida touchdown came easily after the Gators had an apparent score nullified by an illegal motion penalty. That drive was checked at the Baylor 2 when tackle Pete Nicklas blocked Cash's field goal attempt.

Collins separated Stanley from the ball at the Baylor goal line and Larry Travis recovered in the end zone for a 13-0 Florida lead.

A record crowd of 50,112 fans saw Baylor come back magnificently in the second half. Ply did most of the Baylor passing with Goodwin his favorite target.

Statistics

	Baylor	Florida
First downs	15	11
Yards rushing	40	176
Yards passing	211	57
Passes	13-27	5-8
Passes intercepted by	0	0
Punts	5-33	7-37
Fumbles lost	3	1
Yards penalized	5	70

Florida made a furious stand on the goal line in the first quarter after Ply's pitches guided the Bears 74 pards. Leading the Florida defensive heroics were center Bill Hood, guard Vic Miranda and tackle Jim Beaver.

Libertore and Ply won the games most valuable player awards, but Miranda pushed the Florida sophomore for his silverware.

Ply, who played second fiddle all season to Stanley, completed 12 of 24 passes for 162 yards. Baylor amassed 211 air yards, but Miranda, Collins, Hood, Beaver and associates restricted the Bears to 40 yards on the ground.

Florida's victory, ninth in 11 games during 1960 for the Southeastern Conference Gators, was a sparkling 42nd birthday present for Coach Ray Graves, who made his head coaching debut this year after many seasons as a Georgia Tech assistant.

Baylor's fierce rebound keyed players on both teams to fever heat, and a brief flurry of fisticuffs interrupted play a few seconds before the game ended.

Libertore led the individual rushing parade with 61 yards in 14 carries, but Bull almost caught the tiny Florida squirmer when he raced 28 yards to the Florida 43 to get Baylor's first touchdown drive in high gear. Bull wound up with 53 yards and also carried 14 times.

'Statement Of Purpose' To Be Discussed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Five legislative proposals concerning athletic recruiting and financial aids, and a "statement of purpose" further implementing the NCAA get tough policy come up for debate during the annual week of the big winds in a college sports.

The week, which embraces the annual conventions of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the American Football Coaches Association and a half dozen other groups, gets under way Friday and runs through Wednesday, Jan. 11.

The NCAA legislation will be acted upon at the business session the final day.

More than 2,200 coaches, athletic directors, faculty representatives and others are expected to attend. Also meeting here are the American Association of College Baseball Coaches, the college athletic business managers, college sports information directors, college track coaches, the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

With the recent hiring of Tom Harp to replace Lefty James at Cornell, only three major college football coaching jobs remain unfilled.

Georgia is seeking a replacement for retiring Wally Butts. Virginia has to find successors to Dick Voris as football coach and Gus Tebell as athletic director and Cincinnati needs a coach to take George Blackburn's place.

Most controversial bit of NCAA legislation concerns a national pre-registration service, akin to the "letters of intent" employed in several conferences. This, if adopted, would bar colleges from approaching an athlete who already had signified his intention of attending another school. The proposal includes numerical limits on the number of pre-registration certificates a college could use each year.

Other subjects for discussion and possible action include a couple of proposals for changes in the NCAA football television program and a change in the starting date for football practice to Sept. 1 or 16 days before the first scheduled game, instead of two weeks before the first day of classes.

Dallas AFL Club Inks Texas Tech Star E. J. Holub

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — E. J. Holub, Texas Tech center, has signed with the Dallas Texans of the American Football League, Texan owner Lamar Hunt announced Saturday.

Hunt said Holub, playing Saturday in the East-West game at San Francisco, telephoned him Friday night that he will play with the Texans.

Hunt thus was winning part of his battle of the checkbook with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, who also had drafted Holub.

Bob Lilly, Texas Christian tackle, signed with the Cowboys after being drafted by the Texans.

Holub will receive $15,000 a year, it was learned.

Stream, Lake Pollution Hit By Organization

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP) — The Izaak Walton League says lake and stream pollution is costing the nation's sportsmen millions of fishing trips every year.

Results of a survey made public Saturday by the national outdoor organization showed fishermen in 41 per cent of its local chapters considered recreation waters near their homes inadequate. Thirty-nine per cent termed their lakes and streams adequate, 20 per cent rated theirs excellent.

Executive Director Frank Gregg said members surveyed said they would take 13 additional local fishing trips annually if waters were "cleaned up." Applying the figure to the nation's 20 million anglers, he said, means pollution is depriving fishermen of 260 million outings a year.

This recreation loss, Gregg concluded, "makes it unmistakably clear that pollution of our limited water resource is a short-sighted luxury the nation cannot afford."

Best, Worst In World Of Sports

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The best — and some of the worst — in the world of sports in 1960:

THE BEST

Bill Mazeroski's ninth inning homer that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates the World Series clincher against the New York Yankees.

Floyd Patterson's fifth-round knockout of Ingemar Johansson to become the first heavyweight champion to regain his crown.

Russia's two Olympic teams, winter and summer, loaded with scoring power.

Arnold Palmer's closing rounds to win the Masters (birdies on the last two holes) and the U.S. Open (a 65.)

The National League in downing the American League in both All-Star games.

U. S. Olympic hockey victory over Russia — and eventual gold medal at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Shot putter Bill Neider, named as an alternate to the Olympic team after failing to qualify because of an injury, coming through to lead a 1-2-3 U. S. sweep at Rome.

U. S. Olympic swimmers, who made a tremendous comeback after losing out to the Aussies four years before.

Bobby Richardson of the Yanks in the World Series; he set a record of six runs-batted-in in one game and another for a total of 12 RBI's in a series.

Young Denis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Rafael Osuna of Mexico winning the Wimbledon Tennis doubles.

The U. S. Basketball team in every game here and abroad.

Norm Van Brocklin of the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football League playoff against Green Bay.

Washington's Huskies against Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl.

Jack Nicklaus and others on the U. S. team who won the world golf championship by 42 shots; Nicklaus was 11 under for 72 holes.

THE WORST

The incredible wrangling over major league baseball expansion and, in particular, the American League's haste to get into the act a year ahead (1961) of the National.

The air crash at Toledo that killed 16 members of the California Polytechnic College football team.

Squabbles over "wine, women and song" at the summer Olympics and reaction to an exposure of discontent among U. S. speed skaters in the winter games.

The pro football war, including singing colege stars under the goal posts after their final collegiate games.

Just about everything that happened in boxing outside the ring.

The defeat of world record holder John Thomas by two little-known Russians in the Olympic high jump.

Virginia's oft-beaten football team.

U. S. Defeat by Italy in the inter-zone Davis Cup meets.

The Kansas City Athletics who lost more games (one more than the Phillies) than any other major league club.

And, last for emphasis, the sudden exit from baseball of the colorful Casey Stengel.

Jerry Nettles Paces Citadel In Bowl Game

OLRANDO, Fla. (AP)—Quarterback Jerry Nettles passed for two touchdowns and paced The Citadel to a 27-0 victory over outclassed Tennessee Tech Friday night in the 15th annual Tangerine Bowl.

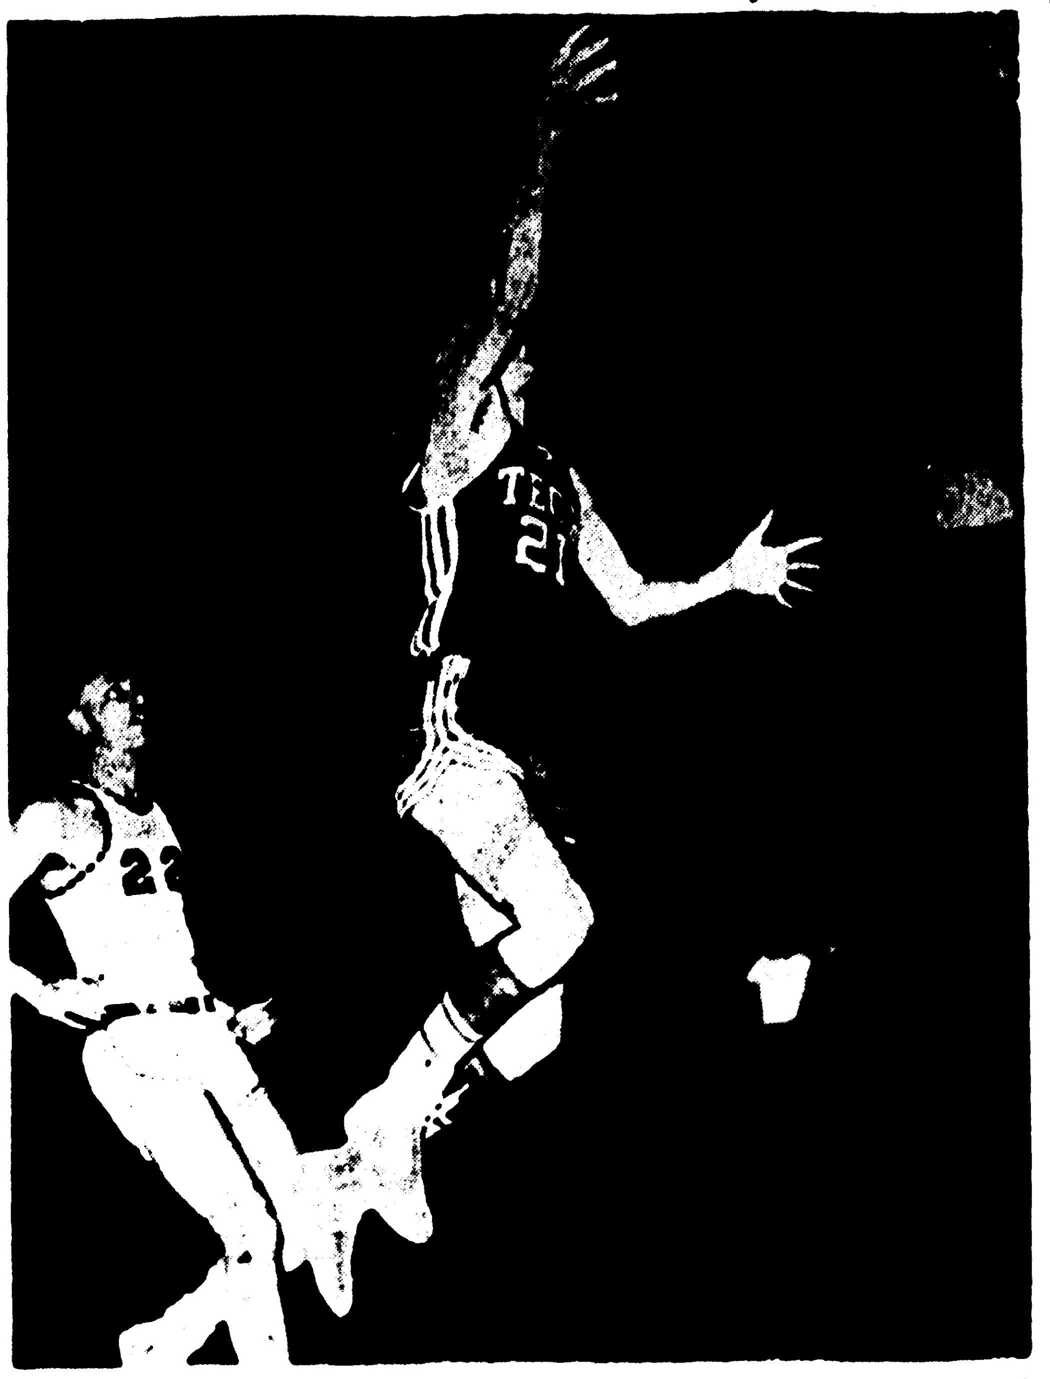
The Citadel's line completely bottled up the vaunted Tech attack and ripped consistent holes through the Eagles' defenses.

Nettles, who completed eight of 14 passes, was named the game's outstanding player. He tossed a six-yard touchdown pass to Bill Allen in the first period, climaxing a 71-yard march which consumed 19 plays.

Tech, which gave up 137 yards to Nettles' throws, repulsed two more Citadel threats in the second period but couldn't hold the Cadets thereafter.

Tommy Edwards took the ball on the second play of the second half and sped 56 yards off left tackle to a touchdown.

Later in the same period, end Bill Gilgo—who also kicked three out of four conversions—made a diving catch of a Nettles pass in the end zone or a 16-yard tally.



THE MOST OUTSTANDING Player in the Northeast Tournament, Lamar Tech's Wayne Aaron (21) ends a dash downcourt with a layup in the championship game of the tourney here Friday night. Aaron, who scored 39 points in two games, was selected the meet's top player after the final, won by Lamar over Northeast, 89-54. Northeast's Milton Linder is at left. (Staff photo by Davis Roane)

SUGAR BOWL

Stubborn Rice Defenders To Test Ole Miss Offense

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Much has been written of the Rice defense and its possible shortcomings when the Owls face Mississippi's versatile football attack in the Sugar Bowl Monday, and there's room for argument on both sides.

In Ole Miss, Rice will be clashing with one of college football's most powerful offenses, and certainly one of its most talented performers in All America quarterback Jake Gibbs.

This is the aggregation that rolled to nine victories in 10 games. And only a 6-6 tie with Louisiana State blocked a perfect season.

Rice, with a 7-3 record, allowed its opposition only 58 points, an average of 5.8 points per game. Only Louisiana State's five-point average was better.

And the Owls turned in four shutout performances, a mark to be envied any year.

The Rebels ran up 266 points during the regular season, an average of 26.6 points per game. And while some Rebel detractors contend that Memphis State and Chattanooga are less than major opposition, one could deduct the 80 points Mississippi scored in those two games and the average would still be 20 points or so per game.

The chief problem for the Rice defense will be stopping Gibbs. He passed for 970 yards on 66 of 100 completions and 12 touchdowns during the regular season. He added another 246 running, mostly on the deadly quarterback option play.

The Mississippi defense allowed its 10 opponents an average of only 6.4 points per game.

Not only must the Owls stop the Rebels, they must also devise a fairly effective offense to penetrate the barriers set up by Gibbs, who is great defensively, and the other Mississippi restrainers.

SUGAR BOWL
Mississippi vs. Rice
Date and site—Jan. 2, New Orleans
TV NBC, 2 p.m., EST.
Stadium capacity—83,000.
Rice record 7-3, lost to Georgia Tech 16-13, beat Tulane 10-7, Florida 10-0, SMU 47-0, Texas 7-0, Texas Tech 30-0, lost to Arkansas 3-0, beat Texas A&M 21-14, TCU 23-0, lost to Baylor 12-7, scoring 168 points to 58 for opponents.
Mississippi record 9-0-1, beat Houston 42-0, Kentucky 21-6, Memphis State 31-20, Vanderbilt 26-0, Tulane 26-13, Arkansas 10-7, tied LSU 6-6, beat Chattanooga 45-0, Tennessee 24-3, Mississippi State 35-9, scoring 266 points to 64 for opponents.
Coaches John Vaught, Mississippi, 110-29-7; Jess Neely, Rice, 185-128-17.
Offensive system—No. 2 ranked Mississippi uses wing T basically. Rice uses T, frequent slot back and flanker.
Major bowl record—Mississippi 6-3, Rice 4-1.
All-Americas — Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs.

MISSISSIPPI
Depth and balance are trademarks of the Rebels who are [illegible] regulars. . . Nosed out by Minnesota for the national crown, Ole Miss finished third in total defense (165.6 yard average), fourth in rushing defense (80.2), fourth in total offense (362.4).
Quarterback Gibbs stood out directing a slick attack which produced 18 touchdowns each by land and air. . . A strong punter, Gibbs completed 66.0 per cent of his aerials (66 of 100 for 970 yards, 12 TDs), ran for 246 yards and 3 TDs.
In the predominantly quarterback-fullback offense, alternate first team halfbacks [illegible] Anderson and Billy Ray Adams are 1-2 ground gainers. . . Towering halfback Bobby Crespino's 20 pass catches most since Barney Poole grabbed 32 in '47 . . . End John Brewer, defensive ace and key blocker on frequent [illegible], caught seven, five for touchdowns. . . Guard Dick Price, tackle Bob Benton, and Ralph Smith are others to watch.
Numerous injuries [illegible] covered up by Vaught's [illegible] of [illegible] personnel. . . Rebs employ alternate [illegible] and Blue teams with second or Green unit right behind. . . When starting center Fred Lockhart suffered broken arm against Arkansas, Allen Green took over, kicking winning field goal as time ran out. . . Green's field goal with six seconds left tied LSU 6-6 in only other tight contest. . .
Mississippi promises new wrinkles for Rice. . . Attack based on quarterback options, sweeps, halfback slants with split ends, "shoestring halfback", slot back or man in motion.

RICE
Owls rose from lowly pre-season rating to second-place Southwest Conference tie via a surprisingly strong offense. . . Sophomore Billy Cox took field generalship from vet Alvin Hartman, [illegible] T blend [illegible] on traps up the middle and [illegible] passes.
Traditional straight T dressed up with slot back and-or flanker but still basically running team (2076 rushing yards to [illegible] passing). . . Cox has completed [illegible] of [illegible] passes for 510. . . Halfback [illegible], fullback Roland Jackson lead ball carriers. . .
Rice defense was expected to be good, turned out even better. . . King [illegible], Boyd at center and Rufus [illegible] at guard, end Johnny Burrell, tackle Bob Johnston, guard Bob Lively form tough line. . . Linebacker Boyd King excels defending against the short pass. . . Owls have intercepted 16 passes, need to be sharpest against dangerous Gibbs [illegible].
Owls shut out four foes, yielded only five TDs on drives. . . Rest of enemy scoring resulted from blocked kick, fumble recovery, four field goals . . . [illegible] two-point conversion play. . . [illegible] Webb kicked most of 18 one-pointers plus four field goals.

Pitt Inks Mack

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers Saturday announced the signing of Red Mack, a halfback from Notre Dame.

Mack of Allison Park, Pa., was the steeler 10th choice in the National Football League draft. He also was drafted by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

Oak Grove Tournament Wednesday

OAK GROVE, La. (Special) — Seventeen teams are scheduled for action in the Oak Grove International Basketball Tournament which opens here Wednesday and continues through Saturday.

Kilbourne is rated the favorite among 10 boys teams while Lake Providence and Pioneer are considered two of the best of seven girls clubs.

Besides Kilbourne, Mer Rouge, Lake Providence, Monticello, Oak Ridge, Delhi, Pioneer, Oak Grove, Tallulah and Epps are entered in the boys division.

Other girls teams entered in the three-day tournament are Kilbourne, Mer Rouge, Oak Grove, Forest and Monticello.

Wednesday's games will pit Pioneer against Oak Grove at 7 p.m. and Lake Providence against Monticello at 8 in boys contests.

Delhi boys will play the Pioneer-Oak Grove winner at 7 p.m. Thursday while the remaining first-round competition in the boys division is set for Friday. Monticello and Pioneer girls meet at 5:45 Thursday and Oak Grove and Forest girls at 8:15.

The first game Friday will match Kilbourne and Mer Rouge girls at 4:30. A meeting between Oak Ridge boys and the Lake Providence - Monticello victor is set for 5:45 while Tallulah and Epps boys tangle at 7 and Kilbourne and Mer Rouge boys at 8:15.

Semifinal games in the girls division are set for 10 and 11:30 Saturday while the boys semifinals will be played at 1 and 2:30. Finals are scheduled for 7 and 8.

SOUTH DOESN'T RISE AGAIN

Blue Blasts Gray, 35-7, As Allen, Purdin Star

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Quarterback Bernie Allen of Purdue and halfback Ray Purdin of Northwestern combined Saturday to give the Northern All-Stars a 35-7 victory over the South in a rainy Blue-Gray football game.

Allen, who led the Boilermakers to an upset over Minnesota, the nation's No. 1 team, during the regular season, passed for three touchdowns against an outclassed Rebel squad. The field was soggy as showers fell throughout most of the game.

The 6-foot, 173-pound Allen also kicked four extra points.

Purdin scored first on a 39-yard pass and again on one which traveled 8 yards. Then, grabbing a Rebel punt on his 42, he outran frantic South pursuers for 58 yards for another touchdown. And for good measure, he converted after one touchdown.

Allen's third scoring pass fell into the arms of end Jason Harness of Michigan State from seven yards out.

Pre-game workouts made the South a 6-point favorite on the strength of the passing ability of Norman Snead of Wake Forest, No. 2 in the nation this year, and Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, fourth in the nation.

But the rain and a rugged Yankee defense neutralized the Rebels' aerial threat, and it was the Northerners who made an aerial attack pay off.

The South managed to get a passing streak going long enough to score in the third period. Mickey Mangham of Louisiana State went over on a 16-yard toss from Snead.

Snead had better luck on his passing after the rain slacked off late in the game, and the Rebels were on the North 4 when time ran out. The Wake Forest passer had put it there with a 19-yard heave to Cotton Letner of Tennessee.

With Allen out of the Yankee lineup late in the final quarter, quarterback Dale Betty of Maryland took over the attack and engineered the Blues' final score. Betty plunged over from the 1.

It was the third year in a row that fans watching the Blue-Gray game in the stands and on television (NBC) saw a Purdue quarterback turn in a standout performance. And it was the third victory in a row for the North.

ALL-AMERICA

Bo Strange On Academic Team

DALLAS (Special) — Ed Dyas, Auburn fullback who set three modern collegiate kicking records last fall, led the balloting for the ninth annual All-America academic football team announced here by Lester Jordan, co-ordinator of the project.

The team, which is sponsored jointly by the College Sports Information Directors of America and The American Peoples Encyclopedia, consists of those players who star both in the classroom and on the football field. From a list of nominees who qualified scholastically by making a B or better average, 602 sports editors of daily papers in the USA selected the team.

Others on the team in addition to Dyas, who received 37A of the 602 votes, are Marlin McKeever of Southern Cal and Fred Mautino of Syracuse, ends; Jerry Beaubout of Purdue and Frank Brixius of Minnesota, tackles; Mike McKeever of Southern Cal and Joe Romig of Colorado, guards; Charles (Bo) Strange of LSU, center; Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, and Rich Mayo of Air Force Academy, backs.

Eight of the 33 players on the top three teams are from the South - eastern Conference, six from the Big Ten, four each from the Southwest Conference and the Big Five, three each from the Ivy League, the Big Eight, and the Atlantic Coast Conference, and two from independent teams. Yale led in the number of players with three. The only other teams to be represented by more than one player were Southern California, Missouri, and Arkansas which had two each.

Six of the 33 players are working for degrees in engineering and others are taking pre-law, pre-medicine, business, education, and physical education courses.

Among players named to the second team were end Mickey Mangham of LSU, guard Treva Bolin of Mississippi and back Lance Alworth of Arkansas.

End Pat Patchen of Florida tackles Marlin Epp of Arkansas and Walter Suggs of Mississippi State and guard Wayne Grubb of Tennessee were selected on the third team.

Florida State New Opponent On Reb Slate

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — The University of Mississippi Rebels, 1960 football champions of the Southeastern Conference, will meet Florida State next season for the first time in history.

Ole Miss announced its 1961 Schedule Saturday and Florida State was listed as the opponent for a game here Oct. 7.

The Seminoles replace Memphis State, the only 1960 opponent not scheduled next season.

The Rebels open the season Sept. 23 against Arkansas. Both Memphis, Tenn., and Jackson are being considered as sites for the opener.

The 10-game slate includes six Southeastern Conference games: Kentucky Sept. 30 at Lexington, Tulane Oct. 21 at Jackson, Vanderbilt Oct. 28 in a homecoming game here, Louisiana State Nov. 4 at Baton Rouge, Tennessee Nov. 18 at Memphis, and Mississippi State Dec. 2 at Starkville.

Non-conference games, in addition to the Arkansas and Florida State attractions, are Houston Oct. 14 here and Chattanooga Nov. 11 here.

Floating Pool

DENISON, Tex. UPI) — A swimming pool that floats is part of the marina facilities on Lake Texoma in Eisenhower State Park.

The floating pool is a wooden sidewalk on pontoons that can be floated to various sites on the lake. The walk encloses a swimming pool sized area of the lake for safe and supervised swimming.

CHIEF GERONIMO

Relay Match On Roll-Arena Card Monday

Tag team wrestling returns to Roll-Arena Monday night when good fellows Ray Andrews and Pierre DeGlane trade holds with villains Carlos Mendosa and Chief Geroimo.

This battle, which shares main event billing with a regulation scrap between Firpo Zybysko and Rocky Marino, is scheduled for a hour or less with two falls to win. The Zybysko - Marino engagement is also ticketed for an hour with two falls to win.

Andrews and Mendosa kick off the grunt - and - groan program with a 15-minute match.

Andrews, the Scottish gladiator, and DeGlane are both big favorites here and Mendosa and Geronimo just the opposite. Andrews didn't perform here last week but DeGlane did winning over Bad Boy Hines in a rough bout.

DeGlane is the son of former world heavyweight wrestling king Henri DeGland and, like Jim LaRock wrestled in the Olympics.

Hines knocked DeGlane out of the ring once or twice last week but by this time Pierre shouldn't mind things like that. He has had rougher times in the ring, suffering a broken jaw, broken leg and dislocated shoulder during his grappling career as well as a nasty head wound received once when a spectator threw a bottle at Pierre's opponent and hit the Frenchman instead.

The first bout will begin at 8:15 Monday.

Jerry Nettles Paces Citadel In Bowl Game

OLRANDO, Fla. (AP)—Quarterback Jerry Nettles passed for two touchdowns and paced The Citadel to a 27-0 victory over outclassed Tennessee Tech Friday night in the 15th annual Tangerine Bowl.

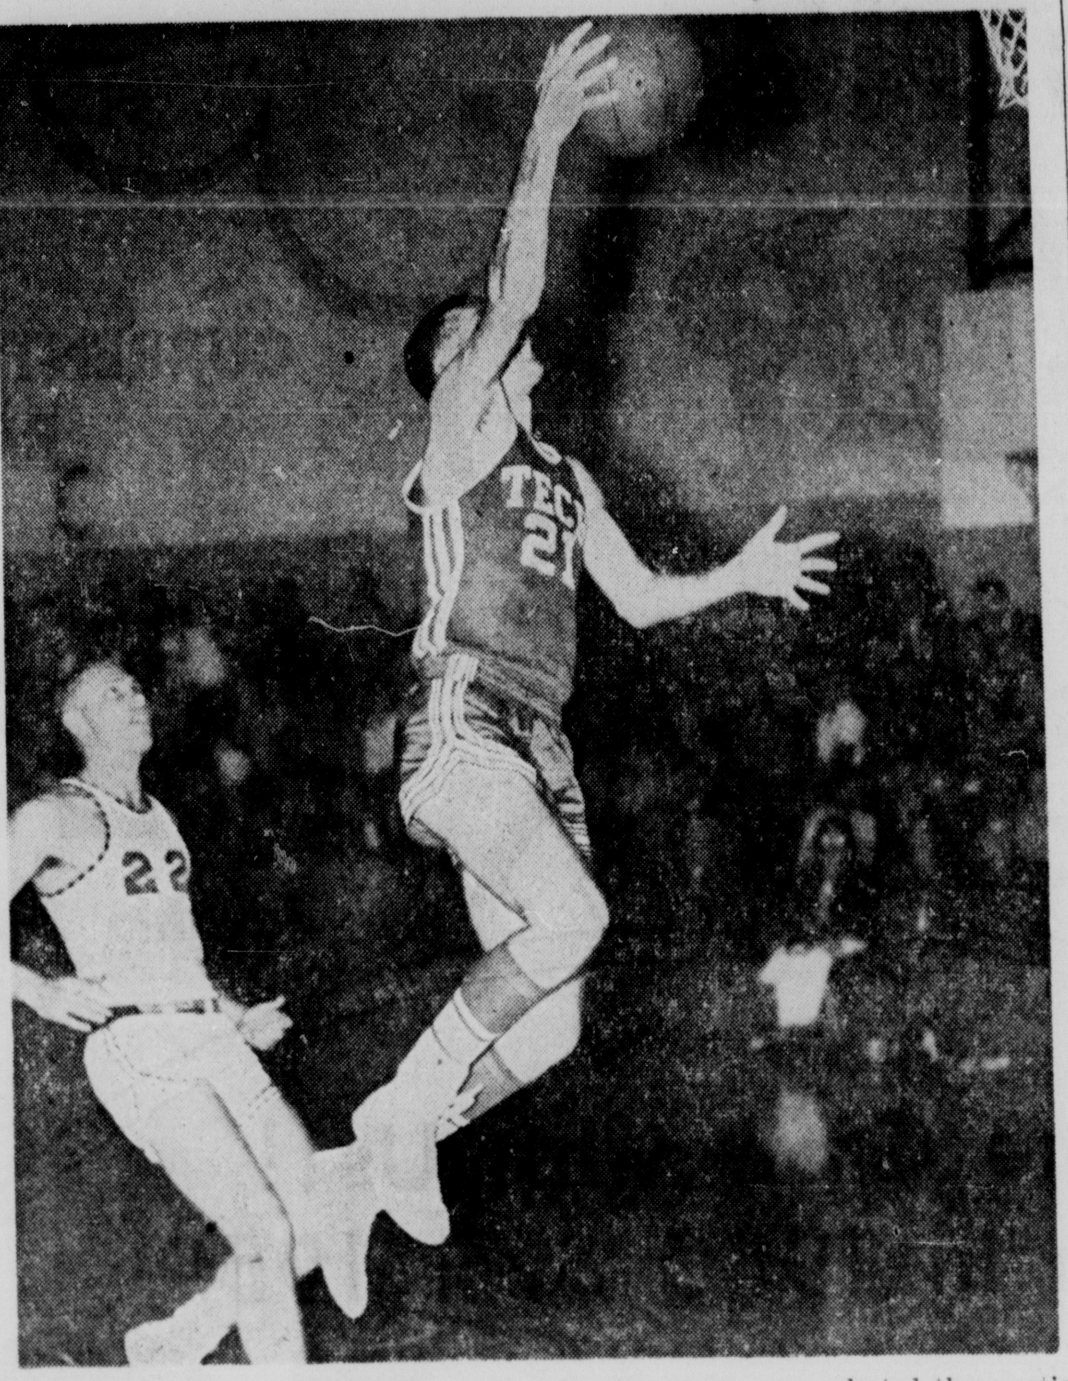
The Citadel's line completely bottled up the vaunted Tech attack and ripped consistent holes through the Eagles' defenses.

Nettles, who completed eight of 14 passes, was named the game's outstanding player. He tossed a six-yard touchdown pass to Bill Allen in the first period, climaxing a 71-yard march which consumed 19 plays.

Tech, which gave up 137 yards to Nettles' throws, repulsed two more Citadel threats in the second period but couldn't hold the Cadets thereafter.

Tommy Edwards took the ball on the second play of the second half and sped 56 yards off left tackle to a touchdown.

Later in the same period, end Bill Gilgo—who also kicked three out of four conversions—made a diving catch of a Nettles pass in the end zone or a 16-yard tally.



THE MOST OUTSTANDING Player in the Northeast Tournament, Lamar Tech's Wayne Aaron (21) ends a dash downcourt with a layup in the championship game of the tourney here Friday night. Aaron, who scored 39 points in two games, was selected the meet's top player after the final, won by Lamar over Northeast, 89-54. Northeast's Milton Linder is at left. (Staff photo by Davis Roane)

SUGAR BOWL

Stubborn Rice Defenders To Test Ole Miss Offense

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Much has been written of the Rice defense and its possible shortcomings when the Owls face Mississippi's versatile football attack in the Sugar Bowl Monday, and there's room for argument on both sides.

In Ole Miss, Rice will be clashing with one of college football's most powerful offenses, and certainly one of its most talented performers in All America quarterback Jake Gibbs.

This is the aggregation that rolled to nine victories in 10 games. And only a 6-6 tie with Louisiana State blocked a perfect season.

Rice, with a 7-3 record, allowed its opposition only 58 points, an average of 5.8 points per game. Only Louisiana State's five-point average was better.

And the Owls turned in four shutout performances, a mark to be envied any year.

The Rebels ran up 266 points during the regular season, an average of 26.6 points per game. And while some Rebel detractors contend that Memphis State and Chattanooga are less than major opposition, one could deduct the 80 points Mississippi scored in those two games and the average would still be 20 points or so per game.

The chief problem for the Rice defense will be stopping Gibbs. He passed for 970 yards on 66 of 109 completions and 12 touchdowns during the regular season. He added another 246 running, mostly on the deadly quarterback option play.

The Mississippi defense allowed its 10 opponents an average of only 6.4 points per game.

Not only must the Owls stop the Rebels, they must also devise a fairly effective offense to penetrate the barriers set up by Gibbs, who is great defensively, and the other Mississippi restrainers.

MISSISSIPPI

Depty and balance are trademarks of the Rebels who are becoming bowl regulars. . . Nosed out by Minnesota for the national crown, Ole Miss finished third in total defense (168.6 yard average), fourth in rushing defense (89.2), fourth in total offense (362.4).

Quarterback Gibbs stood out directing a slick attack which produced 18 touchdowns each by land and air. . . A strong punter, Gibbs completed 60.6 per cent of his aerials (66 of 109 for 970 yards, 12 TDs), ran for 246 yards and 5 TDs.

In the predominantly quarterback-fullback offense, alternate first team fullbacks Hoss Anderson and Billy Ray Adams are 1-2 ground gainers. . . Towering halfback Bobby Crespino's 30 pass catches most since Barney Poole grabbed 52 in '47 . . . End John Brewer, defensive ace and key blocker on frequent sweep series, caught seven, five for touchdowns. . . Guard Dick Price, tackle Bob Benton, end Ralph Smith are others to watch.

Numerous injuries dotting season covered up by Vaught's shuffling of deep personnel. . . Rebs employ alternate Red and Blue teams with second or Green unit right behind. . . When starting center Fred Lentjes suffered broken arm against Arkansas, Allen Green took over, kicking winning field goal as time ran out. . . Green's field goal with six seconds left tied LSU 6-6 in only other tight contest. .

Mississippi promises new wrinkles for Rice. . . Attack based on quarterback options, sweeps, halfback slants with split ends, "absentee halfback", slot back or man in motion.

RICE

Owls rose from lowly pre-season rating to second-place Southwest Conference tie via a surprisingly strong offense. . . Sophomore Billy Cox took field generalship from vet Alvin Hartman, piloting Neely's T blend pegged on traps up the middle and rollout passes.

Tradiational straight T dressed up with slot back and-or blanker but still basically running team (2076 rushing yards to 852 passing). . . Cox has completed 45 of 80 tosses for 510. . . Halfback Bob Wayt, fullback Roland Jackson lead ball carriers. . .

Rice defense was expected to be good, turned out even better. . . King Brothers, Boyd at center and Rufus at guard, end Johnny Burrell, tackle Bob Johnston, guard Bob Lively form tough line. . . Linebacker Boyd King excels defending against the short pass. . . Owls have intercepted 16 passes, need to be sharpest against dangerous Gibbs rollouts.

Owls shut out four foes, yielded only five TDs on drives. . . Rest of enemy scoring resulted from blocked kick, fumble recovery, four field goals. . . Rice scorns two-point conversion play. . . Max Webb kicked most of 18 one-pointers plus four field goals.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers Saturday announced the signing of Red Mack, a halfback from Notre Dame.

Mack of Allison Park, Pa., was the steeler 10th choice in the National Football League draft. He also was drafted by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

Oak Grove Tournament Wednesday

OAK GROVE, La. (Special) — Seventeen teams are scheduled for action in the Oak Grove International Basketball Tournament which opens here Wednesday and continues through Saturday.

Kilbourne is rated the favorite among 10 boys teams while Lake Providence and Pioneer are considered two of the best of seven girls clubs.

Besides Kilbourne, Mer Rouge, Lake Providence, Monticello, Oak Ridge, Delhi, Pioneer, Oak Grove, Tallulah and Epps are entered in the boys division.

Other girls teams entered in the three-day tournament are Kilbourne, Mer Rouge, Oak Grove, Forest and Monticello.

Wednesday's games will pit Pioneer against Oak Grove at 7 p.m. and Lake Providence against Monticello at 8 in boys contests.

Delhi boys will play the Pioneer-Oak Grove winner at 7 p.m. Thursday while the remaining first-round competition in the boys division is set for Friday. Monticello and Pioneer girls meet at 5:45 Thursday and Oak Grove and Forest girls at 8:15.

The first game Friday will match Kilbourne and Mer Rouge girls at 4:30. A meeting between Oak Ridge boys and the Lake Providence - Monticello victor is set for 5:45 while Tallulah and Epps boys tangle at 7 and Kilbourne and Mer Rouge boys at 8:15.

Semifinal games in the girls division are set for 10 and 11:30 Saturday while the boys semifinals will be played at 1 and 2:30. Finals are scheduled for 7 and 8.

SOUTH DOESN'T RISE AGAIN

Blue Blasts Gray, 35-7, As Allen, Purdin Star

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Quarterback Bernie Allen of Purdue and halfback Ray Purdin of Northwestern combined Saturday to give the Northern All-Stars a 35-7 victory over the South in a rainy Blue-Gray football game.

Allen, who led the Boilermakers to an upset over Minnesota, the nation's No. 1 team, during the regular season, passed for three touchdowns against an outclassed Rebel squad. The field was soggy as showers fell throughout most of the game.

The 6-foot, 173-pound Allen also kicked four extra points.

Purdin scored first on a 39-yard pass and again on one which traveled 8 yards. Then, grabbing a Rebel punt on his 42, he outran frantic South pursuers for 58 yards for another touchdown. And for good measure, he converted after one touchdown.

Allen's third scoring pass fell into the arms of end Jason Harness of Michigan State from seven yards out.

Pre-game workouts made the South a 6-point favorite on the strength of the passing ability of Norman Snead of Wake Forest, No. 2 in the nation this year, and Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, fourth in the nation.

But the rain and a rugged Yankee defense neutralized the Rebels' aerial threat, and it was the Northerners who made an aerial attack pay off.

The South managed to get a passing streak going long enough to score in the third period. Mickey Mangham of Louisiana State went over on a 16-yard toss from Snead.

Snead had better luck on his passing after the rain slacked off late in the game, and the Rebels were on the North 4 when time ran out. The Wake Forest passer had put it there with a 19-yard heave to Cotton Letner of Tennessee.

With Allen out of the Yankee lineup late in the final quarter, quarterback Dale Betty of Maryland took over the attack and engineered the Blues' final score. Betty plunged over from the 1.

It was the third year in a row that fans watching the Blue-Gray game in the stands and on television (NBC) saw a Purdue quarterback turn in a standout performance. And it was the third victory in a row for the North.

ALL-AMERICA

Bo Strange On Academic Team

DALLAS (Special) — Ed Dyas, Auburn fullback who set three modern collegiate kicking records last fall, led the balloting for the ninth annual All-America avademic football team announced here by Lester Jordan, co-ordinator of the project.

The team, which is sponsored jointly by the College Sports Information Directors of America and The American Peoples Encyclopedia, consists of those players who star both in the classroom and on the football field. From a list of nominees who qualified scholastically by making a B or better average, 602 sports editors of daily papers in the USA selected the team.

Others on the team in addition to Dyas, who received 37A of the 602 votes, are Marlin McKeever of Southern Cal and Fred Mautino of Syracuse, ends; Jerry Beaubout of Purdue and Frank Brixius of Minnesota, tackles; Mike McKeever of Southern Cal and Joe Romig of Colorado, guards; Charles (Bo) Strange of LSU, center; Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, and Rich Mayo of Air Force Academy, backs.

Eight of the 33 players on the top three teams are from the South - eastern Conference, six from the Big Ten, four each from the Southwest Conference and the Big Five, three each from the Ivy League, the Big Eight, and the Atlantic Coast Conference, and two from independent teams. Yale led in the number of players with three. The only other teams to be represented by more than one player were Southern California, Missouri, and Arkansas which had two each.

Six of the 33 players are working for degrees in engineering and others are taking pre-law, pre-medicine, business, education, and physical education courses.

Among players named to the second team were end Mickey Mangham of LSU, guard Treva Bolin of Mississippi and back Lance Alworth of Arkansas.

End Pat Patchen of Florida tackles Marlin Epp of Arkansas and Walter Suggs of Mississippi State and guard Wayne Grubb of Tennessee were selected on the third team.

Florida State New Opponent On Reb Slate

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — The University of Mississippi Rebels, 1960 football champions of the Southeastern Conference, will meet Florida State next season for the first time in history.

Ole Miss announced its 1961 Schedule Saturday and Florida State was listed as the opponent for a game here Oct. 7.

The Seminoles replace Memphis State, the only 1960 opponent not scheduled next season.

The Rebels open the season Sept. 23 against Arkansas. Both Memphis, Tenn., and Jackson are being considered as sites for the opener.

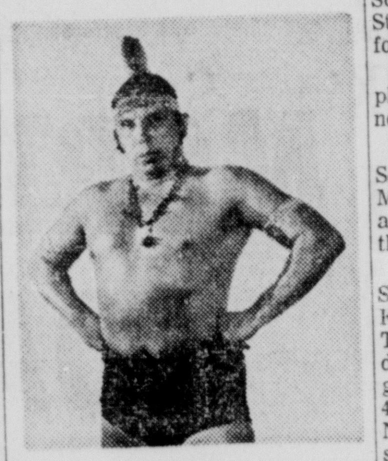
The 10-game slate includes six Southeastern Conference games: Kentucky Sept. 30 at Lexington, Tulane Oct. 21 at Jackson, Vanderbilt Oct. 28 in a homecoming game here, Louisiana State Nov. 4 at Baton Rouge, Tennessee Nov. 18 at Memphis, and Mississippi State Dec. 2 at Starkville.

Non-conference games, in addition to the Arkansas and Florida State attractions, are Houston Oct. 14 here and Chattanooga Nov. 11 here.

Floating Pool

DENISON, Tex. (UPI) — A swimming pool that floats is part of the marina facilities on Lake Texoma in Eisenhower State Park.

The floating pool is a wooden sidewalk on pontoons that can be floated to various sites on the lake. The walk encloses a swimming pool - sized area of the lake for safe and supervised swimming.



CHIEF GERONIMO

Relay Match On Roll-Arena Card Monday

Tag team wrestling returns to Roll-Arena Monday night when good fellows Ray Andrews and Pierre DeGlane trade holds with villains Carlos Mendoza and Chief Geroimo.

This battle, which shares main event billing with a regulation scrap between Firpo Zybysko and Rocky Marino, is scheduled for a hour or less with two falls to win. The Zybysko - Marino engagement is also ticketed for an hour with two falls to win.

Andrews and Mendoza kick off the grunt - and - groan program with a 15-minute match.

Andrews, the Scottish gladiator, and DeGlane are both big favorites here and Mendoza and Geronimo just the opposite. Andrews didn't perform here last week but DeGlane did winning over Bad Boy Hines in a rough bout.

DeGlane is the son of former world heavyweight wrestling king Henri DeGland and, like Jim LaRock wrestled in the Olympics.

Hines knocked DeGlane out of the ring once or twice last week but by this time Pierre shouldn't mind things like that. He has had rougher times in the ring, suffering a broken jaw, broken leg and dislocated shoulder during his grappling career as well as a nasty head wound received once when a spectator threw a bottle at Pierre's opponent and hit the Frenchman instead.

The first bout will begin at 8:15 Monday.

Here's a delightful English celebration that could do with more attention hereabouts: Boxing Day. Monday evening LYDIA AND BILL HARDCASTLE and ALL of the TROYS, as the invitation said, observed the holiday with open house at the home of Vera and Dick Troy between the hours of four and nine. The hosts were assisted by their children, Millie and Dick Troy, Jr., Steve Nichols, Nat Troy, Francey and Ralph Troy, Amalie and Jack Gaines. Each wore a single white carnation with his name spelled in silver letters on white ribbon.

Lydia wore a satin dress, palest beige at the shoulders shading to deep brown at the hem, appliqued with black lace . . Vera chose a black crepe after - five dress, and Fancey, white crepe embroidered with rhinestones . . Millie's black chiffon was styled with an intricately tucked skirt . . White Oriental silk was used for Amalie's outfit.

The entire house was festive with Christmas decorations for the party. Red gladioli were used in the living room. On the mantel was an asymmetrical arrangement of gilded foliage, framing Vera's potrait . . Holly in a brass container, flanked by red candles in brass candlesticks, was placed on the (dining room) table. Punch and an assortment of dainties for nibbling were served here. Those who assisted were LOUISE KLAM, KATHY GILMONT, JEAM HAMILTON, and MARY COKER.

Sherry and cheeses were served in the den. Decorating this table was a large stylized gilded pineapple hung with Christmas ornaments.

Both the living porch at the back of the house and the playroom, a separate building across the patio, overlook a long curve of bayou. Wide windows framing the view were sprayed with snow for the party. Flowers on the porch were red gladioli. In the playroom, red candles lit a scene of Santa in his sleigh, pulled by eight tiny reindeer . .Several hundred friends attended the party.

One of the joys of Christmas morning is open house at the home of JANE and JOHN SHERROUSE, JR. This year's invitations were particularly lovely: spruce green lettered in gold, with an engraving of the house inside the letter "O" of "Open House" . . Tall, tall red candles flanked the front door. In the entry, where Jane and John greeted their guests, gold ropes and greenery wrapped the stair rail.

Holly was used on the living room mantel, with red candles in brass candlesticks at each end. On the table was a traditional arrangement of red carnations. Colorful stockings hung by the chimney in the library, where the flowers were red roses.

A large silver bowl of eggnog centered one side of the dining room table, with ham and turkey on trays opposite. At each side of the punchbowl were cupid figurines holding large bouquets of red roses. Tiny hot pastries filled with sausage were served from one end of the table, and creamed crab meat at the other . . . Several hundred friends called between the hours of eleven and two.

Another of Christmas delights is the opportunity to see old friends here visiting for the holidays. MARGIE and DICKIE LEE were here FROM ATLANTA, with the FRANK FARMERS. .Caught a glimpse of the HARBERT MARSHALLS (she is the former Carolyn Royce), "back home" for a few days.

ELLEN and RAY HAINES came in Saturday night from Denison, Texas; spent the day with the GARLAND HAMMONS and ETTA HALE, and left Monday early for home . . . The ROBERT CUDDS were here with the R. C. CUDDS. . . . and ELIZABETH and KENNEDY ABINGTON had as their guests their son, KEN, from New Orleans and MARY MILLS HAWKINS of Baton Rouge.

The D. C. BERNHARDTS entertained with Christmas open house last Friday night. ANN wore a chiffon after - five dress, its gay red echoing the color of the decorations. In the living room was a white wicker table tree with strings of red beads caught by small red birds. Red and silver packages were placed at the base.

Tiny, tiny red roses in a silver basket centered the dining table. On the buffet was an arrangement of holliday greens: pine, magnolia branches, holly, and pine cones, sprayed with snow.

The family Christmas tree, glittery with icicles, was center of interest in the den. On the refreshment table in this room was a brass tureen filled with holly and berries, flanked by red candles in brass candlesticks. About sixty friends called during the evening.

Friday was a big day for parties. PATSY and BOBBY PIPES chose it for their buffet, given at the home of Patsy's mother, NORMA SNELLING. A silver tree placed on the piano was hung with pink and blue balls. Blue and pink angel hair was used on a pair of candelabra on the mantel . . Ham and chicken salad and assorted dips were served from the dining room table, which was centered with a pink tree decorated with blue balls. Seven couples attended.

The high school set also attended several parties on Friday. ELLEN FERGUSON and SALLY BARHAM entertained at a coffee that afternoon in the Barham home. Blue Christmas decorations echoed the house decor. There was a large stocking on the door and a blue and silver tree in the living room. A candle and angel figurine wreathed in blue angel hair centered the dining table. Refreshments included dainties for nibbling, coffee, and an unusual punch made of Coke with pineapple and lemon juice.

That evening sisters BUNNY and FAYE CANNON were hostesses at open house. Shiny Christmas decorations and candles were used, with the focal point in the living room a tree of balls on the piano. A giant champagne glass filled with angel hair and Christmas ornaments centered the dining table. About one hundred guests called between seven and nine.

Speaking of the high school set, there was Lambda Sigma Chi's dance last night on the Virginia hotel roof. Most fabulous favors of the season were given to sorority members: silver charms in the shape of a top hat, engraved with the group's Greek letters. Top hats were featured in the decorations, and given as favors to the male guests. Mobiles spelled out "Happy New Year" at each end of the room.

We can't let the holidays close without a paragraph on party dresses worn by the ladies. Our evercharming BETTY NOE, up from New Orleans for the long weekend, wore a black crepe dress with butterfly sleeves of black lace over champagne organza . . Saw RUBY WARNER in a melting grey lace and chiffon . . MARY ANITA LENNON looked gay as Christmas in a red brocade suit with dyed - to - match shoes . . PAT MARTIN, down from Bastrop, wore a striking gold brocade sheath with matching coat . . A hat of blue and green feathers and veiling topped MABEL RATLIFF's Christmas green dress . . ADA GRUBER chose a cobalt blue wool sheath with a bow of the material on each side of a wide scoop neckline.

Traditional dishes will be served at Highland Park country club today: Southern fried chicken, black eyed peas and hog jowl, turnip greens. These will be the feature at the New Year's Day buffet from noon until two o'clock.

For a New Year, let us take "Inventory" with Dorothy Parker:

Four be the things I am wiser to know:
Idleness, sorrow, a friend, and a foe.
Four be the things I'd been better without:
Love, curiosity, freckles, and doubt.
Three be the things I shall never attain:
Envy, content, and sufficient champagne.
Three be the things I shall have till I die:
Laughter and hope and a sock in the eye.

On Thursday, coldest of cold nights, the ED STRAUSSERS and the PAUL GILMONTS invited a group of friends by for a warming cup of Norwegian glogg: red wine heated with spices. With the punch they offered ham, makings for sandwiches, a particularly delicious bean dip, and some elegant little chocolates called "Parisian cremes" . . .

Kathy's Christmas decorations included an aluminum tree on the front door, and another centering the dining table. Each was swagged with a chain of vari-colored loops of aluminum, like the paper ones we made in the third grpde . . .

The host couples were assisted by SUELLEN GILMONT, home from Mills college, California; MARY JO STRAUSSER, from Randolph Macon, Lynchburg, Virginia; Suellen's houseguest, ALISON MULHOLLAND of Crossett; STEPHANIE GILMONT; and MIKE STRAUSSER.

Late December Ceremony Unites Margie Ramsey, Patrick Maurice Williams

Solemnized Tuesday, December 27 in the First Baptist church at Newellton was the wedding of Miss Margie Ann Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glendell Ramsey, Newellton, and Patrick Maurice Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Williams, Kilgore, Texas.

The double ring ceremony, performed at 3 o'clock by the Rev. A. D. Foster, was held in a setting of woodwardia fern, and pedestal baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, interspersed with branched candeabra holding white tapers.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Kathryn Patton, organist, who also accompanied Lawrence David Kulcke of Monroe, as he sang, "Because." At conclusion of the ceremony as the couple knelt for prayer, Mr. Kulcke sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white peau de soie, styled with fitted bodice and long sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. The full skirt was embellished with appliqued flowers outlined in seed pearls, and the back interest featured two bows of self-material which terminated in a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of iridescent stones and she carried a bouquet of white roses, centered with a yellow - threated orchid.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Rose Ann Teller, who wore an afternoon dress of red beauty satin, styled with fitted bodice and bell skirt. Her headpiece was a creation of tulle and roses to match her dress and slippers and she carried a bouquet of pink roses encircled by white carnations.

Bridesmaids, Misses Ann Colt, Gloria Crane, Edith DeWitt Myra Jane Curry and junior birdesmaid, Sandra Watts, niece of the bride, were dressed identically to the honor attendant.

Patricia Ann Pries, also dressed like the other attendants, was flower girl. Ring bearer was Jim McConathy of St. Joseph.

Bob Williams, Longview, Texas, attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Dick Williams, Kilgore, Texas, also brother of the bridegroom; Vaughn Stewart, Kilgore Lewis Watts, Oil City, La., and Neal Laird. Ushers were Maurice Watts, uncle of the bride and John Harville.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ramsey wore a frock of mauve lace over satin with matching mauve satin hat and a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. Williams, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in Wedgewood blue taffeta, with lace accent and a hat in shades of blue. Her corsage was also a purple orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the American Legion Hall, which was decorated for the occasion with pedestal baskets of white chrysanthemums. The white linen covered table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, embossed with pink roses. Smilax encircled the cut - glass punch bowls which were placed at each end of the table. The bride's bouquet was also used in center front.

For a short wedding trip to Mississippi, the bride wore for travel a gray wool suit with gray mink collar and black accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bouquet.

The couple will be at home temporarily in Natchitoches, where both are students at Northwestern Louisiana State College. A sophomore student, Mrs. Williams is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. Mr. Williams will receive his B. S. degree from Northwestern in January.

Out - of - town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sale, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Garlington, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kulcke, Miss Phyllis Kulcke and Johnny Luton, all of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Laird, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Williams, Kilgore, Texas; Bob Williams, Longview, Texas; Mrs. Thelma Tench, Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Poulan, Arcadia; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Watts, Oil City; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith, Utica, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Measells of Jackson, Miss., Miss Amy Hood, West Monroe; Bob Dewees, Alexandria and Vaughn Stewart, Kilgore.

Miss Barnett, Thomas Eubanks Plan Wedding

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Delores Jean Barnett to Thomas Otho Eubanks is made this weekend by Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Barnett, parents of the bride-elect.

Mr. Eubanks is the son of Mrs. R. J. Brown of Monroe and the late H. O. Eubanks.

The wedding is scheduled for Friday, January 20 in Southside Methodist Church. Rev. Lea Joyner will perform the 7:30 p.m. ceremony.

Miss Janice Barnett, sister of the future bride, will be maid of honor and Frank Chapman will serve as best man.

Both Miss Barnett and her fiance are graduates of Neville High school. They plan to establish a home in West Monroe.

Girl Scout News

The staff of the Girl Scout Council extends to all scouts and leaders a Happy New Year greeting and hope the new year will bring an opportunity for more girls and adults to join in Scouting.

Mothers of Troop 32, received as Christmas gifts pieces of handmade pottery, made by the girls as their Arts and Crafts requirement for Second Class Rank. The brightly colored and glazed pinch pots were entirely original, according to Girl Scout standards, each fashioned from a lump of clay. Mrs. Paul Keller, Jr., and Mrs. Renza Loses, leaders of the troop were assisted in the project by Mrs. Louis Breard, Jr.

Presentation of the Brownie World pin as a gift from their leaders highlighted the Christmas meeting of Troop 19 and directed their thoughts to their sister Scouts around the world. For several meetings the girls have been experimenting with papier mache', making snowmen to add to home decorations. Mrs. T. A. Morgan and Mrs. A. W. Wiley are leaders of this troop, which will "fly up" at the end of the school year. Mrs. E. H. Allen has recently registered on the troop committee, and two new members have been added, Betty Allen, a former Brownie and Shirley Stipulkowsky, a transfer from Troop 79.

Sister troop 79, sister in the sense that girls are of the same age and same school has been reorganized after a lapse of several months due to lack of leadership. New leaders are Mrs. Troy Perrmay and Mrs. S. A. Phillips. The following girls have re - registered, with more expected later: Linda Altenberg, Karen Boyd, Ann Brown, Judy Gannaway, Christie Morton, Debbie Newcomer, Pamela Perryman, Debbie Stringer, and Jennifer Sims.

Nicki Williams and Zell Williams will remember the Christmas meeting of Troop 46 as the day on which they "flew up". Having completed Tenderfoot requirements and having been invested, they now proudly wear their Girl Scout pins and Brownie Wings. Mrs. Herbert Mayo entertained the troop for this meeting. At an earlier meeting the girls made Christmas decorations for their homes, undert he direction of Mrs. W. C. Cain, leader, assisted by Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. P. L. Banks.

Mrs. Harry Stone entertained daughter Martha's troop, whose leaders are Mrs. L. F. Bewick and Mrs. Ben Marshall, at their last meeting before the holidays.

Re - registering for their third year of Scouting, now first -year Intermediates, girls of Troop 37, Mitchell School, are working on Second Class Rank, which includes sampling of activities in each major field of interest. For Arts and Crafts, they have chosen basketry, planning to start at their first meeting of the New Year and if their interest warrants, will probably go on to fulfill requirements for the basketry badge. For Christmas they made candles to use in home decorations. Leaders are Mrs. Morris Chambless and Mrs. Clyde Bassett. On the troop committee are Mrs. Lawrence White and Mrs. Jack Brown and the following girls are enrolled: Ruth Bassett, Connie Lynn Bates, John Ellen Brown, Sharon Chambliss, Kathleen Creech, Kathy Grant, Janis Hatten, Shirley White, Donna Whitehead and Sheila Wyles.

Simmonses To Reside In Ruston

Tall white candelabra entwined with greenery, flanked by baskets of white gladioli formed a setting in the Sikes Baptist church for the wedding of Miss Nellie Marie Head and William James Simmons. Rev. Edward Smith, Winnfield, performed the ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, December 22.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Onus Head, Sikes and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Simmons, also of Sikes.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Sandra Sue Smith, Winnsboro, who accompanied Miss Irma Duncan, Monroe as she sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Carrying a bouquet of white carnations arranged on a white Bible, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a floor - length gown of white brocaded satin, styled with fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves. A wide satin sash encircled the waist with streamers falling to the hemline. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of pearls and sequins and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Miss Linda Simmons, of New Orleans, cousin of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Gay Gregory, Sikes, cousin of the bride and Miss Mary Ellen Smith of Baton Rouge. They wore identical pink taffeta frocks with matching cummerbunds over the full skirts. Their pink net headdresses were attached to wreaths of pink flowers and they carried colonial bouquets of deep pink carnations.

Candles were lighted by Douglas Head, brother of the bride and Billy Dale Johnston, her cousin.

Garland Pepper served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Morris Vickers, Olla, Sonny McDaniel, Sikes, both brothers - in - law of the bridegroom, and Lloyd Johnston, West Monroe, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Head chose for her daughter's wedding a peacock blue dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Earline Walker, cousin of the bride, invited guests to register in the bride's book at the church.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents where seasonal appointments were used throughout. The bride's table was covered with white lace cloth over pink and centered with the bride's bouquet, encircled by four pale pink candles. Mrs. Pat Head Goldana, aunt of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake and alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. Linda Johnston, West Monroe and Miss Janie Head, Calhoun, cousin of the bride.

Misses Brenda and Rita Thompson distributed rice bags to the guests.

For a wedding trip to Mississippi, the bride wore a green wool suit with black accessories and a white carnation corsage from her bouquet. The couple will establish a home in Ruston where the bride is a junior at Louisiana Tech.

Simmonses To Reside In Ruston

Tall white candelabra entwined with greenery, flanked by baskets of white gladioli formed a setting in the Sikes Baptist church for the wedding of Miss Nellie Marie Head and William James Simmons. Rev. Edward Smith, Winnfield, performed the ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, December 22.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Onus Head, Sikes and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Simmons, also of Sikes.

Troditional wedding music was played by Miss Sandra Sue Smith, Winnsboro, who accompanied Miss Irma Duncan, Monroe as she sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Carrying a bouquet of white carnations arranged on a white Bible, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a floor - length gown of white brocaded satin, styled with fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves. A wide satin sash encircled the waist with streamers falling to the hemline. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of pearls and sequins and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Miss Linda Simmons, of New Orleans, cousin of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Gay Gregory, Sikes, cousin of the bride and Miss Mary Ellen Smith of Baton Rouge. They wore identical pink taffeta frocks with matching cummerbunds over the full skirts. Their pink net headdresses were attached to wreaths of pink flowers and they carried colonial bouquets of deep pink carnations.

Candles were lighted by Douglas Head, brother of the bride and Billy Dale Johnston, her cousin.

Garland Pepper served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Morris Vickers, Olla, Sonny McDaniel, Sikes, both brothers - in - law of the bridegroom, and Lloyd Johnston, West Monroe, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Head chose for her daughter's wedding a peacock blue dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Earline Walker, cousin of the bride, invited guests to register in the bride's book at the church.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents where seasonal appointments were used throughout. The bride's table was covered with white lace cloth over pink and centered with the bride's bouquet, encircled by four pale pink candles. Mrs. Pat Head Goldana, aunt of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake and alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. Linda Johnston, West Monroe and Miss Janie Head, Calhoun, cousin of the bride.

Misses Brenda and Rita Thompson distributed rice bags to the guests.

For a wedding trip to Mississippi, the bride wore a green wool suit with black accessories and a white carnation corsage from her bouquet. The couple will establish a home in Ruston where the bride is a junior at Louisiana Tech.

Girl Scout News

The staff of the Girl Scout Council extends to all scouts and leaders a Happy New Year greeting and hope the new year will bring an opportunity for more girls and adults to join in Scouting.

Mothers of Troop. 52, received as Christmas gifts pieces of handmade pottery, made by the girls as their Arts and Crafts requirement for Second Class Rank. The brightly colored and glazed pinch pots were entirely original, according to Girl Scout standards, each fashioned from a lump of clay. Mrs. Paul Keller, Jr., and Mrs. Renza Lozes, leaders of the troop were assisted in the project by Mrs. Louis Breard, Jr.

Presentation of the Brownie World pin as a gift from their leaders highlighted the Christmas meeting of Troop 19 and directed their thoughts to their sister Scouts around the world. For several meetings the girls have been experimenting with papier mache', making snowmen to add to home decorations. Mrs. T. A. Morgan and Mrs. A. W. Wiley are leaders of this troop, which will "fly up" at the end of the school year. Mrs. E. H. Allen has recently registered on the troop committee, and two new members have been added, Betty Allen, a former Brownie and Shirley Stipulkowsky, a transfer from Troop 79.

Sister troop 79, sister in the sense that girls are of the same age and same school has been reorganized after a lapse of several months due to lack of leadership. New leaders are Mrs. Troy Perrmay and Mrs. S. A. Phillips. The following girls have re - registered, with more expected later: Linda Altenberg, Karen Boyd, Ann Brown, Judy Gannaway, Christie Morton, Debbie Newcomer, Pamela Perryman, Debbie Stringer, and Jennifer Sims.

Nicki Williams and Zell Williams will remember the Christmas meeting of Troop 46 as the day on which they "flew up". Having completed Tenderfoot requirements and having been invested, they now proudly wear their Girl Scout pins and Brownie Wings. Mrs. Herbert Mayo entertained the troop for this meeting. At an earlier meeting the girls made Christmas decorations for their homes, undert he direction of Mrs. W. C. Cain, leader, assisted by Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. P. L. Banks.

Mrs. Harry Stone entertained daughter Martha's troop, whose leaders are Mrs. L. F. Bewick and Mrs. Ben Marshall, at their last meeting before the holidays.

Re - registering for their third year of Scouting, now first -year Intermediates, girls of Troop 37, Mitchell School, are working on Second Class Rank, which includes sampling of activities in each major field of interest. For Arts and Crafts, they have chosen basketry, planning to start at their first meeting of the New Year and if their interest warrants, will probably go on to fulfill requirements for the basketry badge. For Christmas they made candles to use in home decorations. Leaders are Mrs. Morris Chambless and Mrs. Clyde Bassett. On the troop committee are Mrs. Lawrence White and Mrs. Jack Brown and the following girls are enrolled: Ruth Bassett, Connie Lynn Bates, John Ellen Brown, Sharon Chambliss, Kathleen Creech, Kathy Grant, Janis Hatten, Shirley White, Donna Whitehead and Sheila Wyles.

MRS. ARTHUR LESLIE SEAMANS

Seamans-Barnette Vows Read In Candlelight Scene

Miss Joyce LaFran Barnette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Barnette, and Arthur Leslie Seamans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Seamans of Grafton, New Hampshire, were united in marriage Sunday, December 25 at 4 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents in Crossett, Arkansas.

The Rev. C. M. Atchley officiated at the candle light ceremony before a background of white chrysanthemums and greenery. Candlelighters were Misses Diane and Fran Brennon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of silk organza and lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long sleeves, tapering to lily points over her wrists. The bouffant skirt fell in folds of lace in front and three tiers of lace and tulle at the back. Her short veil, edged in scallops of the lace, cascaded from a pearl - encrusted lace tiara and she carried a nosegay of white carnations on a Prayer Book.

Miss Kay Barnette of Little Rock, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a blue lace sheath dress over blue satin. Her headdress was of matching blue net with nose veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley.

Flower girl was Miss Beverly Barnette of Jonesboro, La., cousin of the bride, who wore a full-skirted dress of pale blue organdy over taffeta.

Serving Mr. Seamans as best man was Noel Burchffield of Crossett.

At the home reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. Glen Farmer had charge of the bride's book. The bride's table was covered with white net over taffeta, caught at intervals with silver Christmas ornaments. Miss Betty Willis presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Paul Langley and Miss Margie Clark served the tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Seamans is a graduate of Crossett high school and Mr. Seaman is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and holds a masters degree from Yale University. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Alpha Zeta fraternities.

The couple will make their home in Pierce, Idaho, where the bridegroom is with the United States Forest Service.

Couple Married In Methodist Church Setting

Miss Jeanette Elizabeth McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne J. McDonald Sr., 4015 Spurgeon Drive, became the bride of Ray Phares Corder, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Corder, Rt. 3, Monroe, on December 23.

The ceremony was held in the Gordon Avenue Methodist church, at 5 p.m. with Rev. Walter Allen officiating at the double ring rites. White tapers and baskets of white cramers and foliage formed a background for the bridal party.

Traditional wedding music was played by Ruby McAlvane, organist, who also accompanied Evelyn O'Connor, as she sang "The Story of Ruth," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waltz length gown of white satin with lace jacket, featuring three-quarter sleeves, and white lace mitts. A crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations encircling a white orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Lillian Price, wore a frock of gold crystalline, with gold slippers and gold net headdress. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Serving as best man was Phil M. Corder, with Alan Lee Petty and James H. Jenkins as ushers.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The tiered wedding cake was served from a table centered with a mound of white cramers and candles.

For travel when the couple left on a short trip, the bride was wearing a blue wool suit with white satin hat and black accessories. The couple will be at home at 3402 Lincoln St., in Monroe.

The bride was graduated from Ouachita Parish high school and Northeast Louisiana State college, where she was a member of Phi Mu national fraternity. A graduate of Neville high school, Mr. Corder also attended Northeast Louisiana State college, where he was affiliated with Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia.

MRS. RAY PHARES CORDER

Jeannette Hogan, Steve Thompson Married In Temple Baptist Church

In a candlelight ceremony performed at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 27 in the Temple Baptist church at Ruston, Miss Jeanette Hogan became the bride of Steve Delwyn Thompson. Dr. B. Gray Allison officiated at the exchange of vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hogan of Ruston and Mr. Thompson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thompson of Winnsboro.

Pyramids of white tapers in branched candelabra, accented by fronds of emerald palms were placed at either side of the sanctuary. Banking the tapers were massive arrangements of gladioli, pompons and stock interspersed with red poinsettia blooms. Swags of ivy and red poinsettia blooms garlanded the choir rail and white satin bows entwined with ivy marked the pew caps.

As guests were escorted to their seats by ushers Floyd L. Ellerman, Tommy Bankston, T. W. Stodghill Jr., and Billy Thompson, brother of the bride, all of Winnsboro, Mrs. B. Gray Allison, organist, played a program of prenuptial music. She later accompanied Mrs. Floyd L. Ellerman who sang "Always," and "Because."

Preceding the entrance of the bride, Roy Webb of Shreveport unrolled the white aisle cloth.

As the "Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin," by Wagner was played by the organist, the bride entered with her father. She wore a gown of white satin peau de soie and re-embroidered Alencon lace in the bell silhouette. Re-embroidered Alencon lace embellished the scalloped Sabrina neckline of the basque bodice and was repeated on the front of the skirt, highlighted with seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands and the bouffant skirt posed over hoop and crinolines, fell in graceful folds sweeping into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell in tiers from a crown of pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of lily of the valley centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Bobbie Sue Hogan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Betty Thompson, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Bondurant, Miss Carrice Russell, all of Winnsboro, and Miss Sue Wilkins of Delhi. They wore identical dresses of red velveteen designed with scoop necklines and brief sleeves. Bustle bows added back interest to the skirts and they wore short veils held in place by red velvet headpieces. Each carried a cascade arrangement of Fuji chrysanthemums.

At conclusion of the double ring ceremony, Mrs. Ellerman sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother, Mrs. Hogan, wore a dinner sheath of green lace, with satin slippers and gloves matching her small velvet leaf hat. Her shoulder corsage was a purple orchid. Mrs. Thompson wore a green sheath with lace bodice, small green hat and matching accessories, with a purple orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride were hosts at a reception in the church parlor. A memory candle burned on the guest book table where Miss Lubie Sutton presided.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length cloth of white cutwork, centered with an arrangement of pink camellias and lighted pink tapers. A milk glass punch bowl graced one end of the table, opposite the wedding cake, embossed with pink and green roses, and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Dick Taylor, Mrs. John Porter, Mrs. F. B. Mabry, all of Ruston; Mrs. Jewell Doughty, Mrs. Shelby Morse Jr., Miss Martha Ann Nelson, Miss Ann Miller, Miss Ann Tillman of Winnsboro; Mrs. Charles Stewart and Mrs. Tommy Thompson of Monroe and Mrs. Euel Webb of Shreveport. Rice bags were distributed by Misses Dianne and Becky Webb of Shreveport and Miss Ann Hogan of Ruston.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride wore a costume suit of green wool jersey with fur trim. Completing her ensemble were a feather hat and alligator bag and shoes. Her corsage was a white orchid from her bouquet.

Upon their return the couple will reside in Winnsboro.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT C. MARTIN

Martin-Crawley Nuptials Solemnized In Jonesboro

Vows uniting Miss Hazel Ann Crawley and Robert C. Martin were solemnized December 18 at 3 p.m. in the First Baptist church of Jonesboro with the Rev. W. R. Lawrence Jr., officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Claude Crawley, of Jonesboro and Mr. Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levon H. Martin, also of Jonesboro.

Branched candelabra holding pink candles and entwined with greenery, interspersed with baskets of white gladioli and stock accented with pink bows formed a setting for the double ring ceremony. Triple pink tapers and ivy were placed in each window of the church.

Mrs. Billy Waits, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music and accompanied Tommy Davis, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Bobbie Charles Crawley. She wore a chapel length gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with basque bodice, Sabrina neckline etched with pearls and sequins and long tapered sleeves. Appliques of pearls and sequins embellished the bouffant tiered skirt. Her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a tiara of pearls and sequins and she carried a white Bible topped with a single white orchid, showered with fleur d'amour.

Mrs. Claudine Kennedy, attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a frock of American Beauty velveteen, styled with bateau neckline, basque waist, with three-quarter sleeves and full circle skirt. Her headpiece was a circle of American Beauty velveteen, to which was attached a pink net brow veil, matching her pink slippers. A cluster of American beauty rosebuds, showered with matching satin streamers was attached to the white fur muff she carried.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Betty Hall, sister of the bride and Mrs. Carolyn Crawley, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Ann Wilson. They were all dressed identically to the honor attendant.

Miss Angie Robinson, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl and wore a petite facsimile of the dresses worn by the other attendants. She wore a wristlet of white fur, ornamented by American Beauty rosebuds and carried a white basket filled with the rose petals.

Candlelighters were Miss Betty Rhea and Mrs. Shirley Zuber, who wore dresses, shoes and headpieces identical to those of the bridesmaids, with wristlets of white fur, adorned with American Beauty rosebuds.

Serving his brother as best man was Charles Martin, with George Montgomery, Ben Daniels and John Harlow as groomsmen.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a two piece suit of ivory brocade satin with white felt hat, long white gloves and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale blue sheath of brocade satin with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the church reception room. The table was overlaid by a white cut-work cloth over pink and centered with a reflector ruffled with pink and American Beauty net on which was placed a pink tulle Christmas tree decorated with silver glitter. Silver candelabra holding pink tapers flanked the centerpiece with the punch bowl and tiered wedding cake at opposite ends of the table. Miss Hazel Shively, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Wharton Lann, the bride's cousin, served the cake.

White columns in the reception room were entwined with holly and baskets of white gladioli were placed elsewhere about the room. A memory candle, encircled by clusters of white grapes, graced the guest book table.

After a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the couple will be at home in Jonesboro. For travel the bride wore a white wool suit with mink collar, matching fur hat, long white gloves and off-white lizard shoes and bag. She also wore the white orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Martin graduated from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute with a B.S. Degree in business administration in June, 1960. Mr. Martin also attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Miss Cummings Becomes Bride Of Mr. Ragland

The wedding of Miss Helen Catherine Cummings and Thomas Earl Ragland was solemnized Wednesday, December 21 at 3:30 p.m. in the First Baptist church at Lake Providence.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Modie Lucille Gould Holmes and the late Fred Erwin Cummings, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Ragland Sr.

The Rev. Douglas Cheatham, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore an azure blue wool suit with black fur collar and black velvet bandeau and a shoulder corsage of white orchids.

The bride's mother and the bridegroom's father were attendants for the couple.

After a wedding trip the couple will return to Lake Providence for a short visit before leaving for south Louisiana, where he will be employed after the first of the year.

Miss Charlotte Brown Marries James E. Hislop

First Baptist Church of West Monroe was the scene of a double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Charlotte Brown, and James Edward Hislop, both of West Monroe, on December 22. Dr. Jaroy Weber performed the 7 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brown of Columbia. Mr. Hislop is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hislop Jr., 109 Oak Drive in West Monroe.

Forming a background for the exchange of vows were groups of five wrought iron candelabra holding burning white cathedral tapers, entwined with southern smilax. Between each group of candelabra were large fan shaped arrangements of white gladioli and blue flocked pine branches.

A program of organ nuptial music was presented by Mr. Sandy Lawn, who also accompanied Miss Norma Iris Strother, as she sang "Through the Years," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Donald R. Brown. She wore a floor - length gown of antique white peau de soie with floating panels forming a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a large peau de soie rose and she carried a cascade arrangement of white butterfly roses, centered by a white orchid.

Mrs. Ray Hopper, Lake Charles, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Millie Hislop, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Carolyn Boyce, Miss Suellen Brantly, Shreveport; and Miss Norma Iris Strother, Baton Rouge. The attendants wore identical gowns of sapphire blue chiffon with velvet insets at the Empire waists, with a velvet rose and bow accenting the left side of the waist. They wore white fur headbands and carried colonial bouquets of white glamellias centered and surrounded by red Happiness roses.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Lon Bass and groomsmen were Jimmy Edminston, Richard Ringheim, Richard Bennett and Jack Brown. Ushers who also served as candlelighters were Chuck Midyett and John Richard Dunn.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. E. L. Brantly, of Shreveport, wore an avocado green brocade taffeta frock with matching accessories and a white cattleya orchid corsage. Mrs. Brown, mother of the bridegroom, chose a mauve lace sheath with drape of chiffon, matching accessories and a white cattleya orchid corsage. Grandmothers of the couple wore corsages of white feathered chrysanthemums accented with touches of silver.

Immediately following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the church reception room. The round cake table was covered with a floor length cloth of white net over satin and decorated with small white bridal flowers and touches of blue flocked pine. The reception table was also covered with white net over satin and between the two punch bowls was a mass arrangement of white roses and candytuft, accented by blue valley lilies. A memory candle nestled in tiny white flowers and maline puffs graced the guest book table.

Those serving at the reception included Miss Faye Parker, Miss Gerry Lester, Mrs. Malcom LeFevre, Miss Ann Godfrey, Mrs. F. B. Davis, Mrs. Donald Farrow, Mrs. H. G. McMath, Miss Martha Norris, Miss Margaret Minard, Mrs. Joe Ware, Mrs. Delma Carter, Mrs. George Screpetis, Miss Betty Screpetis, Mrs. Copeck Webb, Mrs. Calbert Frantom, Mrs. Johnny Parker, Mrs. A. J. Lester, Mrs. William Reitzell, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. J. C. Lolley, Mrs. Oscar Harrell, Mrs. C. B. Welch, Mrs. W. D. Albritton. All wore corsages of small blue and white chrysanthemums, with accents of silver.

Susie Harrell and Lynn Welch, dressed in pink with matching corsages, distributed rice bags to the guests.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to New Orleans, the bride was wearing a royal blue wool sheath with matching accessories and the white orchid from her bouquet. The couple will be at home at 306 Slack in West Monroe.

Both are graduates of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, where Mr. Hislop became a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Out - of - town guests were Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. McMath, Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. Mack Avants, Trudi and Frances, Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. Turner Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Strother, Susan, Laurine and Patti Jane, all of Coushatta; Mrs. P. P. Woman In Top Position As Prosecutor

BOSTON (AP) — An attractive woman in her mid-30s now holds the No. 2 position in the United States Attorney's office in Massachusetts.

Miss Arlyne F. Hassett was signed by the U. S. Department of Justice in 1953 as an assistant U. S. Attorney. Since that time she has prosecuted many cases in the federal courts in Boston. And she made history by becoming the first woman attorney in this region to present criminal cases before a United States grand jury.

A graduate of Boston University and B. U. Law School, she was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1945 after receiving special permission to take the examination — because she was under 21.

"Dear Eunice,

"The only part of a wool dress that bothers me is the facing at the neckline. My neck gets red and itchy from it. Can I use a different type of material for the facings? Also, when a dress is lined is it necessary to use interfacing also?"

Mrs. C.M.

Dear Mrs. C.M.:

You may make the facings for a wool dress out of taffeta, dull satin, or any firm fabric in a matching color.

I think interfacing is necessary in any type fabric to help retain the original shape of the neckline. I like a woven type, firm interfacing. This would be applied to the wrong side of the garment itself, not to the facing. Then either your lining or your facing would be applied.

ZIPPER PROBLEMS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"The zipper just broke in a reversible skirt of my daughters. We have looked everywhere and there doesn't seem to be a zipper of this type at any store. Can you help us out?"

Mrs. E.W.G.

To my knowledge, there isn't a zipper of this type made. If you can locate a tailoring supply company, they will apply a separate "pull" to the wrong side of the zipper. That is actually the only difference between a zipper used in a reversible skirt and a regular zipper. Now it can be pulled up or down from either side. If you can't find a tailoring supply company, perhaps a tailor shop would have the tool necessary for this. Good luck.

"Dear Eunice,

"So many patterns call for sleeveless dresses to be worn with jackets. I don't look good in a sleeveless dress. Is it possible to make a cap sleeve out of a sleeveless pattern?"

Mrs. V.G.

Dear Mrs. V.G.:

This isn't too difficult to do. Pin a large piece of paper under your pattern so you can draw your new sleeve before laying the pattern on your fabric.

Extend the shoulder line as illustrated. This line should curve down and extend about 3" past the armhole. The underarm seam will be about 1" deeper. Be sure to re-inforce the underarm curved seam.

If your sleeve flares out too much, you can always take it in a little at the lower edge. For the facing, cut a strip of your garment fabric about 2½" wide. Since this lower edge of your sleeve is shaped, it would be better to cut the facing on the bias.

IDENTIFY RIGHT SIDE

"Dear Eunice,

"Is there any way that we can tell what is the right side of wool? Both sides look alike in so many pieces of wool."

Mrs. C.S.

Dear Mrs. C.S.:

One hundred per cent wool is always folded with the RIGHT side inside. If you have wool combined with silk, linen, cotton, etc., you will have to examine the selvage edge. You can usually tell how it is woven at the selvage and determine which side is the right side. It would be well to mark the wrong side of EACH piece of fabric you cut so you won't get it mixed up later.

Add Salt

If you are substituting hydrogenated fat for butter or margarine in a baked product, you'll probably have to increase the amount of salt. You'll need at least ¼ teaspoon salt for every half-cup of the fat.

The bouffant skirt fell in folds of lace in front and three tiers of lace and tulle at the back. Her short veil, edged in scallops of the lace, cascaded from a pearl - encrusted lace tiara and she carried a nosegay of white carnations on a Prayer Book.

Miss Kay Barnette of Little Rock, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a blue lace sheath dress over blue satin. Her headdress was of matching blue net with nose veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley.

Flower girl was Miss Beverly Barnette of Jonesboro, La., cousin of the bride, who wore a full-skirted dress of pale blue organdy over taffeta.

Serving Mr. Seamans as best man was Noel Burchffield of Crossett.

At the home reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. Glen Farmer had charge of the bride's book. The bride's table was covered with white net over taffeta, caught at intervals with silver Christmas ornaments. Miss Betty Willis presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Paul Langley and Miss Margie Clark served the tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Seamans is a graduate of Crossett high school and Mr. Seaman is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and holds a masters degree from Yale University. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Alpha Zeta fraternities.

The couple will make their home in Pierce, Idaho, where the bridegroom is with the United States Forest Service.

Add Salt

If you are substituting hydrogenated fat for butter or margarine in a baked product, you'll probably have to increase the amount of salt. You'll need at least ¼ teaspoon salt for every half-cup of the fat.

Couple Married In Methodist Church Setting

Miss Jeanette Elizabeth McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne J. McDonald Sr., 4015 Spurgeon Drive, became the bride of Ray Phares Corder, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Corder, Rt. 3, Monroe, on December 23.

The ceremony was held in the Gordon Avenue Methodist church, at 5 p.m. with Rev. Walter Allen officiating at the double ring rites. White tapers and baskets of white cramers and foliage formed a background for the bridal party.

Traditional wedding music was played by Ruby McAlvane, organist, who also accompanied Evelyn O'Connor, as she sang "The Story of Ruth," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waltz length gown of white satin with lace jacket, featuring three-quarter sleeves, and white lace mitts. A crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations encircling a white orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Lillian Price, wore a frock of gold crystalline, with gold slippers and gold net headdress. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Serving as best man was Phil M. Corder, with Alan Lee Petty and James H. Jenkins as ushers.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The tiered wedding cake was served from a table centered with a mound of white cramers and candles.

For travel when the couple left on a short trip, the bride was wearing a blue wool suit with white satin hat and black accessories. The couple will be at home at 3402 Lincoln St., in Monroe.

The bride was graduated from Ouachita Parish high school and Northeast Louisiana State college, where she was a member of Phi Mu national fraternity. A graduate of Neville high school, Mr. Corder also attended Northeast Louisiana State college, where he was affiliated with Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia.

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"The only part of a wool dress that bothers me is the facing at the neckline. My neck gets red and itchy from it. Can I use a different type of material for the facings? Also, when a dress is lined is it necessary to use interfacing also?"

Mrs. C.M.

Dear Mrs. C.M.:

You may make the facings for a wool dress out of taffeta, dull satin, or any firm fabric in a matching color.

I think interfacing is necessary in any type fabric to help retain the original shape of the neckline. I like a woven type, firm interfacing. This would be applied to the wrong side of the garment itself, not to the facing. Then either your lining or your facing would be applied.

ZIPPER PROBLEMS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"The zipper just broke in a reversible skirt of my daughters. We have looked everywhere and there doesn't seem to be a zipper of this type at any store. Can you help us out?"

Mrs. E.W.G.

To my knowledge, there isn't a zipper of this type made. If you can locate a tailoring supply company, they will apply a separate "pull" to the wrong side of the zipper. That is actually the only difference between a zipper used in a reversible skirt and a regular zipper. Now it can be pulled up or down from either side. If you can't find a tailoring supply company, perhaps a tailor shop would have the tool necessary for this. Good luck.

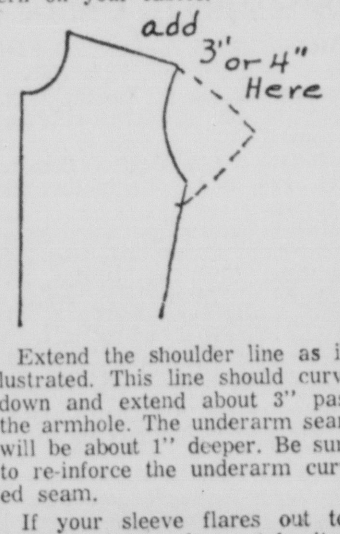
"Dear Eunice,

"So many patterns call for sleeveless dresses to be worn with jackets. I don't look good in a sleeveless dress. Is it possible to make a cap sleeve out of a sleeveless pattern?"

Mrs. V.G.

Dear Mrs. V.G.:

This isn't too difficult to do. Pin a large piece of paper under your pattern so you can draw your new sleeve before laying the pattern on your fabric.



Extend the shoulder line as illustrated. This line should curve down and extend about 3" past the armhole. The underarm seam will be about 1" deeper. Be sure to re-inforce the underarm curved seam.

If your sleeve flares out too much, you can always take it in a little at the lower edge. For the facing, cut a strip of your garment fabric about 2½" wide. Since this lower edge of your sleeve is shaped, it would be better to cut the facing on the bias.

IDENTIFY RIGHT SIDE

"Dear Eunice,

"Is there any way that we can tell what is the right side of wool? Both sides look alike in so many pieces of wool."

Mrs. C.S.

Dear Mrs. C.S.:

One hundred per cent wool is always folded with the RIGHT side inside. If you have wool combined with silk, linen, cotton, etc., you will have to examine the selvage edge. You can usually tell how it is woven at the selvage and determine which side is the right side. It would be well to mark the wrong side of EACH piece of fabric you cut so you won't get it mixed up later.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT C. MARTIN

Martin-Crawley Nuptials Solemnized In Jonesboro

Vows uniting Miss Hazel Ann Crawley and Robert C. Martin were solemnized December 18 at 3 p.m. in the First Baptist church of Jonesboro with the Rev. W. R. Lawrence Jr., officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Claude Crawley, of Jonesboro and Mr. Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levon H. Martin, also of Jonesboro.

Branched candelabra holding pink candles and entwined with greenery, interspersed with baskets of white gladioli and stock accented with pink bows formed a setting for the double ring ceremony. Triple pink tapers and ivy were placed in each window of the church.

Mrs. Billy Waits, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music and accompanied Tommy Davis, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Bobbie Charles Crawley. She wore a chapel length gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with basque bodice, Sabrina neckline etched with pearls and sequins and long tapered sleeves. Appliques of pearls and sequins embellished the bouffant tiered skirt. Her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a tiara of pearls and sequins and she carried a white Bible topped with a single white orchid, showered with fleur d'amour.

Mrs. Claudine Kennedy, attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a frock of American Beauty velveteen, styled with bateau neckline, basque waist, with three-quarter sleeves and full circle skirt. Her headpiece was a circle of American Beauty velveteen, to which was attached a pink net brow veil, matching her pink slippers. A cluster of American beauty rosebuds, showered with matching satin streamers was attached to the white fur muff she carried.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Betty Hall, sister of the bride and Mrs. Carolyn Crawley, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Ann Wilson. They were all dressed identically to the honor attendant.

Miss Angie Robinson, niece of the bridegroom, served as flower girl and wore a petite facsimile of the dresses worn by the other attendants. She wore a wristlet of white fur, ornamented by American Beauty rosebuds and carried a white basket filled with the rose petals.

Candlelighters were Miss Betty Rhea and Mrs. Shirley Zuber, who wore dresses, shoes and headpieces identical to those of the bridesmaids, with wristlets of white fur, adorned with American Beauty rosebuds.

Serving his brother as best man was Charles Martin, with George Montgomery, Ben Daniels and John Harlow as groomsmen.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a two piece suit of ivory brocade satin with white felt hat, long white gloves and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale blue sheath of brocade satin with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the church reception room. The table was overlaid by a white cut-work cloth over pink and centered with a reflector ruffled with pink and American Beauty net on which was placed a pink tulle Christmas tree decorated with silver glitter. Silver candelabra holding pink tapers flanked the centerpiece with the punch bowl and tiered wedding cake at opposite ends of the table. Miss Hazel Shively, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Wharton Lann, the bride's cousin, served the cake.

White columns in the reception room were entwined with holly and baskets of white gladioli were placed elsewhere about the room. A memory candle, encircled by clusters of white grapes, graced the guest book table.

After a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the couple will be at home in Jonesboro. For travel the bride wore a white wool suit with mink collar, matching fur hat, long white gloves and off-white lizard shoes and bag. She also wore the white orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Martin graduated from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute with a B.S. Degree in business administration in June, 1960. Mr. Martin also attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Miss Cummings Becomes Bride Of Mr. Ragland

The wedding of Miss Helen Catherine Cummings and Thomas Earl Ragland was solemnized Wednesday, December 21 at 3:30 p.m. in the First Baptist church at Lake Providence.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Modie Lucille Gould Holmes and the late Fred Erwin Cummings, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Ragland Sr.

The Rev. Douglas Cheatham, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore an azure blue wool suit with black fur collar and black velvet bandeau and a shoulder corsage of white orchids.

The bride's mother and the bridegroom's father were attendants for the couple.

After a wedding trip the couple will return to Lake Providence for a short visit before leaving for south Louisiana, where he will be employed after the first of the year.

Jeannette Hogan, Steve Thompson Married In Temple Baptist Church

In a candlelight ceremony performed at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, December 27 in the Temple Baptist church at Ruston, Miss Jeanette Hogan became the bride of Steve Delwyn Thompson. Dr. B. Gray Allison officiated at the exchange of vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hogan of Ruston and Mr. Thompson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thompson of Winnsboro.

Pyramids of white tapers in branched candelabra, accented by fronds of emerald palms were placed at either side of the sanctuary. Banking the tapers were massive arrangements of gladioli, pompons and stock interspersed with red poinsettia blooms. Swags of ivy and red poinsettia blooms garlanded the choir rail and white satin bows entwined with ivy marked the pew caps.

As guests were escorted to their seats by ushers Floyd L. Ellerman, Tommy Bankston, T. W. Stodghill Jr., and Billy Thompson, brother of the bride, all of Winnsboro, Mrs. B. Gray Allison, organist, played a program of prenuptial music. She later accompanied Mrs. Floyd L. Ellerman who sang "Always," and "Because."

As the "Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin," by Wagner was played by the organist, the bride entered with her father. She wore a gown of white satin peau de soie and re-embroidered Alencon lace in the bell silhouette. Re-embroidered Alencon lace embellished the scalloped Sabrina neckline of the basque bodice and was repeated on the front of the skirt, highlighted with seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands and the bouffant skirt posed over hoop and crinolines, fell in graceful folds sweeping into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell in tiers from a crown of pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of lily of the valley centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Bobbie Sue Hogan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Betty Thompson, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Bondurant, Miss Carrice Russell, all of Winnsboro, and Miss Sue Wilkins of Delhi. They wore identical dresses of red velveteen designed with scoop necklines and brief sleeves. Bustle bows added back interest to the skirts and they wore short veils held in place by red velvet headpieces. Each carried a cascade arrangement of Fuji chrysanthemums.

At conclusion of the double ring ceremony, Mrs. Ellerman sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother, Mrs. Hogan, wore a dinner sheath of green lace, with satin slippers and gloves matching her small velvet leaf hat. Her shoulder corsage was a purple orchid. Mrs. Thompson wore a green sheath with lace bodice, small green hat and matching accessories, with a purple orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride were hosts at a reception in the church parlor. A memory candle burned on the guest book table where Miss Lubie Sutton presided.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length cloth of white cutwork, centered with an arrangement of pink camellias and lighted pink tapers. A milk glass punch bowl graced one end of the table, opposite the wedding cake, embossed with pink and green roses, and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Dick Taylor, Mrs. John Porter, Mrs. F. B. Mabry, all of Ruston; Mrs. Jewell Doughty, Mrs. Shelby Morse Jr., Miss Martha Ann Nelson, Miss Ann Miller, Miss Ann Tillman of Winnsboro; Mrs. Charles Stewart and Mrs. Tommy Thompson of Monroe and Mrs. Euel Webb of Shreveport. Rice bags were distributed by Misses Dianne and Becky Webb of Shreveport and Miss Ann Hogan of Ruston.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride wore a costume suit of green wool jersey with fur trim. Completing her ensemble were a feather hat and alligator bag and shoes. Her corsage was a white orchid from her bouquet.

Upon their return the couple will reside in Winnsboro.

Miss Charlotte Brown Marries James E. Hislop

First Baptist Church of West Monroe was the scene of a double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Charlotte Brown, and James Edward Hislop, both of West Monroe, on December 22. Dr. Jaroy Weber performed the 7 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brown of Columbia. Mr. Hislop is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hislop Jr., 109 Oak Drive in West Monroe.

Forming a background for the exchange of vows were groups of five wrought iron candelabra holding burning white cathedral tapers, entwined with southern smilax. Between each group of candelabra were large fan shaped arrangements of white gladioli and blue flocked pine branches.

A program of organ nuptial music was presented by Mr. Sandy Lawn, who also accompanied Miss Norma Iris Strother, as she sang "Through the Years," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Donald R. Brown. She wore a floor - length gown of antique white peau de soie with floating panels forming a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a large peau de soie rose and she carried a cascade arrangement of white butterfly roses, centered by a white orchid.

Mrs. Ray Hopper, Lake Charles, served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Millie Hislop, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Carolyn Boyce, Miss Suellen Brantly, Shreveport; and Miss Norma Iris Strother, Baton Rouge. The attendants wore identical gowns of sapphire blue chiffon with velvet insets at the Empire waists, with a velvet rose and bow accenting the left side of the waist. They wore white fur headbands and carried colonial bouquets of white glamellias centered and surrounded by red Happiness roses.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Lon Bass and groomsmen were Jimmy Edminston, Richard Ringheim, Richard Bennett and Jack Brown. Ushers who also served as candlelighters were Chuck Midyett and John Richard Dunn.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. E. L. Brantly, of Shreveport, wore an avocado green brocade taffeta frock with matching accessories and a white cattleya orchid corsage. Mrs. Brown, mother of the bridegroom, chose a mauve lace sheath with drape of chiffon, matching accessories and a white cattleya orchid corsage. Grandmothers of the couple wore corsages of white feathered chrysanthemums accented with touches of silver.

Immediately following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the church reception room. The round cake table was covered with a floor length cloth of white net over satin and decorated with small white bridal flowers and touches of blue flocked pine. The reception table was also covered with white net over satin and between the two punch bowls was a mass arrangement of white roses and candytuft, accented by blue valley lilies. A memory candle nestled in tiny white flowers and maline puffs graced the guest book table.

Those serving at the reception included Miss Faye Parker, Miss Gerry Lester, Mrs. Malcom LeFevre, Miss Ann Godfrey, Mrs. F. B. Davis, Mrs. Donald Farrow, Mrs. H. G. McMath, Miss Martha Norris, Miss Margaret Minard, Mrs. Joe Ware, Mrs. Delma Carter, Mrs. George Screpetis, Miss Betty Screpetis, Mrs. Copeck Webb, Mrs. Calbert Frantom, Mrs. Johnny Parker, Mrs. A. J. Lester, Mrs. William Reitzell, Mrs. R. P. McKay, Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. J. C. Lolley, Mrs. Oscar Harrell, Mrs. C. B. Welch, Mrs. W. D. Albritton. All wore corsages of small blue and white chrysanthemums, with accents of silver.

Susie Harrell and Lynn Welch, dressed in pink with matching corsages, distributed rice bags to the guests.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to New Orleans, the bride was wearing a royal blue wool sheath with matching accessories and the white orchid from her bouquet. The couple will be at home at 306 Slack in West Monroe.

Both are graduates of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, where Mr. Hislop became a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Out - of - town guests were Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lynda Gilbreath Becomes Bride Of Larry Philpott

Miss Lynda Patricia Gilbreath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Gilbreath of Tallulah, became the bride of Larry Philpott, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Philpott of Vicksburg, on Tuesday evening, December 20 in the Tallulah Church of Christ.

The minister, Albert Ward, performed the double ring ceremony beneath an arch of greenery, banked by baskets of white gladioli and branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers.

Jerry and Gary Gilbreath, twin brothers of the bride, served as candlelighters and recordings of the Harding College choir furnished the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of bridal satin, styled with fitted bodice of Chantilly lace, accented with seed pearls and sequins, a high neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls and sequins and she wore white gloves and white satin slippers. The bride's bouquet was of white carnations, lilies of the valley and ivy.

Miss Betty Morris of Rayville, maid of honor and Miss Sue Grace of Vicksburg and Mrs. Billy Keyes, Fort Campbell, Ky., bridesmaids, wore identical floor length gowns of old gold peau de soie with matching headdresses and slippers. They carried nosegays of bronze carnations.

Betty Gilbreath, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, and was dressed similar to the other attendants, with a nosegay of yellow carnations. Debra Feder of Vicksburg, as flower girl, was also dressed in old gold and carried a basket of yellow chrysanthemum petals.

Sidney Ross of Vicksburg, served the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Donald Wiseman of Memphis, Roddie Randall and George Gilbreath of Tallulah and John Daniel of Sumrall, Miss.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gilbreath wore a dress of blue lace with black accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Philpott, wore brown lace, matching accessories and a yellow and bronze orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Tallulah Book Club building. The refreshment table was centered with a bouquet of white carnations and fern, flanked by white candles.

Miss Freda White presided at the crystal punch service and Miss Linda Laird served the tiered wedding cake. Tea girls assisting in the courtesies were Miss Carolyn Wroten, Miss Myrtis Wyly, Miss Hazel Jean Roberson and Mrs. Diane Raley.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a beige jacket ensemble with brown accessories and a yellow orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Tallulah high school and attended Mercy Hospital School of nursing in Vicksburg. Mr. Philpott graduated at Carr Central high school in Vicksburg and is a senior civil engineering student at Mississippi State University in Starkville, where the couple will reside.

Out-of-town guests from Vicksburg, Starksville, Lake Providence, Tallulah and Ft. Campbell Ky., attended the wedding.

MRS. CLYDE L. KEENE

Morning Wedding Unites Miss DeMoss, Mr. Keene

St. Edwards Catholic Church in Tallulah was the setting for the 10 a.m. wedding Friday, December 23 which united in marriage Miss Dorothy Ann DeMoss and Clyde L. Keene. The Rev. William Hopp officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown DeMoss Jr., of Tallulah, and Mr. Keene is the son of Mrs. Kathryn Westmoreland Brown, also of Tallulah.

Arrangements of white stock and gladioli with cathedral tapers were arranged on the main altar, flanked on either side by pedestal baskets of stock and gladioli against a background of branched candelabra holding white tapers. Pews were marked by clusters of white tulle and satin.

Mrs. J. M. Gilfoil presented a program of organ music preceding the exchange of vows and accompanied Miss Ernestine Stewart, who sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," and Bless These Souls, O Lord."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bouquet taffeta and Alencon lace. The lace bodice over taffeta was reembroidered with seed pearls and Swiss crystals, and featured scalloped neckline and short cap sleeves. An asymmetrically draped cummerbund scattered with reembroidered lace medallions accented the waist and the softly belled skirt dipped into a wide sweeping train in back. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of pearls and crystals and she carried a shower bouquet of stephanotis and lily of the valley centered with a white orchid. The bride's only jewelry was an heirloom necklace of pearls belonging to her great grandmother.

Miss Margaret DeMoss served her sister as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Ginny Williamson, cousin of the bride; Miss Mary Jane King, and Miss Susan Ward, New Orleans, also a cousin of the bride.

The attendants wore identical frocks of emerald green satin, fashioned with fitted basques, scooped necklines and bell shaped ballerina length shoes. Their shoes were of matching satin, their headdresses were matching pearl encrusted bandeaux with short nose veils. White glamellias formed their crescent shaped bouquets.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his uncle, Cordes Williamson. Groomsmen were Jim Brown, Johnny Goss, and Edward Smith. Ushers included Billy DeMoss, Jerry Fuller, Eddy Gunn and Billy Ray Sullivan.

Mrs. DeMoss wore for the occasion a teal blue satin gown, with matching accessories and a cymbidium orchid pinned to her bag. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Brown, wore a sheath and jacket ensemble of green and white brocade with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the American Legion Home. Following the color scheme of the wedding, the spacious hall was decorated with evergreen pot plants and arrangements of white camellias.

Miss Linda Morris presided at the guest book from a table centered with a miniature bride and groom, encircled by sprays of ivy and flanked by white candles. The bride's table, covered with a white tulle and satin floor-length cloth, was centered with the wedding cake. White columns separated the tiers of the cake which was topped with wedding bells of pink and white. Mrs. M. H. Hanna of Delhi and Mrs. W. M. DeMoss served the cake. The punch tables, covered with floor length satin cloths held arrangements of white camelias in the center of four - branched candelabras which held white tapers. Presiding at the silver punch bowls were Miss Lee Craig, Miss Carolyn Friis, Miss Dorothy Gilfoil and Mrs. Dick Hodges.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. W. E. Regenold, Mrs. H. S. Provine and Mrs. Lonnie Jennings. Rice bags were distributed by Betty DeMoss, Kay DeMoss and Mary Beth DeMoss.

For her going - away costume the bride changed to a bright blue wool dress, styled with a pleated skirt, with which she wore a flower hat in matching shade of satin and a white orchid corsage.

Brass altar vases were filled with white carnations, stock and fern and banking the choir stall were white floor baskets of stock and greenery. Pine and holly boughs adorned the windows and white bows marked the family pews.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by the organist, David Tschabold, who played "Trumpet Toluntary" (Purcell) as the processional and "Trumpet Tune Arioso" (Handel) and Pastorale Symphony. Candles were lighted by acolytes Steve Burton and William Stanley Burton Jr.

The Rev. Paul A. Voney officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of Copenhagen blue silk shantung with V - neckline, brief sleeves, crushed jewel blue chiffon belt and beautifully detailed short jacket. Her tiny hat was a curve of blue velvet leaves and gun metal gray berries and veiling. She carried a colonial bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid, with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. F. N. Weston, Monroe, cousin of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a misty colored cornflower slim styled wool with blue shortie gloves and whimsey of blue leaves and gray berries. Her colonial bouquet was of feathered pink carnations with shower streamers.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Joe Theriot of Lake Charles.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Barfield wore a light gray wool jersey with rhinestone and sequin designs on bodice and looped belt. Her white trellis half hat was encrusted with sequins and rhinestones and her shoulder corsage was of pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore a navy blue faille two - piece suit, pink feather shell hat, with pink accessories and pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the Legion Home on Bayou Tensas following the ceremony where Miss Marie Cochis, sister of the bridegroom, invited guests to register.

Three refreshment tables were overlaid with floor - length white organza cloths. The round cake table was presided over by Mrs. King Trieschman, and alternating at the silver punch service were Mrs. Luther Hill, Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. Philip Watson Jr., St. Joseph, La. Mrs. Clarence Martin, the former Virginia Hider, presided at the heirloom coffee service at a third table, garlanded with ivy sprays. The tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom was encircled with ivy wreaths.

Assisting as tea girls were Gay Schneider, Mrs. Sam Henry, Baton Rouge and Miss George Ann Hider of New Orleans. Mrs. W. B. Ragland Jr., rendered a concert of Christmas music during the reception.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Cochis will make their home in Baton Rouge where he is attending Louisiana State University graduate school, working toward a master's degree in horticulture and she is a member of the office personnel in the purchase department.

Morning Wedding Unites Miss DeMoss, Mr. Keene

St. Edwards Catholic Church in Tallulah was the setting for the 10 a.m. wedding Friday, December 23 which united in marriage Miss Dorothy Ann DeMoss and Clyde L. Keene. The Rev. William Hopp officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown DeMoss Jr., of Tallulah, and Mr. Keene is the son of Mrs. Kathryn Westmoreland Brown, also of Tallulah.

Arrangements of white stock and gladioli with cathedral tapers were arranged on the main altar, flanked on either side by pedestal baskets of stock and gladioli against a background of branched candelabra holding white tapers. Pews were marked by clusters of white tulle and satin.

Mrs. J. M. Gilfoil presented a program of organ music preceding the exchange of vows and accompanied Miss Ernestine Stewart, who sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," and Bless These Souls, O Lord."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bouquet taffeta and Alencon lace. The lace bodice over taffeta was reembroidered with seed pearls and Swiss crystals, and featured scalloped neckline and short cap sleeves. An asymmetrically draped cummerbund scattered with reembroidered lace medallions accented the waist and the softly belled skirt dipped into a wide sweeping train in back. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of pearls and crystals and she carried a shower bouquet of stephanotis and lily of the valley centered with a white orchid. The bride's only jewelry was an heirloom necklace of pearls belonging to her great grandmother.

Miss Margaret DeMoss served her sister as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Ginny Williamson, cousin of the bride; Miss Mary Jane King, and Miss Susan Ward, New Orleans, also a cousin of the bride.

The attendants wore identical frocks of emerald green satin, fashioned with fitted basques, scooped necklines and bell shaped ballerina length shoes. Their shoes were of matching satin, their headdresses were matching pearl encrusted bandeaux with short nose veils. White glamellias formed their crescent shaped bouquets.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his uncle, Cordes Williamson. Groomsmen were Jim Brown, Johnny Goss, and Edward Smith. Ushers included Billy DeMoss, Jerry Fuller, Eddy Gunn and Billy Ray Sullivan.

Mrs. DeMoss wore for the occasion a teal blue satin gown, with matching accessories and a cymbidium orchid pinned to her bag. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Brown, wore a sheath and jacket ensemble of green and white brocade with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the American Legion Home. Following the color scheme of the wedding, the spacious hall was decorated with evergreen pot plants and arrangements of white camellias.

Miss Linda Morris presided at the guest book from a table centered with a miniature bride and groom, encircled by sprays of ivy and flanked by white candles. The bride's table, covered with a white tulle and satin floor-length cloth, was centered with the wedding cake. White columns separated the tiers of the cake which was topped with wedding bells of pink and white. Mrs. M. H. Hanna of Delhi and Mrs. W. M. DeMoss served the cake. The punch tables, covered with floor length satin cloths held arrangements of white camelias in the center of four - branched candelabras which held white tapers. Presiding at the silver punch bowls were Miss Lee Craig, Miss Carolyn Friis, Miss Dorothy Gilfoil and Mrs. Dick Hodges.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. W. E. Regenold, Mrs. H. S. Provine and Mrs. Lonnie Jennings. Rice bags were distributed by Betty DeMoss, Kay DeMoss and Mary Beth DeMoss.

For her going - away costume the bride changed to a bright blue wool dress, styled with a pleated skirt, with which she wore a flower hat in matching shade of satin and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will be at home in Norfolk, Virginia, where Mr. Kenne is stationed with the United States Navy.

MRS. JAMES MICHAEL ALFORD

Lt. James Alford, Bride To Reside In Mississippi

Miss Helen Anne Trent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Trent, Rt. 2, Brookneal, Virginia, became the bride of Lieutenant James Michael Alford, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Alford, West Monroe, in a ceremony performed December 27 at 4:30 p.m. at Falling River Baptist church in Virginia.

Rev. Elton McDowell performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of palms interspersed with cathedral tapers in antique candelabra and white poinsettias. Two pedestal baskets of white gladioli, pompons and huckleberry greenery banked the altar arrangement.

Mrs. Barbara Clarkson, organist, presented a program of nuptial music, including the traditional wedding marches, and also accompanied Jimmy Mason as he sang, "Because," "The Wedding Prayer," and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of delustered satin. The pointed basque bodice featured long tapering sleeves and a Sabrina neckline with a deep yoke of appliqued lace medallions embroidered in seed pearls. The very full skirt swept into a chapel train and her three-tiered veil of imported silk illusion cascaded from a crown of lace embroidered in seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade arrangement of red garnet roses and white carnations encircling a white orchid.

Miss Rose Lovell, Falls Church, Va., was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Carol Lewis, Cranford, N.J., Miss Katherine Salmon, Stanhope, N.J., Miss Joyce Thomas, Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Bob Trent, sister-in-law of the bride. The attendants wore identical princess frocks of holly red delustered satin with panel back and front. Their headdresses were circular nose veils and they carried muffs of matching velveteen to which sprigs of holly were attached.

Gwen Garrett, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and wore a white organza dress with a red satin bow and white headpiece. She carried a basket of rose petals. Denny Elder, nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer.

High Noon Vows At Episcopal Church Unite Dona Davies, Palmer Jarrell

In a ceremony solemnized at 12 o'clock noon Tuesday, December 27, Miss Dona Davies, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. Donald Davies, 501 Erin, became the bride of Cecil Palmer Jerrell Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Jarrell, 1504 Emerson.

The vows were exchanged in Grace Episcopal church with the bride's father performing the double ring ceremony.

Two altar vases held fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli, centered with clusters of white pompon chrysanthemums. Branched candelabra in graduating sizes holding white tapers were used on either side of the altar and red poinsettias on the chancel steps completed the setting for the bridal party.

A prelude of nuptial music was rendered by the organist, Jerry McSpadden, who also accompanied the soloist, Sonny Dozier, as he sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marraige by her grandfather, Mr. A. D. Davies of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Her floor - length gown of white satin, was designed with a silk organza overskirt, embellished with rose bud paillettes. The satin bodice, styled with long tapering sleeves that fastened at the wrists with tiny self - covered buttons were also embroidered with organdy rose buds and pearls. Pearls outlined the scalloped Sabrina neckline and her waist - length veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of sequins, pearls and tear drops. The bride carried a bouquet of white rose buds.

Miss Ann Trousdale as maid of honor, wore a frock of wine-colored velvet. Her headdress of matching material featured a band of velvet leaves with a wine colored veil attached and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, outlined with white net.

Bridesmaids, who were dressed identical to the honor attendant, were Miss Betty Lou Echols, Bastrop, Mrs. Richard C. Guerriero and Mrs. Elmer C. Slagle Jr., sister of the bridegroom.

Dr. Cecil P. Jarrell served his son as best man and the groomsmen were Elmer C. Slagle Jr., Thomas Godfrey, and Al DeBlieux, Natchitoches. Ushers were Duncal Buie and Charles Buie.

The bride's brothers also assisted in the ceremony with Tim and Mark Davies as acolytes and David Davies, serving as torchbearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davies wore a beige lace sheath dress, styled with apron effect of matching lace. To complete her costume she wore a tan feather hat and matching tan accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Jarrell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a green frock, fashioned with lace bodice and satin skirt, with matching shoes, hat and bag. She also wore an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church Parish House, with the bride's parents as hosts. The tiered wedding cake, centered the bride's table, which was covered with a white Madeira cloth. Flanking the cake were two four - branched silver candelabra epergnes, holding white tapers and arrangements of white carnations. The punch table was also covered with a Madeira cloth, with a centerpiece of white carnations and two smaller candelabra. Punch was served from silver bowls at each end of the table.

For a wedding trip to Mexico the bride changed to a blue suit, accented with a pearl - embroidered collar and matching blue feather hat. Completing her costume were white gloves, and black shoes and bag. Upon their return January 3 the couple will establish a home in Monroe.

Mrs. Jarrell was graduated from Neville high school and is now attending Northeast Louisiana State College, where she is a member of Phi Mu sorority. Mr. Jarrell, also a graduate of Neville, attended Louisiana State University and is now enrolled at Northeast. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

Among the out - of - town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Davies of Pitsburgh, Pa.

Women Prefer Sexy Reading

Married women in Milwaukee read more books with sex themes than do married men, according to a survey by two Marquette University professors.

They found 30 per cent of the books read by Milwaukee wives and 25 per cent by the city's husbands fall in the sexy category.

Arthur S. McDonald, head of the Marquette Reading Center, said he does not consider the percentage of reading of sex theme literature to be extremely high. McDonald and Robert Craig, research director for the education department, conducted the survey.

The professors also determined that only about 25 per cent of Milweukee's adults are consistent readers.

Families of Mrs. McMullen and Mr. White present for the occasion were Albert McMullen and their two sons, Albert McMullen and Robert McMullen, and Mr. White's son, First Lt. Billy T. White, Mrs. Billy White and their daughters, Deborah and Suzanne from Columbus, Georgia, and his wife, Mrs. White.

Fluitt-Brown Wedding Held In Catholic Church

Our Lady of Fatima Catholic church was scene of the wedding of Miss Clarice Ann Brown and George Marbury Fluitt Jr., solemnized at 4 p.m. Monday, December 26. Rev. George W. Martinez was officiant for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde K. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. George Marbury Fluitt Sr., all of Monroe.

Decorations for the church featured a replica of the Nativity scene, against a background of cedars, illuminated by blue lights, with a bright star reflecting rays on the manger scene. Red poinsettias and white tapers banked the altars.

Ronnie Brothers, organist and Davis Bingham, soloist, presented a program of nuptial music including "O Lord Most Holy," by Franck and "Ave Maria," by Schubert.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length gown of antique white satin, enhanced by a heart-shaped neckline and long tapered lace sleeves. A scalloped pearl tiara held her fingertip tulle veil which was appliqued with lace and she wore a gold cross on a chain, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arrangement of white chrysanthemums, centered with a large yellow - throated white orchid.

Miss Madelyn Faye Parker of West Monroe, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length gown of red peau de soie satin with matching headpiece of velveteen flowers and carried a bouquet of red and white variegated carnations. Her slippers were of red satin.

Serving as best man was Don Saucier, cousin of the bridegroom. Ushers were J. L. Seidenspinner and Lewis Hardy, both of Monroe and W. A. Quirk III of Bunkie, La. Altar boys were Wayne Seidenspinner and Jay Merten.

Mrs. Brown wore a mauve lace and chiffon dress with matching hat and satin shoes and a corsage of white glamellias. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Fluitt, wore a sky - blue lace sheath with matching satin head bows and shoes and a corsage of white glamellias.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Our Lady of Fatima Recreation Hall adjoining the church. The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth over pink and centered with the tiered white columned cake, decorated with white swans, blue birds of happiness, love birds and topped with pale pink wedding bells holding sprays of orange blossoms and valley lilies. The cake, encircled with ivy and small white chrysanthemums was served by Mrs. Herschel Gentry Jr.

Red punch was served from two cut - glass punch bowls on an adjoining table which was centered with the maid of honor's bouquet. Miss Patsy Williams and Miss Ida Lea Hamilton presided at the punch bowls. Favors were presented the guests by Miss Dianne Stewart and Miss Ailene Gunn. Others assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. James R. Moore and Mrs. Howard W. Hennen, aunts of the bride.

The reception room was decorated with three baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and red carnations and containers of gold-sprayed magnolia leaves. One wall was covered with a mural depicting highlights of the romance and honeymoon of the newlywed couple.

After a wedding trip to Denver and Winter Park, Colo., the couple will be at home at 4113 Webster St., and both will continue studies at Northeast Louisiana State College. The bride is a junior majoring in speech education and is a member of Phi Mu social sorority and Phi Beta National Speech and Music fraternity. Mr. Fluitt graduated from Cathedral High school, Denver, Colo., and attended Dodge City College, Dodge City, Kans. He will receive his BA in professional speech from Northeast in August.

For travel the bride wore a cherry - wine two piece wool ensemble, with black feather hat and black accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Out - of - town guests were SFC and Mrs. William T. Brown, Ford Hood, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Brown and family, Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bradshaw and family, Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. Lee L. Berlin, Marksville, La., grandfather of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Quirk Jr., Miss Cecelia Quirk, Leroy Quirk, W. A. High Noon Vows At Episcopal Church Unite Dona Davies, Palmer Jarrell

In a ceremony solemnized at 12 o'clock noon Tuesday, December 27, Miss Dona Davies, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. Donald Davies, 501 Erin, became the bride of Cecil Palmer Jerrell Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Jarrell, 1504 Emerson.

The vows were exchanged in Grace Episcopal church with the bride's father performing the double ring ceremony.

Two altar vases held fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli, centered with clusters of white pompon chrysanthemums. Branched candelabra in graduating sizes holding white tapers were used on either side of the altar and red poinsettias on the chancel steps completed the setting for the bridal party.

A prelude of nuptial music was rendered by the organist, Jerry McSpadden, who also accompanied the soloist, Sonny Dozier, as he sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marraige by her grandfather, Mr. A. D. Davies of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Her floor - length gown of white satin, was designed with a silk organza overskirt, embellished with rose bud paillettes. The satin bodice, styled with long tapering sleeves that fastened at the wrists with tiny self - covered buttons were also embroidered with organdy rose buds and pearls. Pearls outlined the scalloped Sabrina neckline and her waist - length veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of sequins, pearls and tear drops. The bride carried a bouquet of white rose buds.

Miss Ann Trousdale as maid of honor, wore a frock of wine-colored velvet. Her headdress of matching material featured a band of velvet leaves with a wine colored veil attached and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, outlined with white net.

Bridesmaids, who were dressed identical to the honor attendant, were Miss Betty Lou Echols, Bastrop, Mrs. Richard C. Guerriero and Mrs. Elmer C. Slagle Jr., sister of the bridegroom.

Dr. Cecil P. Jarrell served his son as best man and the groomsmen were Elmer C. Slagle Jr., Thomas Godfrey, and Al DeBlieux, Natchitoches. Ushers were Duncal Buie and Charles Buie.

The bride's brothers also assisted in the ceremony with Tim and Mark Davies as acolytes and David Davies, serving as torchbearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davies wore a beige lace sheath dress, styled with apron effect of matching lace. To complete her costume she wore a tan feather hat and matching tan accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Jarrell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a green frock, fashioned with lace bodice and satin skirt, with matching shoes, hat and bag. She also wore an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church Parish House, with the bride's parents as hosts. The tiered wedding cake, centered the bride's table, which was covered with a white Madeira cloth. Flanking the cake were two four - branched silver candelabra epergnes, holding white tapers and arrangements of white carnations. The punch table was also covered with a Madeira cloth, with a centerpiece of white carnations and two smaller candelabra. Punch was served from silver bowls at each end of the table.

For a wedding trip to Mexico the bride changed to a blue suit, accented with a pearl - embroidered collar and matching blue feather hat. Completing her costume were white gloves, and black shoes and bag. Upon their return January 3 the couple will establish a home in Monroe.

Mrs. Jarrell was graduated from Neville high school and is now attending Northeast Louisiana State College, where she is a member of Phi Mu sorority, Mr. Jarrell, also a graduate of Neville, attended Louisiana State University and is now enrolled at Northeast. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

Among the out - of - town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Davies of Pitsburgh, Pa.

WEDDING SLATED—Vows uniting Miss Gloria Jean McAdams, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McAdams, Rt. 3, Monroe, and Charles M. Delasalle, son of Mrs. Selma Delasalle, Monroe, will be solemnized Friday, January 6. The ceremony will be performed at 7:30 p.m. in East Side Baptist church with Rev. O. J. Owens officiating. Attendants for the couple will be Miss Margaret Anzalone and Bill Moncrief. The couple will establish a home in Monroe.

Lake Providence Church Scene Of Lueg-Babb Vows

Miss Almedia Lee Babb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Alton Babb of Lake Providence, became the bride of William Bernard Lueg Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bernard Lueg Sr., of West Monroe, in a Christmas Day ceremony solemnized in the First Methodist church at Lake Providence.

Rev. George York performed the 4 p.m. ceremony in a setting of magnolia leaves and pink candles. The altar rail and choir stall were garlanded with clusters of magnolia leaves, with candelabra attached to white simulated marble columns in the background. Poinsettias were banked in front of the altar, with spiral candelabra of pink tapers at either side.

Mrs. Jack Holt, organist, accompanied Mrs. E. G. Johnson, who sang "I Love You," and "O Perfect Love," and also played traditional wedding selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and peau de soie. The lace bodice featured a round neckline and three quarter sleeves with the petal skirt of peau de soie. Her fingertip veil was attached to a coronet of seed pearls, pearlized orange blossoms and net leaves. The bride's bouquet was fashioned of white simulated poinsettias, centered with white dendrodium orchids and gold Christmas balls in a cascade of gold ivy.

Honor attendants were the bride's sisters, Miss Carolyn Babb as maid of honor and Mrs. Ted Bull, Boontown, N. J., matron of honor. They wore identical sheath dresses of pink peau de soie with petal overskirts. Their hats were pink peau de soie pillbox types with silk organza petal brims and they carried bouquets of simulated red poinsettias with white hyacinth centers and cascades of gold ivy. Their slippers were matching pink satin.

Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Babb and Miss Carolyn Lueg, sister of the bridegroom, who wore red peau de soie sheaths with petal overskirts and Miss Ruth Babb, who was dressed in red taffeta with a full petal skirt. Their frocks and hats were identical to the honor attendants' and they carried bouquets of pink simulated poinsettias with white hyacinth centers and cascades of gold ivy.

Carlton Lueg of West Monroe, attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen - ushers were Don Allen, Dallas, Tex., Ronald Avery, Little Rock, Ark., and Don Williams, West Monroe. Ring bearer was John Babb, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a pink floral sheath, with matching hat, red shoes and gloves and a corsage of red roses with gold ribbons. Mrs. Lueg wore a brown crepe with bone accessories and half - hat covered with bronze sequins and beads. Her corsage was also of red roses and gold ribbon.

A reception was held in Methodist Fellowship Hall immediately following the exchange of vows. The punch table, covered with a white Mexican drawn work cloth was centered with a wrought iron Christmas tree holding pink candles and gold baubles. Mrs. William Shirey and Mrs. Frank Schulte, Memphis, Tenn., alternated at the crystal service and Miss Billie Sue Dance, Houston, Tex., served hors d'oeuvres. Mrs. T. J. Sitton served the tiered wedding cake which was topped with a cluster of bells and pale pink lily of the valley from a Madeira covered table, adorned with the bridesmaids' bouquets.

Miss Dorothy Sitton had charge of the guest book table on which rested a branch sniffer holding a pink angel and pink baubles. Tea girls were Miss. Faye Parker, West Monroe; Miss. Claudia Terral, and Miss. Daphne Deal of Lake Providence.

For a wedding trip to Houston, Texas, the bride was wearing a white jersey ensemble with leopard hat and brown accessories. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 1707 North Fourth in Monroe.

Mrs. Lueg attended Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C., Emory at Oxford, Ga., Baylor, Waco, Texas and graduated from Hendrix College, Conway, Ark. She formerly taught at George Robinson school in San Juan, Puerto Rico and is now teaching in West Monroe. Mr. Lueg is employed in Monroe and attending night classes at Northeast.

Women Prefer Sexy Reading

Married women in Milwaukee read more books with sex themes than do married men, according to a survey by two Marquette University professors.

They found 30 per cent of the books read by Milwaukee wives and 25 per cent by the city's husbands fall in the sexy category.

Arthur S. McDonald, head of the Marquette Reading Center, said he does not consider the percentage of reading of sex theme literature to be extremely high. McDonald and Robert Craig, research director for the education department, conducted the survey.

The professors also determined that only about 25 per cent of Milweukee's adults are consistent readers.

THE HOME SHIFT

Good Month For Planting

By MILDRED SWIFT

Don't you like to hang up a brand new calendar? That nice thick pad of months seems to promise lots of exciting new experiences that are on the way. Poets speak of this season as the "dying year" and so it is, according to the calendar.

It's most interesting how our 12 months got their names. They all date back to Ancient Rome. January was named to honor the Roman God, Janus, who was depicted as having two faces —one looking into the past and the other into the future.

JANUARY GARDEN JOBS

January is one of our best shrub and tree planting months. Plants bought in buckets give excellent results. The nurseryman will cut the bucket and you can slide the plant down in the well-made hole. We've talked about this planting before. This is an excellent time to move any shrubs in your own garden. If the plant is bare root, do everything in your power to keep these roots from drying out. This drying out is one of the gravest mistakes unknowing gardeners make. Once the roots are dried out, replacing them is a difficult task for the plant. If you can't plant right away and you have the bare rooted plant, wrap the roots in moist cloth and cover them with moist soil.

Some rose growers are impatient to prune bushes back now. You may do it and get away with it. If you do you'll have roses earlier than most folks next spring. However, a safer plan is to wait until the end of February for that pruning job. Open cuts can be seriously damaged if we should get a freeze, and we're likely to have just that in January and February.

While you're getting beds ready for spring planting, don't forget to prepare a place for your chrysanthemums. These will not be planted until March or April, but select a well drained spot with almost full, all day sunshine. Complete fertilizer 8-8-8 can be worked in the bed, now. The soil should be nice and loamy.

Scientists have found a poinsettia that does not have the milky juice that seeps out from the stem when a leaf is bruised or falls off. They'll be used in the future for breeding work.

Let me remind you again to fertilize your bulbs with 8-8-8 as they come up. Many of these are up — some old fashioned ones are blooming.

Fertilize camellias and azaleas as they cease blooming. Fertilize all other shrubs and trees in the garden this month and next.

Don't forget there are two varieties of the cherry that do well here. They are yeashino (pale pink that really looks more white than pink) and kivansan, a double pink that is deeper in color. We have a yeashino in our garden and we do enjoy the blossoms. It blooms late, so is seldom damaged by the cold. The neighbors enjoy this plant, too, because it is really "showy" when in bloom, a complete, compact mass of blooms. No leaves put out until the blossoms begin to fade. So far, we've found no insect disease worries with the cherry. The blossoms are gorgeous as cut flowers.

UPKEEP

When you are ready to plant, keep in mind the upkeep. A lot of scatter - gun planting means lost of plants to mow around. In my experience, I find beds easier to keep than shrubs planted individually. However, sometimes your plan calls for a row of trees or shrubs. Grass must be kept away from any plant for a distance of at least two feet, if that plant thrives. If you have St. Augustine and you neglect to trim, the grass will run up the shrub and drape itself over; which is certainly not what you want.

So — you can see that every time you put a plant out in the lawn, that's one more to mow around and to trim around. The moral to this story is, plan before planting. Get a piece of cross section paper, draw the house off to scale, then put in your plantings. It's lots easier to erase a circle than it is to move a plant. You'd be surprised how much your finished planting will look like your plan.

Remember, you put shade trees where you need them. Your clothes line is placed close to the place where you do your laundry. Then hide it by screen planting which can be shrubs or a fence or wall. Place your patio where you'll get the breeze and shade. If you plan to have a barbeque pit and you use it often, you'll certainly want this close to the kitchen. Put walks where you need them, not a little winding cute thing that nobody uses. If you use stepping stones, make them large enough and close enough together so that you don't have to "trip" the light fantastic to get from one stone to the next. Some of us are past the "tripping" age.

Remember, too, when you put stepping stones, each one will have to be trimmed at least once a month during grass growing season. If not, they'll soon be covered and cease to be of any use. Stepping stones placed on the level of the lawn make mowing easier. Notice where the family makes a beaten path. That's where you need a walk. Hard-surface walks save lots of tracking in the house which causes wear and tear on floors and carpets. These walks can be built as a family project using brick, asphalt, cement, cinders or gravel. If you use cinders or gravel you'll need a row of brick on each side, placed on the side, and sunk in the ground. Else you'll have gravel all over the lawn nicking your mower.

BUYING LINENS

Read the label before buying sheets, so you'll know what you're getting. The size on the label is the torn length of the sheet before hemming and shrinking. A sheet torn 108 inches long, after hemming and laundering will measure 98 to 100 inches.

You'll notice your label states the thread count of the sheet. This is given as number of threads per square inch. For muslin this is usually 140. For percals, 180 to 200. When laundry is paid for by weight, heavier sheets will increase the cost of the weekly wash. Some women say they prefer the lighter weight sheets as they are not so heavy to hang up on the line. Those owning dryers don't have this worry. More families buy the 132 and 128 count. Sheets will last from five to six years, if you alternate them.

Examine the selvage on the sheet, too. Many are wider and heavier, having extra threads woven in for longer wear. Some brands have double selvage.

Sheets are made of cotton percale, cotton muslin and nylon. Nylons are the most expensive. Examine the hem on all sheets. The stitches should be smooth and even, threads fastened securely, and ends closed. Fitted sheets go on the bed easier and smoother.

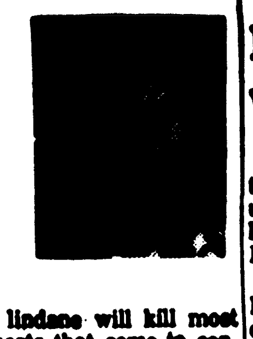
Wise Wishes Are Offered



By AUDREY DAWSON

This is New Year's Day, and the day we make our resolutions, but I'm going to be a bit different this year. In some of my reading, I found 10 wise wishes by Walter Hunt that I hope can be mine for the 12 months of 1961. May I share them with you?

I've listed them in the order of importance to me. First: The sense of the presence of God; second — a few friends who understand me and yet remain my friends; third — an understanding heart; fourth — nothing at the expense of others; fifth — work to do which has real value, and without, which the world would feel poorer; sixth, — the power to laugh; seventh — a mind unafraid to travel, even though the trail be not blazed; eight — a sight of the eternal hills and the unresting sea, and of something beautiful the hand of man has made; ninth — moments of leisure; and the last the patience to wait for the coming of these things with the wisdom to know when they come.

GARDENING

If you, Mrs. New Home Owner, are planning your landscape, and you want year-round screening on your home grounds, remember overgreen plants as cherry laurel, holly trees, sweet myrtle and eleagnus pungens, untrimmed if there is plenty of room. But if you need to save space the evergreens to select are red leaf photenia, viburnum tenus and sasanqua. Evergreen vines such as yellow jasmine and confederate jasmine on fence or fence panel make a nice screen for economy of space.

If privacy is required only for the summer months, evergreens are not essential. For summer screening flowering shrubs like crape myrtle, deutsia and althea, abelia, mock orange, weigela and the spireas.

HOUSEHOLD PESTS

Insects like to spend the winter in a warm cozy place — just as you do. Kirby Cockerham, our entomology specialist with LSU, suggest you lay down an invisible barrier of insecticide around the foundation of your house and on window sills and thresholds, if you do not want them to make a home with you.

A coarse spray of chlordane, dieldrin or lindane will kill most household pests that come in contact with it. Be sure to spray behind shrubs, around the foundations. If leaves and rotting plant materials have become packed against the foundation, rake them a few inches away from the walls before you spray. Cockerham gives the following directions for using the insecticide: Use one-half cup of 45 per cent Chlordane, 18.5 per cent Dieldrin, or 25 per cent Lindane liquid concentrate to a gallon of water. You may use a spray, sprinkler can or splash it on with a large paint brush. The brush is best to use on window and door sills. Don't get the mixture on plant foliage, or it may cause injury.

Lucille Ball, Bob Hope Star In Comedy

Two of the entertainment world's funniest people, Bob Hope and Lucille Ball are starred in the forthcoming comedy, "The Facts of Life," a United Artists release, which is scheduled today at the Paramount Theatre. Produced and directed by the famous team of Norman Panama and Melvin Frank, the picture also stars Ruth Hussey, Don De Fore and Louis Nye. Charles Lang, Jr. handled the cameras and the musical score was penned by Leigh Harline. A special title tune written by songsmith Johnny Mercer is sung by Eydie Gorme and Steve Lawrence.

HILARIUS

"The Facts of Life," is a hilarious film with serious undertones about life in suburbia with special emphasis on the possibilities of an extra - marital relationship between "neighbors" of the commuters' set. Bob and Lucy are married (but not to each other) have offspring, a respective wife and husband who take them for granted, are thrown together more than is good for them, and soon develop an affection for each other that is not good for them either.

As one can readily see, such a set up can be rife with hilarious situations, but also with an underlying serious theme. Panama and Frank's screenplay gives both elements their place.

Spur Of Moment Role Swap Peps Wild Irish Play

NEW YORK (AP) — A spur-of-the-moment role swap livened up recent performance of "The Hostage," Brendan Behan's wild Irish play.

Maxwell Shaw and Michael Forrest exchanged parts with the okay of the stage manager — who thought they were kidding. Forrest, who is Shaw's understudy, took over the Shaw's longest role, and Shaw enacted the other's regular small assignment. Both said it was a stimulating experience.

Young Actors To Alternate

NEW YORK (AP) — A touring version of "Romeo and Juliet" is going to have two young actors alternate in the male lead.

Joseph Papp, the producer, said the switch will "keep the play fresh and everyone on his toes." When not playing Romeo, the second actor will perform either Mercutio or Paris.

Papp, producer of the city's summer Shakespeare festival in Central Park, will display the romantic drama in city schools.

Foreign Nations Contrast Sharply In Preferences

NEW YORK (AP) —Foreign nations have sharply varying regional tastes in American entertainment, the American National Theater and Academy reports.

The agency administers the cultural exchange program set up by the State Department.

India is interested chiefly in visual entertainment which requires neither academic background nor linguistic skill; Continental Europe and South America seek symphony orchestras and ballet groups; African requests stress jazz and variety shows.

'The Alligators' To Be On Screen

NEW YORK (AP) —A one-act play by Molly Kazan, "The Alligators," has been purchased by Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer for transfer to the screen.

A melodrama about the widow of a bigtime gangster, "The Alligators" won critical applause during its off-Broadway run, tandemed with another Kazan one-acter, "Rosemary."

Good Month For Planting

By MILDRED SWIFT

Don't you like to hang up a brand new calendar? That nice thick pad of months seems to promise lots of exciting new experiences that are on the way. Poets speak of this season as the "dying year" and so it is, according to the calendar.

It's most interesting how our 12 months got their names. They all date back to Ancient Rome. January was named to honor the Roman God, Janus, who was depicted as having two faces —one looking into the past and the other into the future.

JANUARY GARDEN JOBS

January is one of our best shrub and tree planting months. Plants bought in buckets give excellent results. The nurseryman will cut the bucket and you can slide the plant down in the well-made hole. We've talked about this planting before. This is an excellent time to move any shrubs in your own garden. If the plant is bare root, do everything in your power to keep these roots from drying out. This drying out is one of the gravest mistakes unknowing gardeners make. Once the roots are dried out, replacing them is a difficult task for the plant. If you can't plant right away and you have the bare rooted plant, wrap the roots in moist cloth and cover them with moist soil.

Some rose growers are impatient to prune bushes back now. You may do it and get away with it. If you do you'll have roses earlier than most folks next spring. However, a safer plan is to wait until the end of February for that pruning job. Open cuts can be seriously damaged if we should get a freeze, and we're likely to have just that in January and February.

While you're getting beds ready for spring planting, don't forget to prepare a place for your chrysanthemums. These will not be planted until March or April, but select a well drained spot with almost full, all day sunshine. Complete fertilizer 8-8-8 can be worked in the bed, now. The soil should be nice and loamy.

Scientists have found a poinsettia that does not have the milky juice that seeps out from the stem when a leaf is bruised or falls off. They'll be used in the future for breeding work.

Let me remind you again to fertilize your bulbs with 8-8-8 as they come up. Many of these are up — some old fashioned ones are blooming.

Fertilize camellias and azaleas as they cease blooming. Fertilize all other shrubs and trees in the garden this month and next.

Don't forget there are two varieties of the cherry that do well here. They are yeashino (pale pink that really looks more white than pink) and kivansan, a double pink that is deeper in color. We have a yeashino in our garden and we do enjoy the blossoms. It blooms late, so is seldom damaged by the cold. The neighbors enjoy this plant, too, because it is really "showy" when in bloom, a complete, compact mass of blooms. No leaves put out until the blossoms begin to fade. So far, we've found no insect disease worries with the cherry. The blossoms are gorgeous as cut flowers.

UPKEEP

When you are ready to plant, keep in mind the upkeep. A lot of scatter - gun planting means lost of plants to mow around. In my experience, I find beds easier to keep than shrubs planted individually. However, sometimes your plan calls for a row of trees or shrubs. Grass must be kept away from any plant for a distance of at least two feet, if that plant thrives. If you have St. Augustine and you neglect to trim, the grass will run up the shrub and drape itself over; which is certainly not what you want.

So — you can see that every time you put a plant out in the lawn, that's one more to mow around and to trim around. The moral to this story is, plan before planting. Get a piece of cross section paper, draw the house off to scale, then put in your plantings. It's lots easier to erase a circle than it is to move a plant. You'd be surprised how much your finished planting will look like your plan.

Remember, you put shade trees where you need them. Your clothes line is placed close to the place where you do your laundry. Then hide it by screen planting which can be shrubs or a fence or wall. Place your patio where you'll get the breeze and shade. If you plan to have a barbeque pit and you use it often, you'll certainly want this close to the kitchen. Put walks where you need them, not a little winding cute thing that nobody uses. If you use stepping stones, make them large enough and close enough together so that you don't have to "trip" the light fantastic to get from one stone to the next. Some of us are past the "tripping" age.

Remember, too, when you put stepping stones, each one will have to be trimmed at least once a month during grass growing season. If not, they'll soon be covered and cease to be of any use. Stepping stones placed on the level of the lawn make mowing easier. Notice where the family makes a beaten path. That's where you need a walk. Hard-surface walks save lots of tracking in the house which causes wear and tear on floors and carpets. These walks can be built as a family project using brick, asphalt, cement, cinders or gravel. If you use cinders or gravel you'll need a row of brick on each side, placed on the side, and sunk in the ground. Else you'll have gravel all over the lawn nicking your mower.

BUYING LINENS

Read the label before buying sheets, so you'll know what you're getting. The size on the label is the torn length of the sheet before hemming and shrinking. A sheet torn 108 inches long, after hemming and laundering will measure 98 to 100 inches.

You'll notice your label states the thread count of the sheet. This is given as number of threads per square inch. For muslin this is usually 140. For percals, 180 to 200. When laundry is paid for by weight, heavier sheets will increase the cost of the weekly wash. Some women say they prefer the lighter weight sheets as they are not so heavy to hang up on the line. Those owning dryers don't have this worry. More families buy the 132 and 128 count. Sheets will last from five to six years, if you alternate them.

Examine the selvage on the sheet, too. Many are wider and heavier, having extra threads woven in for longer wear. Some brands have double selvage.

Sheets are made of cotton percale, cotton muslin and nylon. Nylons are the most expensive. Examine the hem on all sheets. The stitches should be smooth and even, threads fastened securely, and ends closed. Fitted sheets go on the bed easier and smoother.

Wise Wishes Are Offered

By AUDREY DAWSON

This is New Year's Day, and the day we make our resolutions, but I'm going to be a bit different this year. In some of my reading, I found 10 wise wishes by Walter Hunt that I hope can be mine for the 12 months of 1961. May I share them with you?

I've listed them in the order of importance to me. First: The sense of the presence of God; second — a few friends who understand me and yet remain my friends; third — an understanding heart; fourth — nothing at the expense of others; fifth — work to do which has real value, and without, which the world would feel poorer; sixth, — the power to laugh; seventh — a mind unafraid to travel, even though the trail be not blazed; eight — a sight of the eternal hills and the unresting sea, and of something beautiful the hand of man has made; ninth — moments of leisure; and the last the patience to wait for the coming of these things with the wisdom to know when they come.

GARDENING

If you, Mrs. New Home Owner, are planning your landscape, and you want year-round screening on your home grounds, remember evergreen plants as cherry laurel, holly trees, sweet myrtle and eleagnus pungens, untrimmed if there is plenty of room. But if you need to save space the evergreens to select are red leaf photenia, viburnum tenus and sasanqua. Evergreen vines such as yellow jasmine and confederate jasmine on fence or fence panel make a nice screen for economy of space.

If privacy is required only for the summer months, evergreens are not essential. For summer screening flowering shrubs like crape myrtle, deutsia and althea, abelia, mock orange, weigela and the spireas.

HOUSEHOLD PESTS

Insects like to spend the winter in a warm cozy place — just as you do. Kirby Cockerham, our entomology specialist with LSU, suggest you lay down an invisible barrier of insecticide around the foundation of your house and on window sills and thresholds, if you do not want them to make a home with you.

A coarse spray of chlordane, dieldrin or lindane will kill most household pests that come in contact with it. Be sure to spray behind shrubs, around the foundations. If leaves and rotting plant materials have become packed against the foundation, rake them a few inches away from the walls before you spray. Cockerham gives the following directions for using the insecticide: Use one-half cup of 45 per cent Chlordane, 18.5 per cent Dieldrin, or 25 per cent Lindane liquid concentrate to a gallon of water. You may use a spray, sprinkler can or splash it on with a large paint brush. The brush is best to use on window and door sills. Don't get the mixture on plant foliage, or it may cause injury.

58 Building Permits Are Issued Here

A spurt in apartment house construction stood out among the 58 building permits issued during December. Three apartment houses valued at $165,000 helped boost the construction valuation last month to $633,700.

Almost one-third of this, $203,000, comes from nine permits for new construction and one addition issued during the past week.

Dale Martha, who issued the December permits, pointed out that they fell slightly under the $654,153 valuation for November.

Building permits for December included: 21 one-family units, $230,048; 2 two-family units, $19,000; eight-unit apartment house, $30,000; ten-unit apartment house, $55,000; 24-unit apartment house, $80,000; three warehouses, $34,000; hatchery, $2,500; office, $900; branch post office, $47,500; cafe, $12,000.

Nineteen permits for alterations and additions to residences were valued at $29,610, while six permits went for $74,154 worth of alterations and additions to non-residences.

Fifteen buildings were moved, two were demolished. All required permits.

Permits for the final week of December are:

December 23:

Thomas M. Keller received two permits: 1. construct one and one-half story brick veneer residence, nine rooms, three baths, 218 Country Club Rd., 4000 square feet, $35,000; 2. construct brick veneer duplex, eight rooms, two baths, 706 Stubbs Ave., 2000 square feet, $15,000.

December 27:

Mrs. Ruth Lagrone, move frame residence from 311 North 18th St. to 128 Blanks, 26 by 44 by 15 feet high, house value $500.

Better Homes Realty, move frame residence from 311 North 18th to rear 100 Powell Alley, 20 by 34 by 15 feet high, $200.

John Day, construct two-story brick veneer eight-unit apartment building, eight rooms and eight baths, 1503 N. College Ave., 4200 square feet, $30,000.

H. A. Turner, construct two-story brick veneer 24-unit apartment building, 24 rooms, 24 baths, 1413 Filhoil Ave., 11,352 square feet, $80,000.

Zebedee Graham, add carport to frame residence, 3006 Polk, $300.

C. H. Stewart, demolish frame residence, 414 Wood.

Wilbert Reed, construct brick veneer residence, five rooms and bath, 1600 Ford St., 900 square feet, $8500.

December 28:

A. Lee Booth, construct brick veneer residence, five rooms and bath, 3209 Dick Taylor St., 912 square feet, $11,200.

Jack Smith received two permits to move frame residences from West Monroe to: 1. 703 South 11th St., 28 by 34 by 15 feet high, $850 value; 2. to 700 South 11th St., 28 by 44 by 15 feet high, $1500 value.

December 29:

Frank Eason received two permits to construct frame and brick veneer residences: 1. Five rooms and bath, 200 Harn St., 1100 square feet, $11,000; 2. Five rooms two baths, 1000 Emerson St., 1200 square feet, $12,000.

Army Releases Bardot's Mate

PARIS (AP)—Brigitte Bardot's husband has been released from the French army for the second time because of a nervous depression.

Army authorities said Saturday Jacques Charrier may be recalled in a year and drafted then if found physically fit. Earlier this year Charrier had been released from the army for similar reasons.

Charrier's marriage with Miss Bardot has been on the rocks for several months, although they are not legally separated.

No One Injured In Derailment

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — Two wheels of a passenger car on the Super Chief went off the track at 90 m.p.h. near Abbyville, Kan. Saturday. The wheels rerailed themselves at a switchpoint about three-fourths of a mile away.

No one was hurt and passengers barely were aware of the difficulty until conductor L. H. Arthur stopped the train.

The wheels were part of a set of eight at the rear of the ninth car of the 12-car train, the Santa Fe Railroad said. The car was cut out of the train at Dodge City because some of the wheel flanges were nicked.

Death Of Long Tops Area News

By EZRA ADAMS
State Editor

Top newspaper stories during 1960 in the northeast Louisiana area included at least one that received national attention: the death of three-time governor Earl Kemp Long.

Long, having suffered a heart attack, was admitted to an Alexandria hospital on Sept. 5, the day after he defeated incumbent Harold B. McSween for the hotly contested Eight District Congressional seat in the U. S. Congress.

"He worked himself to death in the campaign," commented Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who himself was this year inaugurated as governor for the second time. "He was a man who wouldn't quit," Gov. Davis remarked.

Thousands of persons viewed Long's body as it lay in the capitol rotunda at Baton Rouge two days before services were held in the Baton Rouge First Baptist church, of which he was a member.

The fiery politician, termed the last of the Long political dynasty, was buried in his hometown of Winnfield on Sept. 8, exactly 25 years after his famed brother Huey Pierce Long was assassinated in the state's skyscraper capitol, which Huey's administration provided for.

The Congressional seat Long had just won from McSween was filled later in the month by the Eighth District Democratic Committee after a political hassle over whether to call a special election. The committee nominated McSween for the post, which was paramount to election of the incumbent.

SLAYING

An admitted Concordia Parish murder August 6 received a great deal of attention by the press.

A former Monroe man, Wayne George, admitted shooting his ex-brother-in-law, L. R. Simmons of Orange, Tex., while Simmons worked on his farm near Black River.

Simmons died instantly after George fired six shots from a .22 pistol. The incident occurred about 2:15 on Saturday afternoon, and was witnessed by J. R. Booth, butane gas delivery-man who said Simmons had flagged him down on the road and asked him to service the gas tank at his nearby farm home.

Discovery of a young LaSalle Parish woman in her car, shot in the right temple by a .22 pistol, was a shock to her many friends who knew she had worked as a deputy clerk in Sheriff Herschel Floyd's office at Jena.

Miss Audrey Louise Webb of Nebo near Jena was found on Saturday night, Sept. 10. A .22 pistol was lying in the car.

She died Sunday morning in an Alex hospital.

A corner's jury determined that she died from injuries received in an "automobile accident and a puncture wound in the right temple."

CROSSETT SALE

An Arkansas business deal involving the Crossett Company was reported to be one of the largest in the state's history.

Property of the lumber, paper and chemical firm at Crossett was transferred to the Union Bag-Camp Co. of New York for a reported consideration of $158 million.

Since it was founded in 1898, the Crossett Company spread over some half-million acres of pine timberland in Arkansas and northeast Louisiana.

The deal was announced on May 5.

Rapides Parish Sheriff Grady Kelley was indicted May 18 by the grand jury on 18 counts of malfeasance in office and one count of "unauthorized use of a vehicle."

Authorities claimed that Kelley misappropriated more than $20,000 of public funds for personal use. The suit grew out of an investigation by a private citizen during the recent election campaign, in which the sheriff was re-elected.

On Sept. 21 Sheriff Kelley was arrested in his office and released on $9,500 bond.

Motorists of the area got an indication of what the new U. S. super highway system will be like on March 23, when a 9.7 mile stretch of Interstate Highway 20 between Choudrant and Ruston was opened in ceremonies widely covered by the press.

Many officials and the general public viewed the opening ceremonies.

It was the longest portion of the new highway system to open in Louisiana.

Nine human skeletons were unearthed accidentally by a road grader about 16 miles west of Winnfield on March 8, sending imaginative minds into a tizzy to determine just who was buried there, and when.

The skeletons were discovered near the southeastern tip of Saline Lake.

An archeologist from Louisiana State University determined later in the week that the skeletons were remains of either Caddo or Nakatosh Indians who once inhabited the area.

The professor estimated that the graves were more than 500 years old, and said the discovery was very significant from the archeological viewpoint.

It was the first such finding in the Winn Parish area.

What could have become a flu epidemic subsided early in March, following area reports that influenza was responsible for crowded hospitals during February.

At one time that month, more than 60 students and 35-40 teachers were reported ill with flu in Lincoln Parish alone.

Solons Favor Campaign Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House committee recommended Saturday cutting the length of the presidential general election campaign to between six and eight weeks.

It said this could be done by holding Republican and Democratic national conventions in September every four years instead of in July as has been customary.

The special committee to investigate campaign expenditures also said in a report on its study of elections problems, that Congress should give serious attention to financing of political campaigns.

The financing and campaign length questions are tied together, the committee said, because longer campaigns cost more money.

58 Building Permits Are Issued Here

A spurt in apartment house construction stood out among the 58 building permits issued during December. Three apartment houses valued at $165,000 helped boost the construction valuation last month to $633,709.

Almost one-third of this, $203,000, comes from nine permits for new construction and one addition issued during the past week.

Dale Martha, who issued the December permits, pointed out that they fell slightly under the $654,153 valuation for November.

Building permits for December included: 21 one-family units, $239,045; 2 two-family units, $19,000; eight-unit apartment house, $30,000; ten-unit apartment house, $55,000; 24-unit apartment house, $80,000; three warehouses, $34,000; hatchery, $2,500; office, $900; branch post office, $47,500; cafe, $12,000.

Nineteen permits for alterations and additions to residences were valued at $29,610, while six permits went for $74,154 worth of alterations and additions to non-residences.

Fifteen buildings were moved, two were demolished. All required permits.

Permits for the final week of December are:

December 23:

Thomas M. Keller received two permits: 1. construct one and one-half story brick veneer residence, nine rooms, three baths, 218 Country Club Rd., 4000 square feet, $35,000; 2. construct brick veneer duplex, eight rooms, two baths, 706 Stubbs Ave., 2000 square feet, $15,000.

December 27:

Better Homes Realty, move frame residence from 311 North 18th to rear 109 Powell Alley, 20 by 24 by 15 feet high, $200.

John Day, construct two-story brick veneer eight-unit apartment building, eight rooms and eight baths, 1503 N. College Ave., 4200 square feet, $30,000.

H. A. Turner, construct two-story brick veneer 24-unit apartment building, 24 rooms, 24 baths, 1413 Filhoil Ave., 11,352 square feet, $80,000.

Zebedee Graham, add carport to frame residence, 3906 Polk, $300.

C. H. Stewart, demolish frame residence, 414 Wood.

Wilbert Reed, construct brick veneer residence, five rooms and bath, 1600 Ford St., 900 square feet, $8500.

December 28:

A. Lee Booth, construct brick veneer residence, five rooms and bath, 3209 Dick Taylor St., 912 square feet, $11,200.

Jack Smith received two permits to move frame residences from West Monroe to : 1 703 South 11th St., 28 by 34 by 15 feet high, $850 value; 2. to 700 South 11th St., 28 by 44 by 15 feet high, $1500 value.

December 29:

Frank Eason received two permits to construct frame and brick veneer residences: 1. Five rooms and bath, 200 Harn St., 1100 square feet, $11,000; 2. Five rooms two baths, 1009 Emerson St., 1200 square feet, $12,000.

Army Releases Bardot's Mate

PARIS (AP)—Brigitte Bardot's husband has been released from the French army for the second time because of a nervous depression.

Army authorities said Saturday Jacques Charrier may be recalled in a year and drafted then if found physically fit. Earlier this year Charrier had been released from the army for similar reasons.

Charrier's marriage with Miss Bardot has been on the rocks for several months, although they are not legally separated.

No One Injured In Derailment

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — Two wheels of a passenger car on the Super Chief went off the track at 90 m.p.h. near Abbyville, Kan. Saturday. The wheels rerailed themselves at a switchpoint about three-fourths of a mile away.

No one was hurt and passengers barely were aware of the difficulty until conductor L. H. Arthur stopped the train.

The wheels were part of a set of eight at the rear of the ninth car of the 12-car train, the Santa Fe Railroad said. The car was cut out of the train at Dodge City because some of the wheel flanges were nicked.

Death Of Long Tops Area News

By EZRA ADAMS
State Editor

Top newspaper stories during 1960 in the northeast Louisiana area included at least one that received national attention: the death of three - time governor Earl Kemp Long.

Long, having suffered a heart attack, was admitted to an Alexandria hospital on Sept. 5, the day after he defeated incumbent Harold B. McSween for the hotly contested Eight District Congressional seat in the U. S. Congress.

"He worked himself to death in the campaign," commented Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who himself was this year inaugurated as governor for the second time. "He was a man who wouldn't quit," Gov. Davis remarked.

Thousands of persons viewed Long's body as it lay in the capitol rotunda at Baton Rouge two days before services were held in the Baton Rouge First Baptist church, of which he was a member.

The fiery politician, termed the last of the Long political dynasty, was buried in his hometown of Winnfield on Sept. 8, exactly 25 years after his famed brother Huey Pierce Long was assassinated in the state's skyscraper capitol, which Huey's administration provided for.

The Congressional seat Long had just won from McSween was filled later in the month by the Eighth District Democratic Committee after a political hassle over whether to call a special election. The committee nominated McSween for the post, which was paramount to election of the incumbent.

SLAYING

An admitted Concordia Parish murder August 6 received a great deal of attention by the press.

A former Monroe man, Wayne George, admitted shooting his ex-brother - in - law, L. R. Simmons of, Orange, Tex., while Simmons worked on his farm near Black River.

Simmons died instantly after George fired six shots from a .22 pistol. The incident occurred about 2:15 on Saturday afternoon, and was witnessed by J. R. Booth, butane gas delivery - man who said Simmons had flagged him down on the road and asked him to service the gas tank at his nearby farm home.

Discovery of a young LaSalle Parish woman in her car, shot in the right temple by a .22 pistol, was a shock to her many friends who knew she had worked as a deputy clerk in Sheriff Herschel Floyd's office at Jena.

Miss Audrey Louise Webb of Nebo near Jena was found on Saturday night, Sept. 10. A .22 pistol was lying in the car.

She died Sunday morning in an Alex hospital.

A corner's jury determined that she died from injuries received in an "automobile accident and a puncture wound in the right temple."

CROSSETT SALE

An Arkansas business deal involving the Crossett Company was reported to be one of the largest in the state's history.

Property of the lumber, paper and chemical firm at Crossett was transferred to the Union Bag - Camp Co. of New York for a reported consideration of $158 million.

Since it was founded in 1898, the Crossett Company spread over some half - million acres of pine timberland in Arkansas and northeast Louisiana.

The deal was announced on May 5.

Rapides Parish Sheriff Grady Kelley was indicted May 18 by the grand jury on 18 counts of malfeasance in office and one count of "unauthorized use of a vehicle."

Authorities claimed that Kelley misappropriated more than $20,000 of public funds for personal use. The suit grew out of an investigation by a private citizen during the recent election campaign, in which the sheriff was re - elected.

On Sept. 21 Sheriff Kelley was arrested in his office and released on $9,500 bond.

Motorists of the area got an indication of what the new U. S. super highway system will be like on March 23, when a 9.7 mile stretch of Interstate Highway 20 between Choudrant and Ruston was opened in ceremonies widely covered by the press.

Many officials and the general public viewed the opening ceremonies.

It was the longest portion of the new highway system to open in Louisiana.

Nine human skeletons were unearthed accidentally by a road grader about 16 miles west of Winnfield on March 8, sending imaginative minds into a tizzy to determine just who was buried there, and when.

The skeletons were discovered near the southeastern tip of Saline Lake.

An archeologist from Louisiana State University determined later in the week that the skeletons were remains of either Caddo or Nakatosh Indians who once inhabited the area.

The professor estimated that the graves were more than 500 years old, and said the discovery was very significant from the archeological viewpoint.

It was the first such finding in the Winn Parish area.

What could have become a flu epidemic subsided early in March, following area reports that influenza was responsible for crowded hospitals during February.

At one time that month, more than 60 students and 35-40 teachers were reported ill with flu in Lincoln Parish alone.

Solons Favor Campaign Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House committee recommended Saturday cutting the length of the presidential general election campaign to between six and eight weeks.

It said this could be done by holding Republican and Democratic national conventions in September every four years instead of in July as has been customary.

The special committee to investigate campaign expenditures also said in a report on its study of elections problems, that Congress should give serious attention to financing of political campaigns.

The financing and campaign length questions are tied together, the committee said, because longer campaigns cost more money.

DON'T BE sad about not having a lotta' cash on hand — for this home on Grayson St., W.M. is already financed — pay $225 down and assume loan, payments $60 month including insurance and taxes! There's large living room, kitchen with Formica counter tops, washer plumbing, 2 bedrooms. Attic fan, panel heating, carport and storage room. On beautiful lot. Don't miss out on this "Sweet Deal"!

JUST A little down payment (only $195) will assume very low monthly payments ($59 including taxes and insurance) on this 2 bedroom home on Matthew St. convenient to Lexington School and churches. Features include living room with bookcase divider, hardwood floors, attic fan, carport, storage. On large lot. We'd like you to see this today!

IS IT proper to say "Better Than New"? Well, when it was brand new, this red brick home did not include the beautiful landscaping of its 100x150 lawn with many large trees — and the home is in "like-new" condition inside and out! All 3 bedrooms are spacious — one is paneled and can be used as den. The kitchen includes lovely cabinets with Formica counter tops and the bath has shower over tub. Other features include central heating, attic fan, carport, and storage. Close to shopping center, churches, schools, on North 8th, W.M. $400, no closing costs, will move you in. Let's see this one today!

DON'T BE sad about not having a lotta' cash on hand — for this home on Grayson St., W.M. is already financed — pay $225 down and assume loan, payments $60 month including insurance and taxes! There's large living room, kitchen with Formica counter tops, washer plumbing, 2 bedrooms. Attic fan, panel heating, carport and storage room. On beautiful lot. Don't miss out on this "Sweet Deal"!

JUST A little down payment (only $195) will assume very low monthly payments ($59 including taxes and insurance) on this 2 bedroom home on Matthew St. convenient to Lexington School and churches. Features include living room with bookcase divider, hardwood floors, attic fan, carport, storage. On large lot. We'd like you to see this today!

IS IT proper to say "Better Than New"? Well, when it was brand new, this red brick home did not include the beautiful landscaping of its 100x150 lawn with many large trees — and the home is in "like-new" condition inside and out! All 3 bedrooms are spacious — one is paneled and can be used as den. The kitchen includes lovely cabinets with Formica counter tops and the bath has shower over tub. Other features include central heating, attic fan, carport, and storage. Close to shopping center, churches, schools, on North 8th, W.M. $400, no closing costs, will move you in. Let's see this one today!
